IN STATE.

Gresham's Body Is Honored.

Many Official Tokens of Deep Grief.

Mourning on All Sides Over the Dead Statesman.

The Obsequies Will Be Held Tomorrow in Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The remains of Secretary of State Gresham have been embalmed.

The funeral arrangements are dependent upon the wishes of Mrs. Gresham, and owing to the depression and grief following the death of her husband, the details as to the place and time of the interment have been left until late in the day.

The present purposes of the friends of the family are to have the funeral train leave Washington tomorrow.

A special train will be provided, one car to bear the remains and another for Mrs. Gresham and the immediate relations.

These arrangements, however, are subject to such changes as Mrs. Gresham may desire.

Otto Gresham, son of the Secretary, arrived at 6:30 o'clock this morning by special train from Harrisburg. He was met at the station by Assistant Postmaster-General Jones, a near personal friend of the family. He joined his mother at the Arlington and they were given such privacy as was possible.

Mrs. Gresham is broken in spirits and body by the affliction and her constant vigils up to the moment of her husband's death. Her daughter, Mrs. Andrews, and another relative, Mrs. Captain Fuller, were with her constantly last night.

The body has been laid out in the sleeping room where the death occurred.

A metallic coffin is to be covered with black cloth with heavy oxidized silver handles, and the usual plate for the name and circumstance of birth and death.

Most of the prominent men in public life called at the hotel early in the day to leave cards.

Floods of telegrams and cablegrams of condolence came in during the morning. It is the present intention of the family, as communicated to personal friends, to have Secretary Gresham buried in Chicago. A brief funeral service will be held in Washington tomorrow before the special train leaves the city.

All the member of the Cabinet in the city—Secretary Carlisle being absent—called at the Arlington early today, and most of the ladies of the Cabinet circle also were admitted to the family apartments of the late Secretary.

Secretary and Mrs. Lamont were at the hotel a long time.

The State Department is technically closed today, admission being denied to all visitors, although employes were kept in waiting to assist in the discharge of formalities attending upon the notification to foreign powers of the nation's loss.

Acting Secretary Uhl prepared a draft of the formal note to be sent to representatives of foreign nations accredited to Washington and also for transmission to United States representatives abroad, conveying the news of Secretary Gresham's death.

The President accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland came to the White House at 10:30 o'clock and was immediately waited on by Acting Secretary Uhl. Official orders were prepared, closing the Executive Department on the day appointed for the funeral.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Secretary Gresham will be conducted in the east room of the White House tomorrow at 10 o'clock. All the executive departments will be closed on that day under Executive order.

The body will lie in state all the morning, and leave Washington for Chicago at 1 P. M.

The President and all the members of the Cabinet will accompany the remains to their last resting place. Secretaries Herbert, Carlisle, Lamont, Smith, Morton, Attorney General Olney and Postmaster General Wilson will act as honorary pall-bearers.

Bishop Hurst of the Methodist Episcopal Church will conduct the funeral services at the White House. All the troops and the marines in the city will escort the body to the funeral train, the procession forming about noon.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland called at the Arlington at 11 o'clock to see the members of Secretary Gresham's family and tender sympathy. They drove over from the White House in an open carriage with no attendants but the driver on the box.

Attorney General Olney and Secretaries Lamont and Herbert arrived about the same time to confer about the arrangements for the funeral. President and Mrs. Cleveland were in the Gresham apartments half an hour. It was decided at noon that the remains of the dead Secretary lie in State at the Executive Mansion tomorrow.

The casket will be taken from the Arlington Hotel at 9 A. M. and will be placed in the large east room.

It will remain there until its departure for Chicago tomorrow night.

Sir Julian Pauncefote, British Ambassador, as head of the Diplomatic Corps, has addressed a letter to all the Ambassadors, Ministers and heads of Foreign Representatives, asking them to assemble at the British Embassy at 5 P. M. today, to take appropriate action on the death of Secretary Gresham.

GRESHAM'S MOTHER NOTIFIED.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., May 28.—About 8 o'clock last night a telegram was received in this city from the Secretary of War, Daniel Lamont, stating that Secretary Gresham could not survive the night, and requesting that his mother, Mrs. Sarah Rumley, who lives at Lanesville, Harrison county, be notified. Messengers reached the old homestead about 10 o'clock. Before they could speak, Mrs. Rumley moaned—"Walt is dead, my poor boy is dead," wringing her hands and weeping bitterly. Messengers informed her of the critical illness of her son, and thus afforded her slight comfort. Upon receiving the news of the Secretary's death, another messenger was dispatched to Lanesville.

THE NEWS IN ILLINOIS.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 28.—Both Houses of the Legislature today unanimously adopted resolutions deploring the death of Secretary Gresham, adding that his life has taught young manhood American possibilities, which lie in the path of pluck, ambition, determination and honesty, and that in his death the cause of free government has lost one of its ablest champions and the State of Illinois one of its noblest citizens.

SYMPATHY IN LONDON.

LONDON, May 28.—News of the death of the Secretary of State of the United States, was received with every mark of sympathy at the United States Embassy and the British Foreign Office.

Most of the newspapers today print the news without editorial comment. The St. James Gazette, however, says: "Mr. Gresham endeavored to preserve friendly relations with all foreign countries, especially England, and his wise statesmanship upon more than one occasion offended spread-eaglism of Yankee politicians."

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The President today issued the following proclamation:

"Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State of the United States, is dead. The President, in making this distressing announcement to his fellow countrymen, speaks from the depths of personal affliction to remind them that they too have lost a pure and able public servant, wise and patriotic guardian of all their rights and interests, manly and loyal American and generous and loveable man. As a suitable expression of the national bereavement, I direct that diplomatic representatives of the United States in all foreign countries display the flag over their embassies and legations at half mast for ten days.

"That for a like period the flag of the United States be displayed at half-mast at all forts and military ponts and at all naval stations and on all vessels of the United States. I further order that on the day of the funeral the executive departments in the city of Washington be closed, and that on all public buildings throughout the United States the national flag be displayed at half-mast.

POLICY.

Republicans Will Show One.

Sherman Gives Some Good Pointers.

Strong Speech Made at the Ohio Convention.

The Democratic Tariff Law Has Been a Complete Failure.

ZANESVILLE, O., May 28.—The Republican State Convention was called to order at 4 P. M. by Colonel Joseph C. Bonner, chairman of the State Committee.

Colonel Bonner reviewed the last two State campaigns at some length and then introduced Senator Sherman as temporary chairman, who spoke in favor of the protective tariff and against the free coinage of silver at the old ratio; but in favor of bi-metallic currency based on international agreement in accordance with the market values of gold and silver. Mr. Sherman said:

"Gentlemen of the Convention:—I thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me in selecting me to preside over this convention. You have met to designate the next Governor of the State of Ohio. You have a good many candidates before you, but each of them is worthy of the highest honor you can confer. You have the assurance that whoever you may nominate will have the hearty support of all the candidates and of each member of the convention. You have also to select several of the chief executive officers of this State. I need not impress upon you the importance of selecting those who will honestly and faithfully perform the duties assigned them. You have a still higher duty, to announce the principles and policy of the Republican party in the State of Ohio and in the United States. What you will say here will have an important influence beyond the limits of your State, for the intelligent action of the Republicans of Ohio will, as in the past indicate the opinions of Republicans in all parts of the United States.

"We have a common faith and creed. We act together on great matters of principle, on small matters for discipline. The primary and fundamental sentiments of the Republican party is love for our country, our whole country. We are for the Union, one and indivisible, now and forever. The Republicans of Ohio are not provincial, but national. This is our cornerstone, planted in the first Republican convention in Ohio in 1855. We stood by it in the storm of the war when Lincoln was our standard bearer. Our soldiers fought for it under Grant, Sherman and Sheridan. The soldiers of Ohio carried our flag in every great battle of the war for the preservation of the Union. Other patriotic citizens and soldiers were equally deserving of honor and praise, but they could not carry their party with them. When Grant was in the Wilderness and Sherman was before Atlanta a great party declared the war a failure. Ours made it a success. When the war was over we did not treat our enemies as conquered subjects, but as erring brothers. We invited them back into the Union, with unabridged powers, prescribing only one condition—that there should be no slaves in our country. We now meet them and greet them as friends and, turning our backs on dead issues, we congratulate them on their prosperity, which they did not and could not have in their condition prior to the war.

When the war was over the Republican party developed its civil policy. First of all it declared its purpose to pay every debt or obligation contracted during or since the war, that the public faith should be unblemished. This promise has been performed. In spite of the temptation and the shrieks of Populists, we have discharged every obligation contracted during the war and especially the highest and most sacred debt to the surviving soldiers of the war, their widows and orphans. The pension roll is a roll of honor, higher in amount than any pension roll ever before provided by any nation. While the Republican party is in power, it will only be diminished by the death of pensioners, a fate that awaits us all.

"We are in favor of a protective tariff. We had such a tariff. While it was in force we had prosperity, good times and money plenty. We had so diversified our domestic industries that American labor and American capital supplied nearly all the wants of the American people. We prefer to tax foreign production rather than our own. We believe that the policy of protection should be extended to all productions impartially, to labor on the farm as well as in the workshop. We are opposed to the Democratic policy of protecting woolen manufacturers and admitting wool free of duty. We denounce a scheme of taxation which annually increases the public debt more than $50,000,000. This is the result of Democratic ascendancy. The tariff law of the last Congress is partly a copy of the McKinley law, and generally a failure. All that is good of it was taken from the McKinley tariff and the rest of it is confessedly a hotch potch. The Supreme Court has already disposed of part of it. All the productions of the South from peanuts to whisky are carefully protected, while the duties on the great staple industries of the North are largely reduced, and on some articles like wool are entirely repealed. We demand a reform in the tariff, not to promote sectional interests, but to secure ample revenue and impartial protection to domestic industry. This we can have only by the election of a Republican President. We want a change, and for this change we will have the hearty support of a large portion of the Democratic party.

"We are in favor of a sound national currency, always redeemable in coin. All forms of money should be of equal purchasing power. For fourteen years after the resumption of specie payments, while the Republican party was in power, we had such a currency. We had gold, silver and paper money, all bearing the stamp and sanction of the United States, of unquestioned credit and of equal value, passing current not only within the United States, but in all parts of the commercial world.

"Both gold and silver are indispensible for use in the varied wants of mankind. Gold is now, and has been for many ages the chief measure of value in international commerce and the larger transactions of domestic exchanges. Silver, from its bulk and weight, is not available for large payments either at home or abroad, but it is indispensible for the minor wants of mankind. Gold, from its greatly superior value, cannot be utilized for such purposes. Therefore it is that both metals have been coined into money at fixed ratio. The enormous increase of the production of silver in the United States, Mexico and Australia, has disturbed this ratio and has lowered the market value of silver precisely as a like increase of production has lowered the price of other commodities. It is a universal law that price or value is measured by quantity. Under these conditions the rational and proper course would be a change of ratio; but this can only be effected as to these two metals by a concert of action among commercial nations. Until this can be accomplished the only logical way is for each nation to coin both metals and maintain the coinage of the cheaper metal at par by limitation of amount and redemption when in excess of the demand for it. Such is now the policy of the United States and of every great commercial nation, including every country in Europe. Other nations adopt the silver standard alone, not from choice but from poverty. I believe that the policy of the United States adopted in 1853, of coining fractional silver coins in limited quantities from silver bullion purchased at the market price and making them legal tender for small sums, is the only way to preserve the parity of gold and silver coins at a fixed ratio. This is properly called bimetallic money. I hope and believe that the common interest of commercial nations will lead them, through an International Commission, to either adopt a ratio based on market value of the metals or to coin them and maintain them, as we do, at their present ratio.

"The policy now urged by the producers of silver and by men who wish to pay their debts in cheaper money than they promised to pay, is the free coinage of silver. This means the single standard of silver and the demonetization of gold. This is the only monometallic system. It is the degradation of our dollar to fifty cents. If applied to our national bonds it is a repudiation of one half of the public. It is the repudiation of one-half of all debts. It confers no favors on producers of any kind, whether of the farm, the workshop or the mine, for if they get nominally more dollars for their productions their additional dollar would have only one-half the purchasing power of the gold dollars. The great hardship of this policy would fall upon workingmen, skilled or unskilled, whose daily wage, measured by the present standard, is higher than in any country of the world. Their wages will purchase more of the necessities of life than the wages paid for similar labor anywhere outside of the United States. It is a false pretense that the cheapening of money will be beneficial to them. The Republican party in its national platform of 1892 demanded good money of equal purchasing power, whether coined of silver or gold, or composed of United States notes or national bank notes, based on the credit of the United States, maintained at par with coin. This is the bimetallic policy. There we stand today. I hope and trust there we will stand forever. We will seek the co-operation of all nations and of all parties in maintaining the parity of gold and silver coins. If they will not co-operate with us in this policy, the Republican party can and I hope, will do it alone. Good money and plenty of it is as important to all our people as equality of rights and privileges.

"Let us then, with a firm reliance upon the principles, policy and wisdom of the great party to which we belong, nominate our candidate and declare our platform, and then make our appeal to the intelligence of the people of Ohio. In all the great issues made in the last forty years, the Republican party of Ohio has had the courage to propose and to do what is right. Let us now follow in the same pathway, and we will not only elect a Republican Governor and State officers, but also another Republican Senator and I hope a President of the United States from the State of Ohio."

On arrival of delegations from central and southern Ohio this afternoon, it was evident that a factional contest would fight it out on Bushnell or Nash for Governor. All other candidates including Hoyt concede they have no chance until it is demonstrated that neither Bushnell or Nash can be nominated.

Ex-Governor Foraker marched up the street at the head of the Union county delegation this afternoon, after which the Bushnell boom was the feature of the day. Meantime additional delegations arrived for Nash and a contest of every point was made in the district meetings at 2 P. M.

THE DEAL IN WHEAT.

A Report Made That the Crop in Several States Will Be Small.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Wheat had a wild opening today and within five minutes from the time of the bell was selling 2 cents higher than the price at which it closed yesterday. Inside another five minutes it had lost 1½ of the gain.

The news was all of a bullish character.

Yesterday's low barometer in the northwest had resulted only in a light shower here and there and the cold wave was being followed by what promised to be a scorching hot one. Perhaps the most bullish piece of news, however, was the report of King & Co. of Toledo, who summarized advices over 4000 correspondents in the wheat belt by saying the indications were that in six principal wheat producing States not more than half the average crop could be raised, involving a reduction of 100,000 bushels in the crop aggregate for the year.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Eugene V. Debs, president of the A. R. U., called on United States Marshal Arnold today and announced that in view of the decision of the United States Supreme Court denying him a writ of habeas corpus, he was ready to resume serving out his sentence in the jail at Wheaton.

The Marshal said he had not received the mandate of the court for Debs re-incarceration and did not expect it inside of a week. Debs contemplates a trip to North Dakota and gave a schedule of his intinerary.

MANY LAWYERS.

All Interested in the Contest to Boogar's Will.

Could Not Agree on a Plan of Action.

The Legal Skirmish Finally Continued to Monday.

Judge Greene held a seance this morning with the aid of numerous lawyers over the matter of the contest of the will of Philip Boogar.

Executors P. F. Benson and E. M. Patterson, M. D., had no voice, personally in the proceedings. But for the proponents there appeared Attorneys M. C. Chapman, J. D. Sullivan, A. A. Moore and J. C. Martin. In behalf of Mrs. Catharine Boogar as contestant there were George W. Reed, Emil Nusbaumer and George A. Knight. For Mrs. Louise Whittemore, another contestant, there were Denis Spencer of Napa and J. H. Smith, while for the absent heirs W. H. Thompson was present.

A vast deal of talk was indulged in over the proper manner in which to proceed. The proponent had not asked for a jury. Contestant Whittemore filed a demand for a jury. Contestant Mrs. Boogar had not demanded a jury trial, but after discussion Attorneys Knight and Nusbaumer decided to stand with Mrs. Whittemore's counsel and have a jury.

But here in steps the proponents, and argued that as Mrs. Boogar's attorneys had not demanded a jury within the specified time, they were not entitled to one.

Added to this, Mr. Moore argued that as both contestants had not joined in the demand for a jury, such demand had been practically waived.

The judge intimated that one contest could be heard by the court, and the judgment held until after the other contest had been heard by and submitted to a jury.

Denis Spencer wanted to postpone the whole matter, adding sotto voce as he sat down: "If we can put this off for a week, the lawyers can get together and divide up the estate among themselves."

Judge Greene asked counsel to read section 187 Civil Code, which provides that "if the course of proceeding be not specifically pointed out by this code or the statute, any suitable process or mode of proceeding may be adopted which may appear most conformable to the spirit of this code."

Then the attorneys and the judge took another turn at the question of a jury or no jury until finally the entire matter got into such a muddle that at the suggestion of Denis Spencer the contest was continued until next Monday, the rights of all parties to be reserved as if the contest were heard and determined at this time.

Then the army of attorneys went to lunch.

SOME FINE FEES.

What Florence Hinckley Will Have to Pay Her Lawyers.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Mrs. Florence Blythe-Hinckley has placed a lien upon the Blythe estate to secure the payment of the fees of some of her attorneys.

Six years ago Florance's grandfather agreed to pay 8 per cent of the whole estate recovered to Garber, Boalt & Bishop, this firm to pay W. W. Foote 2½ per cent.

Florence ratified this agreement when she attained her majority.

Garber, Boalt & Bishop advanced her $14,000 and Foote lent her $3000 while the case was pending. Garber, Boalt & Bishop will now receive $320,000 and Foote $100,000.

FROM HAWAII.

Melody That Will Delight Oaklanders Next Friday Night.

The first opportunity that has ever been presented to the citizens of Oakland to hear the music of Hawaii by native islanders will be given next Friday evening at the First Congregational Church.

The Royal Hawaiian Band of forty-pieces, which will give a concert at that time in this city, has for the second time in its existence visited the United States. Not for twelve years has this famous organization left its home on the Pacific, and the treat will be doubly enjoyed because of its rarity.

The band ranks with the famous ones of the world and it can not only discourse the music of the native Hawaiian, but it is fully accomplished in the music of all nations. The concert will be one that will attract great attention, as the organization has already made a reputation that places it on a footing with the bands of the world.

One of the attractive features of the programme will be the performance upon several native instruments, in striking contrast to the modern brass and wind creations of the civilized world.

The programme will be of such a varied character that it will appeal to the tastes of all classes. The concert cannot but fail to prove a very decided musical success.

ON THE ROCKS.

The Steamer Dom Pedro Is a Total Wreck.

About One Hundred Lives Said to Be Lost.

The Boilers Exploded After the Vessel Struck the Rocks.

CADIZ, May 28.—The French steamer Dom Pedro, bound for Carrilio, Spain, has been wrecked off Currubedo.

Eighty were drowned.

The disaster was caused by the bursting of the boiler.

When the disaster occurred the Dom Pedro was off Cape Corrubedoon, West Coast of Galicia, and not off Torrubode, as first reported.

About 100 lives were lost. The Dom Pedro was a 3000 ton steamer and was engaged in running between Havre and Argentine Republic, calling at Bordeaux, France, and carried freight and passengers. The latter were mostly emigrants bound for the Argentine Republic or other points in South America.

On her return trips the Dom Pedro was generally loaded with frozen meat. She left Havre May 20th with a crew of forty-nine all told, and eighty passengers.

At Carril the steamer was to have embarked with 200 additional passengers, but on the way to that port she ran on a rock at 6:40 P. M. off Cape Corrubedo, on the west coast of Gallica.

The boilers exploded, the vessel foundering immediately afterwards.

It is now stated that only the captain and twenty-nine of the crew were saved, and such would indicate that all the passengers were either killed by the explosion or drowned when the vessel went down.

CRADLE SONGS.

The Benefit for the Women's Exchange Tonight.

Music From the Nurseries of the Nations of the World

The benefit which will be given this evening at the Macdonough Theater in behalf of the Woman's Exchange promises to be a splendid success. The programme is delightfully unique and will be very thoroughly enjoyed. The participants are in excellent trim for the production, and everything should move very smoothly.

It is seldom that such a variety is offered the public, as the programme would indicate. The songs of the cradle of the nations of the world have been chosen and the vocal rendition will be heightened by elaborate scenic effects, depicting the peculiar charm of the home of each nationality. From the American Indian [illegible] to the black-eyed Spanish babe the lullaby that its mother sings it to rest by will be rendered.

The orchestra will be composed entirely of young ladies who are well trained and will prove an additional feature of the production.

The vocalists are Miss Lucie Byler, Miss [illegible] Carroll, Miss Lona Daugherty, Mrs. Carrie Brown-Dexter, Miss Maud Gorks, Miss Dora Goodall, Miss [illegible], Miss Grace Kaiser, Miss [illegible] Lewis, Miss Mabel [illegible], Miss Mary Alvira [illegible], Miss Mary Sullivan, Madam Eva Tenny, Mrs. Harry Melvin (as new [illegible]).

EAST SIDE SEWER.

New Plans Are Now Ready for Inspection.

The City Council is about to call for bids for the construction of the sewer on the east side of Lake Merritt which was made the subject of considerable litigation in the Superior Court two years ago, and was finally declared illegal.

City Engineer Wilson has submitted estimates and plans of the proposed work which is figured to cost $41,000. The plans are now on exhibition at the office of the City Clerk. Proposals will probably be invited for the work within a short time.

The sewer will tap a large territory east of Lake Merritt and will have an outlet at First avenue and East Eleventh street. The legal objections sustained regarding the former plans and contract have been overcome.

ANOTHER REPRIEVE.

Thomas St. Clair Has Good Reason to Be Overjoyed.

SAN JOSE, May 28.—Thomas St. Clair, condemned to hang Friday for the bark Hesper murder, was taken from the jail here this morning and placed on board the train bound for San Quentin to be executed.

A reprieve came after he left the jail. By a rapid drive Sheriff Dondon caught the train as it was moving off. The message was delivered to United States Marshal Harris and St. Clair was put off at Santa Clara and brought from there at 12:40 o'clock.

The length of the reprieve is not known here, as only the bare fact was stated by United States Marshal Baldwin. This is St. Clair's fifth reprieve. He is overjoyed.

The U. S. Gov't Reports

WHEN YOU FEEL LANGUID, dull and heavy, it's your liver that's at fault. A sluggish, torpid liver deranges your stomach and kidneys and bowels. It poisons your blood. You feel it "all over."

The best-known remedy in the world is Carlsbad. People go there, not only for a disordered liver, but for all the diseases that follow it, and for jaundice and chronic liver complaint, and every ailment of the kind.

There's no need for you to go. You get precisely the same treatment in the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt (the water solidified at the Spring) or in the imported waters. In catarrh of the stomach, dyspepsia, habitual constipation, diabetes, or any gouty or rheumatic affection, they have been a specific for hundreds of years.

TWO ESCAPE.

Progress of the Cases Against the Druggists.

Convictions for Selling Liquor Not Likely to Result.

The cases of the Oakland druggists who are charged with violating the license ordinance governing the sale of spirituous liquors, came up in the Police Court this morning. Those on trial were Druggists Towbridge, Flint, Holzer, Reilly, Harrington, Hyde, Bowman, Seifert, Diebert and Garrett. Of these, Seifert and Diebert were dismissed, there being insufficient evidence to convict.

Attorney Victor Metcalf conducted the defense. The witness for the prosecution was I. A. Jarvis, who exhibited bottles of whisky and Holland gin, purporting to have been bought from the stores of the defendants.

He testified as to the dates on which he had purchased the liquor and the firms that had sold it, from memoranda that he had made on the bottles at the time they came into his possession. As to reward for his action he testified that he had heard that a witness helping to convict would be given a commission.

At noon the cases were continued over to Monday morning. It is not expected that conviction will be obtained.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

PACKING YOUR TRUNK.

A Few Things a Summer Pilgrim Can't Get Along Without

Make a list of the things you think you ought to take on your summer holiday trip and you will be startled at the result. You wonder if you will have to hire a special baggage car. Now strike out every article not imperatively necessary and you will find that a trunk of modest size will answer every purpose even of a long trip.

Travelers in making up their lists of indispensables should not forget that a change of drinking water after the heat and fatigue of a journey is likely to make them sick. To remedy this evil, or what is better, to prevent it, the pilgrim take a supply of that sound and wholesome stimulant Duffy's Malt Whiskey. A little of this whiskey in the water not merely kills the germs that would make mischief in the stomach and bowels but it tends directly and strongly to revive a nervous system exhausted by long continued mental application or pressing anxiety or physical labor.

Make room in your gripsack for a bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and use it. Then you are well on with the heat—for there are fearful days even in the country. Re invigorate your sluggish body with this prince of stimulants and in the sense of strength and well being that follows you will be glad that in making up your list of absolutely needful things you did not overlook Duffy's Malt Whiskey.

SAVES THE EYES. SAVES THE GAS

THE

MOREY

INCANDESCENT GAS BURNER

It Has Revolutionized Gas Lighting!

Only Sixty Days on the Market and yet the Sale is Enormous.

No parts burn out. The mantels, screens, prisms used in other burners are not used in the Morey Burner at all, therefore no parts to repair. The Cheapest Burner used giving the greatest amount of light for the smallest amount of gas consumed.

The secret of its scintillating brilliancy is perfect combustion, not one iota going to waste—every atom of gas being consumed.

No ghastly, greenish white light but a natural, mellow, golden sunlight, soothing to the eyes and radiant with power.

The Morey Gas Burner is the best results of long years of study, discovery and invention, and is built solely upon scientific principles. THE HIGHEST POWER OF GAS LIES IN THE BURNER EMPLOYED. The secret of the Morey Burner is the combustion secured.

You may ask why does the Morey Burner give so much more light for the same amount of gas consumed. Our answer is this: gas when burning through an ordinary gas jet, mixes quickly with the air and passes off not giving time for the light to take up from the air all the oxygen necessary for its proper combustion therefore it passes off and is wasted. But in the Morey Burner it passes through a perforated circle of 76 small needle pointed perforations and the current of air passing on all sides of the blaze supplies sufficient air for the light to take up all the oxygen necessary for its proper combustion, therefore NO WASTE OF GAS, NO BLUE BLAZE, all turned to light.

See what prominent business men and people you know say of it.

STUDIES ENDED.

High School Graduates Receive Their Diplomas.

Interesting Address by David Starr Jordan.

Some Sound Advice Given to the Scholars Last Night.

The Class of May, '95 of the Oakland High school graduated last night beneath the motto, "Wisdom Is Better Than Rubies," and surrounded by the class flower, forget-me-not. Twenty girls and fourteen boys, with that motto and that flower, proclaim the triumphal march of the "new woman." The two-thirds majority possessed by the girls enabled them to choose their significant motto.

The graduates filed upon the stage a little after 8 o'clock. William B. King then played the "Queen of Sheba" march on the organ.

After a few remarks by Principal McChesney, reminiscent of his twenty-six years in the position, President Jordan of Stanford University was introduced. He addressed the class on "The Rights of Culture." He said:

"These boys and girls about to graduate are not yet ready for the work of their lives. If they should begin their chosen work now, skipping the four or seven years' further preparation in the university and the professional school, they would be like the boy that goes to work at 3 o'clock in the morning and gets sleepy at noon, letting his rival, who slept till 7 o'clock, outstrip him in the day's work. A man or a woman should continue their preparation until they are 25 years of age, if they would do the best work.

"A hundred years ago people were talking much of the rights of man. At that time it was found that the common people of the world had the power within themselves to rise up and overcome the unjust tyranny of classes above them. They brought about a vertical instead of a horizontal cleavage of society. They destroyed the old class divisions and classified men according to their work or professions.

"But it was found that the rights thus obtained could not be guaranteed. Many in the pursuit of what they mistook for happiness, abused these rights, and it came to be recognized that people could only enjoy those rights that they had the power to take. A man had the right to read, but he could not take it if he was illiterate.

"Culture, however, brings with it rights that are invaluable. It gives the power to know the best thoughts of the world, to know the way to get at the truth, to enjoy philosophy, poetry, and science. In short, all knowledge is transformable into power. The power to do is the right of a person of culture.

"Following this line of thought we find that all power brings with it duty. There is no such thing as culture for culture's sake, or right for right's sake; each involves, by a law of nature, an imperative duty. Notwithstanding that this fact causes some men to see, in our modern society, an illegical development; the general trend of everything nowadays is toward the light. Especially is this to be believed when we look into faces like those of these young graduates, that are turned forward.

"Emerson has said that money invested in a university is better placed for future good than any other investment could be. The university fits men to be true men; true in the sense that they know their professions scientifically—they know the law from its beginnings, and medicine and other professions in the same way.

"A higher education does not fit a man to get through life with more ease than a man not possessing such preparation. On the contrary it involves more work, more duties, because it gives more knowledge, which is power. Therefore, do not send a boy to college, but let the boy who wishes it go of his own account.

"The greatest men are those who know the strength and weakness of the common people, and who appeal to their better natures. Such was Lincoin. He was not like the hypocritical politician of today. He saw and successfully appealed to the strength of the people."

Following President Jordan's address, J. W. Evans, president of the Board of Education, presented the diplomas to the following graduates:

Edna Ackerman, Edward C. Aikins, Bertha Coss, Fred C. Bordon, Ma. E. Maude Church, Irene N. Clarke, Alexander Cook, Minnie Bell Dow, Susan Frances Edelen, Susan Frances Ellsworth, Henry Gale Foote, Prentice Sherman Gardner, Isabelle S. THE New York Sun has a way of making a good point in a few words, as it does in these lines: "Those European authors who write about the degeneracy of the human race give convincing proof that they are not intimate with the 65,000,000 men and women who constitute the population of the United States. The most vigorous generation of mankind which ever inhabited this country is the generation which now lives in it; and if we may judge from the books and sports of the young folks, the next full-grown generation of Americans will be more vigorous yet."

GENERAL GOMEZ, the military chief of the Cuban insurgents, has predicted that within two years Cuba, as a republic, will take her place among the free governments of the New World. What San Domingo did may not be impossible in Cuba. If the latter should once establish republican institutions the next move would be for annexation to the United States. At any rate, the agitation for that result would be sure to follow. It is pretty well known that overtures have been made for the transfer of Cuba to this country. But Spain has always refused to part with the "ever faithful isle." But if Cuba effects the parting, there might be a new aspect of the question. If General Gomez is alive at this date, he might do well to hurry up his republic.

THE Republicans in Ohio are having a warm time. Sturdy old John Sherman always puts in an appearance at the State conventions, and does a full day's work. McKinley will, of course, have the usual booming for President. He is the one political leader who generally gets there. Harrison's friends are also busy. But Harrison will have enough to do to take care of Indiana, which is a doubtful State, politically. Harrison has been to New York to have his portrait painted. That is the first move on the political chess board. As Ohio has come to be regarded as the pivotal State for the Republicans, a convention there assumes an importance that a Republican convention would not have in any other State.

AND so Debs goes to jail for six months. The Circuit Court having final jurisdiction passed the original sentence, which the Supreme Court does not undertake to review. But incidentally it enumerates a new settled principle that the Government of the United States is supreme on every foot of soil within its boundaries. It has passed the Interstate Commerce act and there is no corporation, however powerful, and no individual, however humble, who can lawfully set up any opposing authority. Debs will probably be heard from in jail. It is a very light penalty for his attempt to nullify Federal law. It is not probable that Debs will ever again figure in the same role as a disturbing leader.

THE new treaty between Nicaragua and Honduras is an indication of a possible confederation. The recent invasion of Nicaragua by the British has probably furnished an additional motive for bringing these republics into closer alliance. The old confederation may not be revived in just that form, but a sense of weakness and the need of mutual protection may bring these few small republics into a closer union. The curse of these small States has been the revolutions brought about, or attempted by military chieftains. Mexico was once afflicted in the same way. But the Mexican States are now apparently firmly bound together. Why may not as much be hoped for these Central American republics.

Suspicion of Old Masters.

The "Art Amateur" states that Robaut's descriptive catalogue of the works of Corot will soon be given to the world. Then there will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Every genuine Corot will be noted in this official list. Now as there are any number of spurious Corots in the United States, there will be a drop in values where this publication appears. The "old masters" lift up their heads here until some expert tells the story about their true rating. Corot's works are easily imitated. He painted in a large way, massing details, and depending largely on tones and a peculiar harmony of blending. When an "old master" does not appear in the official catalogue the picture may be safely set down as a spurious one.

The Old Order and the New.

A few years ago Kalakaua was reigning in the Hawaiian Islands, Honolulu was the very paradise of irresponsible adventurers. No matter how worthless and how corrupt they were, once introduced to that dissolute sovereign, they found him a boon companion. He welcomed them as his particular friends. Some of them shared in the administration of public affairs. Those were days of rioting and all manner of excesses. A worthless element was drawn to the islands. They had a good time while this rotten ruler lived. His successor was of the same tainted blood. The same characters found favor with her.

Now that she has ceased to reign her parasites are no longer in clover. Two-thirds of all the lies and libels that are sent out from the islands are concocted by this worthless gang. They are sighing for the return of the old order of things. They hate Dole and his cabinet because they are superior men who know every scalawag that has ever been plotting and planning for the overthrow of the present Government. There is no place for the bummer and the fraud. His vocation is gone for the present. Dole is too respectable. His administration is too clean. The measure of any one of these fellows has been taken. A few of them are foreigners, but the greater number are nominally Americans, or men without a country. They would be parasites anywhere, and more especially so at the islands if only they could find sufficient encouragement. They tell their tale of woe, and occasionally find a newspaper that publishes their stories. The Call has probably published more of the stuff written by these parasites than any other paper in the State.

There is always a crisis when these fellows manage to get the ear of the public. There was no crisis when Kalakaua was bankrupting the country and engaging in a series of orgies with his boon companions so utterly vile that they cannot be described. Everything was lovely for these fellows then. These were the "good times" that this class of reprobates are now hoping will return. All that is needed is the breaking down of the Dole administration and the setting up of another native ruler, who in time would be as rotten as that of the dethroned Queen or Kalakaua, who beat the record of all the early heathen rulers who ever reigned in Hawaii.

Every clean and upright man who loves order and decency is offensive to these parasites. They are sighing for the return of "native innocence," when the "hula" afforded them so much beastly gratification. Some who are a shade better want a change, because any overturning would bring to them new opportunities for gain. These are the ones who are constantly predicting that the Dole administration cannot last because it is not popular. It never was popular with adventurers and irresponsible bohemians. It is well sometimes to look at the true inwardness of the characters who revile the Hawaiian Republic. They are a job lot. There is nothing for them as long as the present order is maintained but the obscure corner where a waiting attitude can be maintained for something to turn up. The present affliction is that there is so little prospect of a change.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Prof. W. T. Wenzell,

Of the College of Pharmacy of the State University, after actual analyses made by him, pronounces "the ROYAL BAKING POWDER the strongest and purest baking powder before the public."

The ROYAL BAKING POWDER destroys the dyspeptic qualities of hot food.

"Things sweet to taste prove in digestion sour," sang Shakespeare. He foresaw effects of food not made digestible by Price's Cream Baking Powder.

When I Meet My Youth Again.

Some time—I know not how or when—
This weary road I journey on
Will lead thro' lands that I have known,
And I shall meet my youth again.
Thro' some old wood my childhood knew
The road, at length, will bring to view
A cottage in a lowly glen,
Where I shall meet my youth again.

And yet the lad of whom I dream
May know me not, for I shall be
To him a deep'ning mystery
Of things that are and things that seem;
From these old scars of time and toil
His heart, albeit, may recoil,
As children's often do from men,
When I shall meet my youth again.

But he shall know me at the last,
And creep into my arms and weep
As I shall lull his lids to sleep
With stories of the changes past
And ere the morning breaks upon
Us twain our souls shall be as one
And time shall breathe a soft "amen"
When I shall meet my youth again.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Everybody who can assist in the observance of Memorial Day should do so. The celebration of that patriotic holiday should be participated in by every American who honors the memory of the men who fought and died for the Union.

The Salt Lake convention of silver boomers has resolved to raise $250,000 a month "to carry on an aggressive campaign of education" in behalf of free coinage. The most liberal condition of this arrangement is an implied understanding that persons who desire to make their contributions in gold will not be debarred from so doing. That is a rather broad concession.—New York Tribune.

Ex-President Benjamin Harrison left Indianapolis for the East Tuesday afternoon. At Newark, N. J., he will receive a medal from the New Jersey Historical Society. From there he will go to New York to stay at the Fifth Avenue Hotel for two weeks. While in New York he will sit for a portrait by Eastman Johnson, to be hung in the White House with the other pictures of Presidents.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The Gentlewoman gives currency to this remarkable story: "Here is a story of an extraordinary kind, which shows that truth is stranger than fiction. Some sixty years ago the cashier of a Liverpool merchant had received a Bank of England note, which he held up to the light to make sure it was genuine. He then saw some very indistinct red marks of words traced on the front of the note and on the margin, and he, from curiosity, tried to decipher them. At length he made out the following sentence: 'If this note should fall into the hands of John Dean of Longhill, near Carlisle, he will learn thereby that his brother is languishing a prisoner in Algiers.' Mr. Dean, on being shown the note, lost no time in asking the Government of the day for assistance and accomplished the freedom of his brother on payment of a ransom to the Bey. The unfortunate prisoner had been a slave for eleven years and had traced, with a piece of wood for a pen and his own blood for ink, the message on the bank note in the faint hope of its being seen sooner or later."

A prominent business man from Colorado says that State was never so prosperous as now. He estimates the year's yield of gold at twenty millions and the silver yield at fifteen millions, and says that the cattle and sheep raising industries have been especially remunerative. This probably accounts for the renewal of the efforts of silver boomers to keep that State in line for inflation.

It is a well recognized fact that a boat is more easily moved in a wide than in a contracted waterway. Anyone who has traveled canals and rivers in a steam launch knows that while the speed of seven or eight miles an hour is easily maintained, yet on a narrow canal, with the same pressure of steam, the speed falls off to half this.

OVER THE DEAD CENTER.

A New York Incident of the Financial Squeeze of 1893.

Holland's Letter in the Philadelphia Press.

As the season of stress and storm which began in '93 is passing away, the financiers who were in peril at that time are beginning to exchange confidences, and these anecdotes show how great the peril was, and how often it happened that great business and financial houses stood on the verge of a precipice leaning over, and were only saved by mutual forbearance, kindness and the stretching of business customs to meet the unusual emergency.

I heard of one of these anecdotes a day or two ago. Right in the midst of the panic of '93, a financier and a great power in the world of trade, whose name is known all over this country and Europe, went to a friend and said: "I am so near ruin as this, that while I have millions in securities, I have scarcely a thousand dollars in cash, and must have $25,000 today or I am done for."

He had thrown himself languidly into a chair, as though almost ready to give up the battle. He knew well enough what the announcement of his failure meant for the commercial world. It probably would have pulled down a score or more of important institutions, and very likely would have precipitated general disaster. He had been everywhere with securities in his pocket valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars, pronounced good then, but he was told in every place, "Your securities are good, but we cannot lend money now." His position was like that of the castaway upon the ocean with "water, water everywhere, nor any drop to drink." His securities at their normal value were probably worth as much as $10,000,000, perhaps more, but it was impossible for him to borrow $10 upon them.

The friend to whom he went knew as well as he what his failure involved; knew that he was worth at least ten millions in securities, although he could not command the $25,000 which stood between him and the protesting of his paper.

The friend said: "Well, I'll try to help you. What collateral have you got?" He took from his pocket securities which before the panic would have commanded easily $50,000, and said: "I can offer these."

"They are good," said the friend; "nothing better. Let me see what I can do."

He went out to a financial institution, of which he had long been a customer, and he said to the officers: "I want to borrow $25,000 on this collateral, which is worth $50,000. I will guarantee the paper, provided I have recourse to the collateral in case it is not paid."

"But," said the bank officers, "we can't lend that. The collateral is good enough; but we can't even lend on Government bonds. Nobody is lending; everybody is trying to borrow."

"Well," said the friend, "then I will submit a proposition to you. If you will lend the money on this collateral it will earn 6 per cent for you. If you will not lend it, then I will draw my own check upon this concern for $25,000, and I will keep the collateral myself. Now, it is for you to say whether for the $25,000 that you've got to part with you will take security and 6 per cent interest or whether you will pay it out and get nothing for it, which you must do if I check it out."

Of course the officers, confronted with such an alternative, could only decide to loan the money, and it was the biggest loan that was made that day or perhaps for several days before or afterward—at least, the biggest new loan.

The friend went back to the capitalist and said: "The $25,000 is at your command." When the capitalist heard this he became a new man. All the energy characteristic of him returned. Said he "This will carry me over the dead center, for I am satisfied that before any of my obligations mature it will be possible to borrow money on such securities as I possess," and that proved to be the case.

The capitalist is now one of the conspicuous influences inducing a return of prosperity. He is esteemed to be worth not far from twenty millions, and he can borrow upon his securities millions of money with perfect ease. He does not like to think of the day in '93 when $25,000 stood between him and ruin.

COSTLY MATERIAL FOR A NEST.

A Bird Stole a Ten-Dollar Bill and Used It as Lining.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

A ten-dollar bill, which had mysteriously disappeared, was recovered by Assistant Coin Teller Phil Turpin of the Sub-Treasury in a peculiar manner. He has a beautiful farm out on Cliff creek, near the Little Miami river. In that section birds fairly abound. One evening in the beginning of May Mr. Turpin was getting ready to attend a soiree at his next neighbor's in Newtown, about two miles distant. The weather, it will be remembered, at that time was unusually warm, and he left the windows of his room open.

Mr. Turpin had taken his money, among which was a ten-dollar bill, and laid it on a center table, intending to put it in a pocket of his other trousers. The room is at the corner of the house, and has windows on both sides.

He stationed himself at one of the windows and commenced to shave. The birds were singing outside and flying about the house and through the open windows, joyful, no doubt, at the advent of spring, while others were busy in trees building nests. It was luxury to shave amid such surroundings, but when Mr. Turpin finished he looked sleeker than ever. After washing he prepared to don his Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes. After he arranged his necktie to give the best effect he went to the centre table and began picking up his money, but was not a little surprised to find a ten-dollar bill missing. He thought that the wind might have blown it on the floor, and he began looking there for it.

After a long time spent in vain, he gave up the search there. He then went out into the yard, and began hunting among the flowers and grass for it, thinking that it might have been blown through the open window, but he had to go to that soiree minus a $10 note.

Day before yesterday the severe wind storm blew a robin's nest out of a tree near the front porch. Mr. Turpin picked the nest up, and was about to cast it away when he noticed what seemed to be a piece of paper of peculiar color. He examined it, and found it to be currency of some denomination, but it was not until he had carefully torn the nest apart that he discovered it to be a $10 bill. It was apparently the one he had lost a couple of weeks ago, a bird having flown into the room and snatched up the money. The bill was in pretty bad condition, and he redeemed it at the Treasury yesterday.

ALUM.

Used to "Clarify" Foul Water.

Oakland "Waterbacks" Destroyed.

Corrosive Quality of Contra Costa Water.

Pipes and Flues Choked and Ruined by the Mineral.

There has been one or two complaints—mild enough, but complaints, nevertheless, concerning the water supply of the Oakland Water Company.

The pressure is so great at times that it has been found necessary to tighten the pipe joints.

It is safe to say that no similar criticism has ever been made concerning the Contra Costa supply.

A gravity pressure seldom disturbs the pipe joints.

It is fortunate for the expense account of the Contra Costa Company that they distribute their water under a weak pressure.

If it were measurably as heavy as that to which the pipes of the Oakland Company are constantly subjected the rust-eaten, loose-riveted stovepipe of the Contra Costa system would burst like a dynamite bomb.

It would not be safe or profitable to inject an Oakland Water Company's pressure into a Contra Costa system.

Consumers of the Oakland Water Company's supply should report immediately all loose joints, so that they may be tightened, for it is an imperative necessity that this water should be distributed absolutely pure.

It is pumped directly from the wells at Alvarado to the houses in Oakland.

It is intended that it shall not come in contact with the air at any point.

It must not be contaminated by bacteria in transit.

The tightening of loose pipe joints caused by high pressure is therefore a sanitary precaution.

ALKALI AND ALUM.

Such a complaint, however, does not compare with the complaint now universal against the Contra Costa supply that the alkali in the water is eating out the waterbacks of furnaces, ranges and stoves.

The alkali of this Contra Costa water is also largely impregnated with alum.

Alum is not only a destroyer of water backs on which it crystallizes, but it is also a destroyer of human beings in whose system it coagulates, hardening like pebbles in a Contra Costa tributary.

Many tons of alum are dumped into the Contra Costa reservoirs to "clarify" the water.

Alum is the basic principle of the Hyer filter in use by the Contra Costa Company.

It is thought that an unusual amount of alum in this water is the cause of the death of the fish that are being harvested this season at Lake Chabot.

Thousands of these fish float on the surface of the lake and pile up along the shores, infecting the air and poisoning the water.

A party camping near Lake Chabot was compelled to move recently to avoid the unbearable odor of this decaying fish.

The clarifying of the water with alum does not purify it, however, and taken into the human system it is most deleterious.

The use of alum as an adulteration of water should be prohibited as its use in bread is prohibited.

COSTLY WATER.

During all the years that the Contra Costa was a monopoly this destructive element was at work.

It played havoc with the tubing of boilers and it choked the pipes of every kitchen in Oakland.

It is safe to assert that the use of Contra Costa water has cost as much in repairs of water backs and flues as the present price of water in Oakland.

There is probably not a water back in this city ten years old that is not practically useless.

Those that have been subjected to the corroding effect of Contra Costa water with its lime and alkali and alum for five years are also in bad condition.

The Contra Costa Company, with characteristic effrontery, are at present endeavoring to make capital by claiming that certain water backs which they have placed on exhibition have been choked by alkali from the Alvarado wells.

This is, of course, is absurd.

RUINED WATER BACKS.

The water backs in evidence are those which, for years, were filled with Contra Costa water.

They have been corroded and choked by the solid residuum which the expert analysis shows predominates in Contra Costa water.

The frantic effort of the Contra Costa people to create the impression that the water of their rival is mineral in character and full of alkali is laughable—the more so that they dare not submit their own water to the usual tests for determining the fact.

They are not afraid to misrepresent the truth, however.

They do not hesitate to use their own "awful examples" as arguments why the citizens of Oakland should not patronize the rival company.

FLUID DIPHTHERIA.

The other day a gentleman was asked by one of the Contra Costa managers to inspect a waterback that had been almost destroyed by the alkali of Contra Costa water, but which the manager, without a blush, said had been rendered useless by water from the wells at Alvarado.

The gentleman looked at the water back and then he looked at the manager.

It was a stern look.

The manager trembled from the crown of his tall hat to the soles of his Trilby feet.

He suddenly remembered that this gentleman had a serious grievance against the Contra Costa Water Company.

And he feared to hear the gentleman's reply.

"It may be as you say, sir," said the gentleman, "but I would rather lose my waterback than see my child die of diphtheria from drinking Contra Costa water."

The manager shrank abashed before the gaze of that indignant father, for he recalled the sad fact that his child had died of diphtheria.

Then the gentleman informed the manager that he was taking the Dingee water and would continue to do so.

It was free from the disease germs that swarm in the Contra Costa supply, and waterbacks or no waterbacks he did not propose to peril the health and lives of his family by resuming his patronage of the Contra Costa Company.

CONTRA COSTA FALSEHOODS.

It is not true that the water of the Oakland Company is affecting the waterbacks of this city.

It is true that the water supplied by the Contra Costa Company has ruined hundreds, perhaps thousands, of these waterbacks.

This last resort of the corporation simply emphasizes the stress of their unhappy condition.

It is an impudent assertion that the waterback of a kitchen stove is of more importance and concern than the stomach of a human being.

It is a falsehood uttered to prove that alkali is more deleterious than microbes of zymotic disease.

It is a brazen effort to prejudice the people against a water supply absolutely pure in every respect.

It is a criminal attempt to compel the people to resume their patronage of a water supply reeking with the filth of hog wallows and sewer drains—the excrement of earth vaults and the seepage of cesspools.

But the people are not such fools as the Contra Costa Company seems to imagine.

They neither believe this waterback fake, nor do they intend to be beguiled into drinking any more of the filthy sewage of Lake Chabot and Lake Temescal.

A DESPERATE CONDITION.

The Contra Costa Company will probably keep right on in its campaign of falsehood and misrepresentation, hoping against hope that Providence may interpose a miracle on their behalf.

But Providence is in better business than assisting a corporation so lost to every sense of decency, self-respect or common humanity as the Contra Costa Water Company.

The corporation is desperate.

They are losing money like water.

Where their next dividend is coming from nobody knows—not even the Family that controls the affairs of the corporation.

And that debt—that $1,600,000 debt—what will become of that?

Who will assume it?

Who will buy those bonds?

And so the Contra Costa Company goes begging—begging for patronage, begging for money to operate a losing business.

It is an experience similar to that which made miserable the existence of the Piedmont Cable Company's stockholders before the final crash.

It is the beginning of the end.

In a little while nor bonds, nor dividends, nor water backs, nor lack of patronage will worry the management of the Contra Costa Water Company.

ALASKA MINES.

Colonel McKillican Tells About His Trip.

No Place for Farming, But a Fine Country for Minerals.

Colonel Robert McKillican returned yesterday from a trip to Alaska, where in company with a number of mining men, he has been inspecting mining property at Mary's Island in Southeastern Alaska in which he is interested. The gentlemen who accompanied Colonel McKillican were Colonels A. E. Head and Thomas B. Pheby of San Francisco, and Frank Thurman, a well known mining expert of Mexico.

The party had a very enjoyable three weeks' trip. The voyage north by sea from San Francisco was delightful. Colonel McKillican was especially favored by King Neptune, for he was one of the few aboard the staunch Umatilla who were not touched by attacks, more or less pronounced, of seasickness.

Colonel McKillican returns with an excellent impression of the country. Its mineral resources, he believes, are rich and varied and he sees a great future for Uncle Sam's most northern possession as a wealth-producing territory.

"For purposes of agriculture," said Colonel McKillican, in speaking of his trip, "I do not see anything ahead for Alaska. Even in the southeastern portion of the territory, the ground is covered with a mossy growth, in many places two feet deep. Of timber there is a good quantity. Certainly there is ample for all home purposes, but I do not think it will ever become an export product. For mining use there is an abundant supply. The country is full of mineral. Gold, silver, lead, coal and iron abound. I do not think the ledges are as rich as our California deposits, but they are much larger in extent.

"In the mining districts that we visited the workings are very satisfactory, and I consider that there are very fair prospects for future developments. The mines in southern Alaska can be worked all the year around. The season is shorter as one gets to the north into the interior, especially along the Yukon river. Gold, silver, lead and iron are found in very satisfactory quantities. In fact the smelting ore obtained from our mines and from the country adjacent is so rich in lead that the smelting companies will pay a premium upon the ore for working it. That is to say, they will pay for the lead and a price above its worth.

"The ore is concentrated at the mine and at present must be shipped to Tacoma or Seattle for smelting. There is no reason, however, why smelting could not be done right at the mines.

"Alaska, so far as its mineral wealth is concerned, has never been prospected to amount to anything. There will be more developing done this season than ever before. Large parties have gone to Alaska this season to the mining districts of Cook's Inlet, Douglas Island, Juneau and up the Yukon. There are great prospects, in my judgment, for that country, and I am satisfied the future is bright for it.

"It is somewhat difficult to forecast with respect to an entirely new country. But there is every indication that when the current turns in the direction of the mining resources of Alaska there will be great results. We have now working at our mine eight men, and they are realizing very satisfactorily."

FOR THE BATH.

Oakland Furnishes Another Important Industry.

"Cleanliness is next to godliness," says the poet, and anything that induces either grace may be put down as a benefit to human kind. The ancients believed in bathing to such an extent that their natatoriums were palaces. Their baths were dreams of esthetic art and luxuriance. The modern nineteenth century bath may be made quite as delightful, as far as its hygeinic results are concerned, even if the bather had not the wealth of a Gould or a Vanderbilt or a Rockfeller.

There has recently been introduced here a preparation known as the Pompaian perfumed bath tonic. It is a home product, manufactured in this city, and recommended by the leading physicians in Oakland.

It is to be used in the bath, and not only is it invigorating, cleansing and refreshing, but it is a tonic for the system. It softens and perfumes the water and gives a mellow and delicious fragrance that highly intensifies the enjoyment of the bath.

The California Bath Tonic Company, which is manufacturing this delightful preparation, has established its factory at 717 and 719 Second street in this city, notwithstanding that liberal inducements were offered to the corporation to go to San Francisco. The factory is being operated night and day to supply the demand. The preparation has been thoroughly tested and receives the highest indorsement not only of physicians, but of the leading society people who have established it in their households.

It gives such general satisfaction that the manufacturers have found that the demand is taxing their capacity already. The Pompaian Bath Tonic is a blessing in disguise. It furnishes those of moderate means with an opportunity to enjoy the charm of a delightful and delicious bath at a merely trifling expense.

MILLS COLLEGE.

The Closing Exercises at the Popular Institution.

The Concert Last Night Was a Great Success.

A Very Fine Showing Was Made in the Various Departments.

The pleasures and duties of commencement week at Mills College and Seminary have been engrossing the attention of students and instructors at that widely known institution of learning up to today.

Sunday last the baccalaureate sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Scudder; last night the closing concert of the term was given; the annual meeting of the board of trustees was held at 10 A. M. today, and this afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the commencement exercises of the class of 1895 began.

The romantically environed seminary never presented a more pleasing aspect than now. The institution has more than held its own the past year despite the prevalent period of depression, and the phenomenal energy and aptitude of Mrs. Mills were never more apparent in presiding over the institution which bears her name.

Baccalaureate sermons are often viewed as perfunctory incidents in college life, but that of Rev. Dr. Scudder before the students at Mills last Sunday was of special brilliancy, notable for its deep undertone of feeling, its rare elegance of diction and, most of all, for its strength and fervor and impressiveness, all of which seemed to be felt by the young women auditors.

THE CLOSING CONCERT.

There was a large and delighted audience in attendance last night on the occasion of the closing concert at Mills. There were unoccupied seats in the concert room, and it was a gathering of refined and cultured people that assembled to listen to the efforts of dainty maidens, whose vocal and instrumental music won responsive plaudits.

Many of the guests arrived early by train over the California Railway, while others reached Seminary Park in their private equipages. Everything, as is usual on such occasions at Mills, was found in perfect harmony and order for the event. The various parlors, reception rooms and drawing rooms were tastefully decorated. The music hall had a wealth of palms, marguerites and other floral adornments, but the chief attraction of all were the bright-eyed and prettily-gowned students, who received their parents and friends with welcoming smiles and ejaculations of delight.

Adjoining the music hall the art room held treasures that engrossed a large share of attention before and after the concert. Scores of paintings, sketches and drawings by students were there displayed, and in all the history of Mills Seminary it is doubtful if an exhibit of equal merit in an artistic sense has ever been made.

THE CONCERT PROGRAMME.

The concert began at 7:45 P. M. and the programme observed was as follows:

PART I.

"Hunting Song" ..... Mendelssohn
Choral Class.

a Impromptu } ..... Hans Seeling
b Romance }
Miss Ethel Halley.

"Chanson d'amour" ..... Thome
Miss Grace Gilbert.

"Saltarello" ..... Nicodé
Miss Mabel Bowes.

Duet, "Il Desiderio" ..... Saint-Saëns
Misses McDougall and Gilliman.

"La Fileuse" ..... Raff
Miss Marie Robbins.

a "Lithuanian Song" ..... Chopin
b "Morning Dew" ..... Grieg
Miss Sydnie Barnard.

"Under All Tree Tops" ..... Reichel
Choral Class.

PART II.

"Allegretto" ..... Chaminade
Choral Class.

"Summer" ..... Chaminade
Miss Nina Martin.

a Papillon } ..... Grieg
b Poème Erotique }
c Au Printemps }
Miss Adia Story.

Folksongs: "Tuscan" ..... Carracciolo
"Indian" ..... Vogrich
Misses Allis and Barnard.

Kamennoi-Ostrow, No. 22 ..... Rubinstein
Miss Persis Coleman.

Aria: "Queen of Sheba" ..... Gounod
Rhapsodie, No. 2 ..... Brahms
Miss Mabel Gilliman.

"May Song" ..... Hamerick
Choral Class.

Where every number was exquisitely rendered it would be invidious to attempt to pronounce one more pleasing than another. Yet it may be noted that the choral work of Professor Roseewald's class was delightfully smooth, the voices of the singers prettily blending into one harmonious whole that evinced the most careful and perfect training and finished culture. The duet folksongs by Misses Allis and Barnard seemed to be especially appreciated by the audience, and the rich contralto of Miss Mabel Gilman won for that pleasing songstress exceedingly enthusiastic applause.

At the close of the concert refreshments were served in the dining hall, and after a half hour of social intercourse the guests departed, a special train leaving the park at 9:30 P. M., which conveyed those who reside in San Francisco and many of the Oakland people also.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

The attendance at the commencement exercises at Mills this afternoon included many of the prominent people of this city, San Francisco and other localities of the State. The avenue leading to the Seminary Park was thronged with stylish vehicles during the forenoon and up to 2 o'clock, when the commencement exercises began. Among those who witnessed the latter were leading divines, educators, professional men and a considerable number of the alumni of Mills College and Seminary and many other ladies.

In accord with the methods that now obtain in similar institutions of learning elsewhere the essays and valedictory of antique renown are not read at Mills commencement. Neither are they permitted to be known to fame through the press. But amid the archives of the library at Mills these screeds, upon which much time and thought has been expended, are carefully embalmed, possibly for the delectation of some future antiquarian. This is why the commencement exercises at Mills this afternoon partake largely of the nature of a concert and Sabbath school devotions combined.

The exercises were opened with a recitation from the Scriptures, which was followed by a hymn and then a prayer. Later on came these numbers:

Vocal solo, "Oh That We Two Were Maying" ..... Nevin
Miss Marie E. Klink.

Piano solo, "Spinning Song" ..... Wagner-Liszt
Miss Sunshine O. Heydenfeldt.

Vocal solo, a, "A Toi" ..... Lebrun
b, "Summer Night" ..... Lassen
Miss Nora C. Allis.

Piano solo, "Barcarolle" ..... Kiensl

Rev. J. M. Dinsmore, D. D.

Vocal solo, "Polonaise" from Mignon ..... A. Thomas
Miss Gertrude L. McConnell.

Mrs. Wilson Claims Damages From Frank Robinson.

Frank Robinson, who slashed his throat with a razor a couple of weeks ago at 708 Pine street, cannot get his trunks. They are held as security for the payment of a $12 bill which Robinson's former landlady, Mrs. Wilson says represents the amount of damage done to her carpets and bedding by his blood. Robinson disputes the bill and says he left enough dishes with Mrs. Wilson to compensate her for any loss his gory deed might have caused.

A BOLD WOMAN.

She Is Accused of Being a Highway Robber.

AVA, Mo., May 28.—Sheriff Hancock, with his posse, captured the robbers who held up A. R. Turney, storekeeper at Rome, this county, one night last week, and arrived here with them last night. They were captured near Leadville, Ark. One of the bold thieves, and the one who appeared to be the leader of the gang, turned out to be a woman. Her name is Lydia Briston. There were three of them who committed the robbery, the Briston woman being dressed in men's clothing. She ordered Turney around in true highwayman style, punched him with her pistol and cursed him because he had no more money, terrorizing him until he hardly knew whether he was on foot or horseback.

Sheriff Hancock recovered $30 of the $60 taken and both of the horses and saddles. The three thieves were Ben Trott, recently released from the State Penitentiary; John Briston, brother of the girl, about 18 years of age, and Lydia Briston.

Lydia Briston is a rather comely girl, about 22 years of age, who is well known to the police and officers of Springfield, Mo., and to the citizens of this town, where she worked at one time, as a loose character and a member of the demimonde. When seen by a correspondent she refused to talk. They will be taken to West Plains, where they will be confined in jail until court meets.

SUPERVISORS.

The Contra Costa Road Matter Fully Discussed.

No Action Taken on the Proposed New Route.

Night Watchman Maloon Is Retired From the Pay Roll.

The Board of Supervisors was still in session yesterday afternoon when THE TRIBUNE went to press.

A resolution was adopted providing that payment to Cotton Bros. for construction of the trestle and bulkhead for Bell Ranch bridge be paid as follows: Centerville District road, $1; General Road fund, $1; County General fund, $998.

A resolution allowing Dr. J. P. Young $50 in addition to his salary as Health Officer for June in Washington township was adopted.

Captain Roberts, Supervisor Church and County Surveyor Nusbaumer were appointed a committee to obtain right of way for a sewer from the County Infirmary to an outlet in the bay and report next Monday.

A resolution declaring the position of Night Watchman George Maloon vacant at the Hall of Records was adopted, Messrs. Johnson and Talcott voting no.

The hearing of the protest against granting a saloon license to Frank L. Miller at Fitchburg was continued until next Monday at 2 P. M. on motion of Supervisor Church.

CONTRA COSTA ROAD.

E. C. Sessions appeared with Messrs. D. C. Brown and W. V. Whicher as a committee from the Good Roads Association in behalf especially of opening the road between this city and Contra Costa county. Mr. Sessions said that nothing could be gained by postponing the matter further. As to the route it seemed that any single road or route would not meet all the requirements. It is apparent that there is a big country in Contra Costa county which should be tributary to Oakland. A speedy construction of at least one road to Contra Costa is what the association desire to urge upon the Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Johnson asked if the Good Roads Association had approved any particular route.

Mr. Sessions—No, it has not. We were particularly instructed to not approve either proposed route. The association does not believe itself prepared to decide upon a route.

Mr. Jones of Contra Costa county said he had lived there since the spring of '47. In times past he had hard work getting from his place into Oakland, and felt that the merchants of Oakland ought to do something to facilitate trade and intercourse. What is now wanted is the building of a road from Oakland to Walnut Creek, which is about the geographical center of Contra Costa. It will be an advantage to Contra Costa county, but of far greater advantage to the business men of Oakland.

Mr. Jones thought that the tunnel road could be constructed and be operated with safety. He offered to sell 100 acres of land at $100 an acre and give one-half of it to the construction of the road if others would come up and help.

Supervisor Church said that his opposition to the tunnel route was first, the cost of construction, and second, the cost of maintenance thereafter.

Mr. Jones said the people of his neighborhood wanted a good road—a road that a man might lead a few calves over in a spring wagon and not get mired down.

Mr. Griffin said that the people of Contra Costa want the tunnel road and no other route. He read extracts from newspapers, in which other routes were denounced as "jobs," in the interest of individuals.

The report of the Joint Committee, prepared last year, was read.

W. H. Buckley of Contra Costa county then took the floor and declaimed against all other routes than by the tunnel. He said that the route by Grant's land was not desired by the people of Contra Costa county, but it was a scheme in the interest of certain landowners. If the Alameda Board of Supervisors would open the tunnel route they would leave a name behind them that would go down to posterity.

V. E. Camron of Contra Costa county stated that he had talked with many of his neighbors who had all expressed their preference for the tunnel road.

L. N. Hager, as a member of the Good Roads Committee, stated he had no opinion as to the routes proposed, but as an individual, he would advance some ideas. He had been up on the hill and believed a better location for a tunnel than the Kennedy tunnel could be found about 600 yards north of the latter. After some other remarks, Mr. Hager said the people of Contra Costa wanted the tunnel road. A road by Moraga valley would not be traveled extensively.

M. C. Keller was called upon and stated that this road matter had frequently come up before organizations with which he was associated. If the tunnel road was of importance twenty years ago, it is of more importance now. It is one of the greatest outlets from this city. It may be too expensive to now build the bridge and tunnel road. It is the best road, but if this cannot be had, some other direct road should be had. The Supervisors would please their constituents if they should appropriate money to at once construct a good road between Oakland and Contra Costa county.

J. O. Miner said that he was very much interested in the road, as he used it to bring his produce to this town. The first thing to do would be to adopt some of the suggestions made by the joint committee last fall. If a tunnel cannot be made, do some little thing of a practical nature. A little gravel on the present road would have saved the speaker $800 this spring. Yesterday's shower had softened the road and the speaker's two teams had to be laid up today, so that a loss of $10 was entailed.

L. W. Kennedy said that Mr. Jones had voiced the demands of the age. To go on the "two-bit" plan is behind the age. A good road, with a bridge across Temescal creek—a road that any kind of a vehicle can pass over—is what is wanted.

J. L. Lyon said that the citizens of this county are united upon this question of a good road to Contra Costa county. It is not a question of expense, but a question of a good road.

Wilbur Walker, secretary of the Joint Committee appointed a year ago, explained why that committee was appointed and the work of the committee.

E. C. Sessions said that he thought the people of this county would approve of issuing bonds to the extent of $250,000 to make good roads—one to be a direct line to Contra Costa county another to be a road from Oakland to the east line of this county, with a branch to Livermore valley. These should be good roads—not graveled roads, but modern roads.

The board adjourned to Monday, June 3d, after declining to authorize another survey of a proposed road to connect the Williams survey with the Thorne Hill road.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured!

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

What Will They Do?

What will the dry goods men do when France's latest suggestion of ladies' dress goes into effect? The dress reformers of France advocate the wearing of tights for ladies as a street costume and modestly suggest that black and brown should first be worn until the custom becomes popular and then other colors could be introduced. The dry goods men seem quite concerned, as it would affect their business to the extent of decreasing their sales of many millions of yards of dress goods every year. But what a saving to the men who pay for it. It is likewise in the patronage of the People's Express and Transfer Company. The saving of time and advantage in their promptness in all business matters, especially the checking of baggage at hotels or your home to all parts of the United States is a matter for deep consideration. Strange, but True

The child that cannot digest milk can digest Cod-liver Oil as it is prepared in Scott's Emulsion. Careful scientific tests have proven it to be more easily digested than milk, butter, or any other fat. That is the reason why puny, sickly children, and thin, emaciated and anæmic persons grow fleshy so rapidly on Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

H. M. Van Arman Talks of the Business Outlook.

I. M. Van Arman returned yesterday from an extended business trip in the East. "I found a general stagnation in business," said Mr. Van Arman, "in Denver, Cheyenne, Omaha, Pittsburg and even in Chicago. The people in the California cities and towns should not grumble. In comparison with the cities named we have prosperity. The frosts of the month of May in six or seven Eastern States have killed nearly all the fruit and grain, and California will profit by it. An immense immigration to this State will commence this fall. Thousands of people, tired of the cold and drouth of the Middle and Western States, are looking this way and are coming."

THE TEST.

Bassett's Move Is Successful.

Sunday Closing Matter Is Postponed.

The City Attorney to Draw Up an Ordinance.

Much Routine Business Passed at the City Council Meeting.

An adjourned meeting of the City Council was held last night, at which all the members were present.

The auditorium was well filled, although by no means packed, notwithstanding that it was known the Sunday saloon closing ordinance would come up presumably on passage to print.

Those, however, who expected such a move were disappointed because of the adoption of a resolution introduced by Councilman Mott, directing the City Attorney to draft an ordinance submitting to the people the question of closing the saloons all the time or merely from midnight Saturday to 5 A. M. Monday.

As soon as the roll had been called, Councilman Mott obtained the floor and offered a resolution directing the City Attorney to draft an ordinance calling a special election for the purpose of submitting to the people the following questions:

Shall saloons in which liquors are sold to be drunk on the premises, be closed the entire time? Or,

Shall the saloons be closed at 12 o'clock Saturday night and remain closed till 5 o'clock Monday morning?

Mr. Mott moved that the rules be suspended and the motion be adopted.

Councilman Dow said that this measure had been introduced so as to have a vote taken on the resolution before one could be taken on the ordinance on the Sunday closing recommended by the committee. He did not want, he said, to be put on record as being opposed to any measure proposing to submit the question to the people. But, the ordinance on the subject ought to be taken up first.

Mr. Bassett said that he supposed the Council would eventually come to the ordinance in the course of business, and, if the resolution should be adopted, the ordinance could be laid over pending the settlement of the case.

Mr. Buckland said that not $1 of the city's funds could be used for the purpose of defraying the expenses of a special election on the subject. The charter makes no provision for such an election. If such an election should be ordered, the Council, at any time, could order a special election on any subject, even to determine the color of whitewash that ought to be placed on the City Hall.

Mr. Dow moved as a substitute that the Council take up the ordinance on the Sunday closing recommended by the Committee on Ordinance and Judiciary.

The motion was seconded by Councilman Marshall.

A vote was taken on Mr. Dow's substitute and the proposition was lost by the following vote:

Ayes — Buckland, Dow, Heitmann, Marshall—4.

Nays—Bassett, Brosnahan, Capell, Mott, Towle, Watkinson, Manuel—7.

Mr. Dow then secured the floor and said that it seemed unadvisable to call an election until it had been shown that such an election could be called legally. The question as to whether a special election such as was contemplated would be legal had been asked of the City Attorney and that official had replied that such an election could not be called legally. The Council ought not to pass a delusive ordinance and the Council has several such ordinance before it now. One of those delusive ordinances, he said, is that of Mr. Bassett, prohibiting the charging of fare on the local lines between stations in this city. That ordinance means nothing. Mr. Dow wanted to know where the money for a special election was to come from. If the ordinance calling a special election is illegal, why seek to call an election? All the actions of the Council in the premises would be illegal. He had found only one attorney who said that such an election could be held, and that was the attorney who represented the liquor interests. When that attorney was asked for an opinion he had none to give save that it might be done because Alameda, Napa and other places had voted on the proposition. How did the Council know that Alameda, Napa and other places in which this question had been voted on have not something in their respective charters which authorize them to vote on the subject. There is no such provision in Oakland's charter. How could a special election be called unless the Board of Public Works agreed that such an election is legal and ordered the use of the booths of the city for the purpose of holding it. If people flocked to the polls who could prevent them from voting unless they occasioned a disturbance of the peace. At the present time, he felt the Council had no right to pass on the question. He believed it is the duty of members of the Council to legislate for the best interests of the city. When he came to his seat in the Council he felt that he should not vote on any question with reference to any future election or preferment, but solely with reference to the best interests of the city. If this resolution is adopted the Council will take a false step and will be in the same position in which it was some time ago.

City Attorney Peirsol, referring to Mr. Dow's synopsis of his views on the subject said that he (Mr. Dow) did not hear all of his (Peirsol's) opinion on the subject. He claimed that Mr. Dow's synopsis was right as far as it went. But he (Mr. Peirsol) had said that he knew of no law providing for such an election and he also knew of no law to prevent the holding of such an election. It might be under the head of the general welfare of the community. He knew of no law invalidating such an election if the Council should call it. He did not think the courts would interfere. When it came to the payment of expenses though there would be serious difficulty perhaps met in the Auditor's office.

Mr. Dow said that that was the way in which he understood Mr. Peirsol to express himself. But, said the Councilman from the Seventh, "to say that there is no law against the election means nothing. Simply because there is no law preventing us from imprisoning the Governor means nothing. The Council can only pass such laws as are authorized by the charter and the general law, but the Legislature can pass any law that is not in conflict with the Constitution. To say there is no law against this proposition is no argument." He wanted to know how a special election could be held without money.

Mr. Heitmann raised the point of order that the ordinance could come up only under suspension of the rules and such a motion had not been made. Such a motion, however, had been made in connection with Mr. Mott's proposition.

The president held that the point was well taken.

Mr. Marshall moved that Mr. Mott's resolution lay over till the next meeting of the Council, until the opinion of the City Attorney could be procured on the subject.

Mr. Towle said he did not think the matter ought to be laid over. To lay it over would not be for the best interests of the city of Oakland. He had ascertained that the sentiment of many of the best people in this city favored the submission of the question to the people. He regretted that he is not able to determine what is for the best interests of Oakland. Personally, if he had his way, he would have the saloons closed up all the time. The way the question stands now, the sentiment of the people is divided. If the people who are here in favor of closing the saloons on Sunday will go out among leading people, bankers and business men, they will find there is a diversion of sentiment. He saw no reason why they should not adopt the resolution. Let the City Attorney draw up an ordinance calling for the special election and make it legal. If a legal ordinance cannot be drawn on the subject, he would be willing to vote in favor of the ordinance.

Mr. Marshall said that is why he wanted the matter laid over for a week.

A vote was taken on the suspension of the rules. Mr. Mott's motion and the vote was as follows:

Ayes—Bassett, Brosnahan, Buckland, Dow, Heitmann, Mott, Towle, Watkinson, Manuel—9.

Nays—Capell, Marshall—2.

The rules were suspended and then Mr. Mott's resolution was adopted by a vote of 10 to 1, the only vote in the negative being that of Capell. In casting his vote for the resolution, Mr. Dow said he did so because he was not especially opposed to submitting the question to the people, and because if the City Attorney could not draft a legal ordinance on the subject, the Council would then have a chance to pass the ordinance on the question of saloon closing.

Later in the evening, the Sunday closing ordinance recommended by the committee as a substitute for that introduced one week ago, providing that the ordinance shall go into effect ninety-five days after passage, was referred to the Ordinance and Judiciary Committee from which it had come, pending the presentation of an ordinance as suggested by Mott's resolution.

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS.

The following petitions and communications were disposed of:

From the Chief of Police showing the cost of feeding prisoners. Filed.

From the City Engineer that the street railway tracks on East Twelfth between Thirteenth and Fifteenth avenues are at grade. Street Committee.

From the Mayor, returning the ordinance passed May 20, 1895, respecting municipal licenses, with the suggestion that it was defective in that the sections where it proposed to repeal had not been referred to in full. Ordinance and Judiciary.

From Mrs. Annie Brandon complaining that she has no money with which to build a sidewalk at the corner of Third and Webster streets. Street Committee.

From W. M. Gillespie for a sewer on East Twentieth street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues. Granted.

From the Board of Public Works, referring back to the Council the demand of T. W. Morgan for $85 50 on the ground that the Board would find no authority to approve of said demand. Auditing and Finance.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were disposed of:

Referring to the Fire and Police Commissioners, the resolution of the Board of Library Trustees, requesting the Council to prevent the annoyance occasioned patrons of the library by the nightly meetings held in front of the City Hall.

Appropriating $20 for the remuneration of witnesses on whose testimony conviction was secured in liquor cases. Indefinitely laid over on motion of Mr. Mott.

Authorizing the Board of Public Works to lease a room adjoining the Sixth Street Engine House at a monthly rental of $10. Adopted.

Adopting voluminous plans and specifications for the East Side sewer.

Authorizing the Board of Public Works to report to the Council within sixty days, as follows:

First—What provision should be made in the tax levy for the purpose of establishing local parks in the First, Second and Third wards?

Second—For the improvement of Independence Square?

Third—For the erection of an engine house?

Fourth—A list of public improvements in the order of their importance. Adopted.

From the residents in the Twenty-third avenue district, protesting against the granting of liquor licenses in that district east of Nineteenth avenue and within the city limits. License Committee.

Ordering the harrowing of Lake Shore avenue, at a cost not to exceed $12. Adopted.

Rescinding a resolution authorizing the Board of Public Works to employ an additional clerk for the office of the Street Superintendent. It was claimed by Mr. Mott that there is no work for the clerk to do.

Mr. Towle said that there was a majority of the members of the Board of Public Works present, and he would like to have them speak on the subject.

Mr. Peirsol said that he did not think that the matter of rescinding had come up before the Board of Public Works.

On motion of Mr. Towle the resolution was referred to the Board of Public Works.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Liquor licenses were granted as follows: F. Ohe & J. McBride, 479 Tenth street; P. Cavanaugh, 373 B street; John Xavier, 1551 Broadway; Thomas Hain & C. Davis, 409 Eleventh street; C. Fleckner & F. Kroman, 853 Webster street; Frank Smith, 1620 Seventh street.

ORDINANCES, SECOND READING.

The ordinance amending the present bicycle ordinance was indefinitely postponed.

The ordinance creating the office of night watchman in the City Hall at a salary of $85 per month and requiring the appointee to work from 7 P. M. to 7 A. M. was passed to print, the only negative vote being that of Mr. Bassett, whose motion, that the ordinance be referred to the City Attorney, to determine as to whether the Council has power to create such an office, was lost. Mr. Bassett declared he could find no such authority in the books.

The ordinance creating the office of City Hall janitor, the incumbent to be on duty daily from 7 A. M. to 7 P. M., was also passed to print. As it came from the committee, it exempted the janitor from duty on Sundays and legal holidays, but was amended by the Council as above referred to. Mr. Bassett wanted the ordinance referred to the City Attorney for the purpose of having its legality settled, but the Council did not adopt his views in the premises. His vote was the only one in the negative on the question of passing to print.

Apportioning to various funds the revenue of the city other than that from taxes. Passed to print.

ORDINANCES, FINAL PASSAGE.

The following ordinances were passed:

Opening Brush street to the estuary.

Requiring telegraph and telephone companies to number their poles in a consecutive manner.

Directing the Board of Public Works to obtain proposals for public printing.

Changing the grade of East Fifteenth street between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenue.

Appropriating $538 20 for the printing and binding of ordinances.

CHINESE BOMBS.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Oakland—GENTLEMEN: As our Natal holiday is near at hand, and the rights and privileges of our citizens to promenade the streets unmolested on that day will again be disputed unless the present law be amended.

Hundreds of our citizens have heretofore witnessed in the business portion of this city on and about the fourth day of each July the willful throwing of large Chinese bombs under passing horses, at children and about the clothing of women traversing the streets, oftentimes doing injury and setting fire to their clothes. I respectfully suggest that the enclosed ordinance be passed in ample time to prevent a re-occurrence of this shameful practice long in vogue on the third, fourth and fifth days of July.

Respectfully,

J. L. DAVIE, Mayor.

The ordinance referred to was referred to the Ordinance and Judiciary Committee.

RAILROAD FARES.

Bassett's Ordinance Regulating Them Passed to Print.

At the request of Dow, who said he had to attend the meeting of another organization, the Bassett ordinance prohibiting the collection of fares on steam roads between stations within the city limits, which was introduced at the last meeting of the Council, was brought up for consideration. The ordinance provides a penalty of $100 for every violation, or imprisonment for one day for every $2 of the fine.

After the ordinance had been read Mr. Towle moved that it be passed to print.

Mr. Dow said that he would vote for the passage of the ordinance to print because he believes the ordinance means nothing. He did not believe in passing delusive ordinances, and the ordinance in question is a delusive ordinance. After the last meeting of the Council a citizen had approached the speaker and said: "My friend Bassett is getting in good work. We are going to have free trains on Seventh street." Mr. Dow said that he had told that citizen that Mr. Bassett's ordinance referred to meant nothing of the kind. He did not want to be held blameable for the passage of an ordinance that means nothing.

Mr. Bassett said he would hold Mr. Dow entirely blameless for anything that might result from the passage of the ordinance.

A vote was taken. While it was in progress Mr. Heitmann said, when his name was called, that he reserved the right to change his vote to the negative.

The motion to pass to print, based on the recommendation of the Judiciary Committee and Towle's motion, was carried unanimously.

Mr. Manuel, in casting his vote, said the ordinance is political buncombe. A city ordinance cannot override a State law.

Mr. Towle remarked ironically that he was glad so important a part of the Council as Mr. Bassett would hold Mr. Dow and him blameless for any of the results of the passing of the ordinance disposed.

Mr. Bassett said he was just as much of the Council as was Mr. Towle.

OUTSTANDING BONDS.

The Mayor's Suggestions as Regards Their Payment.

The following message was read from the Mayor:

"Your attention is respectively called to these facts regarding this city's outstanding bonds soon to mature;

"In the year 1882, there were, among other city bonds outstanding, funded debt bonds of 1870, $67,000, drawing 10 per cent interest; school bond redemption bonds of 1874, $100,000, drawing interest at 8 per cent.

"Under chapter 6, title 3, part 21 of the Political Code of the State of California, these bonds were refunded in September 1882 by an issue of 5 per cent.

In the chapter under which this issue was made, it was explicitly provided that when there should be $1000 in an established bond redemption fund, a bond should be called and interest cease thereon.

"It was further required in this chapter that a tax should be levied sufficient to raise 20 per cent or $33,400 in 1887 and 40 per cent or $66,800 in 1890. In the year 1891, bonds amounting to $27,000 were redeemed and that is all that has been done in the matter of the redemption of these bonds which mature by limitation, October 1st of this year.

"The reports of the City Auditor show that it has not been through ignorance of the facts, but by a wilful disregard of the law as well as of his reports by the Councils of our city that the remaining $140,000 of these bonds have not been provided for by taxation.

"An election was held on September 29, 1894, when the question of refunding the $140,000 bonds was submitted and defeated. Except for the act of the last Legislature, enabling the Council, by a four-fifths vote of all its members to refund bonded indebtedness, our city would have been obliged to default in the payment of the $140,000 from October 1st to December 1st and a tax levy would have been necessarily imposed for the whole amount in the next fiscal year.

"This act of the Legislature, approved March 21 1895, is to be found on page 233 of the Statutes of 1895, and is entitled 'An act to amend section 1 of an act approved March 1, 1883, and entitled an act to authorize Councils, Boards of Trustees, or other governing body of any incorporated city or town, other than those cities of the first class, to refund its indebtedness, issue bonds therefor, and provide for the payment of the same, as amended March 1, 1893.'

"I respectfully suggest that the matter be given your immediate attention, so that no difficulty may be experienced in taking up the outstanding bonds to be redeemed within their date of expiration.

"J. L. DAVIE, Mayor."

The communication was referred to the Auditing and Finance Committee.

The following bills were ordered paid: John Cahan, $16; E. G. Buswell Paint Co., $1 65; C. W. Bonham, $13 00; Marston Campbell, $13 50; H. Denicke, $10; N. G. Davisor, $20; Ed S. IN STATE.

Gresham's Body Is Honored.

Many Official Tokens of Deep Grief.

Mourning on All Sides Over the Dead Statesman.

The Obsequies Will Be Held Tomorrow in Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The remains of Secretary of State Gresham have been embalmed.

The funeral arrangements are dependent upon the wishes of Mrs. Gresham, and owing to the depression and grief following the death of her husband, the details as to the place and time of the interment have been left until late in the day.

The present purposes of the friends of the family are to have the funeral train leave Washington tomorrow.

A special train will be provided, one car to bear the remains and another for Mrs. Gresham and the immediate relations.

These arrangements, however, are subject to such changes as Mrs. Gresham may desire.

Otto Gresham, son of the Secretary, arrived at 6:30 o'clock this morning by special train from Harrisburg. He was met at the station by Assistant Postmaster-General Jones, a near personal friend of the family. He joined his mother at the Arlington and they were given such privacy as was possible.

Mrs. Gresham is broken in spirits and body by the affliction and her constant vigils up to the moment of her husband's death. Her daughter, Mrs. Andrews, and another relative, Mrs. Captain Fuller, were with her constantly last night.

The body has been laid out in the sleeping room where the death occurred.

A metallic coffin is to be covered with black cloth with heavy oxidized silver handles, and the usual plate for the name and circumstance of birth and death.

Most of the prominent men in public life called at the hotel early in the day to leave cards.

Floods of telegrams and cablegrams of condolence came in during the morning. It is the present intention of the family, as communicated to personal friends, to have Secretary Gresham buried in Chicago. A brief funeral service will be held in Washington tomorrow before the special train leaves the city.

All the member of the Cabinet in the city—Secretary Carlisle being absent—called at the Arlington early today, and most of the ladies of the Cabinet circle also were admitted to the family apartments of the late Secretary.

Secretary and Mrs. Lamont were at the hotel a long time.

The State Department is technically closed today, admission being denied to all visitors, although employes were kept in waiting to assist in the discharge of formalities attending upon the notification to foreign powers of the nation's loss.

Acting Secretary Uhl prepared a draft of the formal note to be sent to representatives of foreign nations accredited to Washington and also for transmission to United States representatives abroad, conveying the news of Secretary Gresham's death.

The President accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland came to the White House at 10:30 o'clock and was immediately waited on by Acting Secretary Uhl. Official orders were prepared, closing the Executive Department on the day appointed for the funeral.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Secretary Gresham will be conducted in the east room of the White House tomorrow at 10 o'clock. All the executive departments will be closed on that day under Executive order.

The body will lie in state all the morning, and leave Washington for Chicago at 1 P. M.

The President and all the members of the Cabinet will accompany the remains to their last resting place. Secretaries Herbert, Carlisle, Lamont, Smith, Morton, Attorney General Olney and Postmaster General Wilson will act as honorary pall-bearers.

Bishop Hurst of the Methodist Epispal Church will conduct the funeral services at the White House. All the troops and the marines in the city will escort the body to the funeral train, the procession forming about noon.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland called at the Arlington at 11 o'clock to see the members of Secretary Gresham's family and tender sympathy. They drove over from the White House in an open carriage with no attendants but the driver on the box.

Attorney General Olney and Secretaries Lamont and Herbert arrived about the same time to confer about the arrangements for the funeral. President and Mrs. Cleveland were in the Gresham apartments half an hour. It was decided at noon that the remains of the dead Secretary lie in State at the Executive Mansion tomorrow.

The casket will be taken from the Arlington Hotel at 9 A. M. and will be placed in the large east room.

It will remain there until its departure for Chicago tomorrow night.

Sir Julian Pauncefote, British Ambassador, as head of the Diplomatic Corps, has addressed a letter to all the Ambassadors, Ministers and heads of Foreign Representatives, asking them to assemble at the British Embassy at 5 P. M. today, to take appropriate action on the death of Secretary Gresham.

GRESHAM'S MOTHER NOTIFIED.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., May 28.—About 8 o'clock last night a telegram was received in this city from the Secretary of War, Daniel Lamont, stating that Secretary Gresham could not survive the night, and requesting that his mother, Mrs. Sarah Rumley, who lives at Lanesville, Harrison county, be notified. Messengers reached the old homestead about 10 o'clock. Before they could speak, Mrs. Rumley moaned—"Walt is dead, my poor boy is dead," wringing her hands and weeping bitterly. Messengers informed her of the critical illness of her son, and thus afforded her slight comfort. Upon receiving the news of the Secretary's death, another messenger was dispatched to Lanesville.

THE NEWS IN ILLINOIS.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 28.—Both Houses of the Legislature today unanimously adopted resolutions deploring the death of Secretary Gresham, adding that his life has taught young manhood American possibilities, which lie in the path of pluck, ambition, determination and honesty, and that in his death the cause of free government has lost one of its ablest champions and the State of Illinois one of its noblest citizens.

SYMPATHY IN LONDON.

LONDON, May 28.—News of the death of the Secretary of State of the United States, was received with every mark of sympathy at the United States Embassy and the British Foreign Office.

Most of the newspapers today print the news without editorial comment. The St. James Gazette, however, says: "Mr. Gresham endeavored to preserve friendly relations with all foreign countries, especially England, and his wise statesmanship upon more than one occasion offended spread-eaglism of Yankee politicians."

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The President today issued the following proclamation:

"Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State of the United States, is dead. The President, in making this distressing announcement to his fellow countrymen, speaks from the depths of personal affliction to remind them that they too have lost a pure and able public servant, wise and patriotic guardian of all their rights and interests, manly and loyal American and generous and loveable man. As a suitable expression of the national bereavement, I direct that diplomatic representatives of the United States in all foreign countries display the flag over their embassies and legations at half mast for ten days.

"That for a like period the flag of the United States be displayed at half-mast at all forts and military posts and at all naval stations and on all vessels of the United States. I further order that on the day of the funeral the executive departments in the city of Washington be closed, and that on all public buildings throughout the United States the national flag be displayed at half-mast.

POLICY.

Republicans Will Show One.

Sherman Gives Some Good Pointers.

Strong Speech Made at the Ohio Convention.

The Democratic Tariff Law Has Been a Complete Failure.

ZANESVILLE, O., May 28.—The Republican State Convention was called to order at 4 P. M. by Colonel Joseph C. Bonner, chairman of the State Committee.

Colonel Bonner reviewed the last two State campaigns at some length and then introduced Senator Sherman as temporary chairman, who spoke in favor of the protective tariff and against the free coinage of silver at the old ratio; but in favor of bi-metallic currency based on international agreement in accordance with the market values of gold and silver. Mr. Sherman said:

"Gentlemen of the Convention:—I thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me in selecting me to preside over this convention. You have met to designate the next Governor of the State of Ohio. You have a good many candidates before you, but each of them is worthy of the highest honor you can confer. You have the assurance that whoever you may nominate will have the hearty support of all the candidates and of each member of the convention. You have also to select several of the chief executive officers of this State. I need not impress upon you the importance of selecting those who will honestly and faithfully perform the duties assigned them. You have a still higher duty, to announce the principles and policy of the Republican party in the State of Ohio and in the United States. What you will say here will have an important influence beyond the limits of your State, for the intelligent action of the Republicans of Ohio will, as in the past, indicate the opinions of Republicans in all parts of the United States.

"We have a common faith and creed. We act together on great matters of principle, on small matters for discipline. The primary and fundamental sentiments of the Republican party is love for our country, our whole country. We are for the Union, one and indivisible, now and forever. The Republicans of Ohio are not provincial, but national.

This is our cornerstone, planted in the first Republican convention in Ohio in 1855. We stood by it in the storms of the war when Lincoln was our standard bearer. Our soldiers fought for it under Grant, Sherman and Sheridan. The soldiers of Ohio carried our flag in every great battle of the war for the preservation of the Union. Other patriotic citizens and soldiers were equally deserving of honor and praise, but they could not carry their party with them. When Grant was in the Wilderness and Sherman was before Atlanta a great party declared the war a failure. Ours made it a success. When the war was over we did not treat our enemies as conquered subjects, but as erring brothers. We invited them back into the Union, with unabridged powers, prescribing only one condition—that there should be no slaves in our country. We now meet them and greet them as friends and, turning our back on dead issues, we congratulate them on their prosperity, which they did not and could not have in their condition prior to the war.

When the war was over the Republican party developed its civil policy. First of all it declared its purpose to pay every debt or obligation contracted during or since the war, that the public faith should be unblemished. This promise has been performed. In spite of the temptation and the shrieks of Populists, we have discharged every obligation contracted during the war and especially the highest and most sacred debt to the surviving soldiers of the war, their widows and orphans. The pension roll is a roll of honor, higher in amount than any pension roll ever before provided by any nation. While the Republican party is in power, it will only be diminished by the death of pensioners, a fate that awaits us all.

"We are in favor of a protective tariff. We had such a tariff. While it was in force we had prosperity, good times and money plenty. We had so diversified our domestic industries that American labor and American capital supplied nearly all the wants of the American people. We prefer to tax foreign production rather than our own. We believe that the policy of protection should be extended to all productions impartially, to labor on the farm as well as in the workshop. We are opposed to the Democratic policy of protecting woolen manufacturers and admitting wool free of duty. We denounce a scheme of taxation which annually increases the public debt more than $50,000,000. This is the result of Democratic ascendancy. The tariff law of the last Congress is partly a copy of the McKinley law, and generally a failure. All that is good of it was taken from the McKinley tariff and the rest of it is confessedly a hotch potch. The Supreme Court has already disposed of part of it. All the productions of the South from peanuts to whisky are carefully protected, while the duties on the great staple industries of the North are largely reduced, and on some articles like wool are entirely repealed. We demand a reform in the tariff, not to promote sectional interests, but to secure ample revenue and impartial protection to domestic industry. This we can have only by the election of a Republican President. We want a change, and for this change we will have the hearty support of a large portion of the Democratic party.

"We are in favor of a sound national currency, always redeemable in coin. All forms of money should be of equal purchasing power. For fourteen years after the resumption of specie payments, while the Republican party was in power, we had such a currency. We had gold, silver and paper money, all bearing the stamp and sanction of the United States, of unquestioned credit and of equal value, passing current not only within the United States, but in all parts of the commercial world.

"Both gold and silver are indispensible for use in the varied wants of mankind. Gold is now, and has been for many ages the chief measure of value in international commerce and the larger transactions of domestic exchanges. Silver, from its bulk and weight, is not available for large payments either at home or abroad, but it is indispensible for the minor wants of mankind. Gold, from its greatly superior value, cannot be utilized for such purposes. Therefore it is that both metals have been coined into money at fixed ratio. The enormous increase of the production of silver in the United States, Mexico and Australia, has disturbed this ratio and has lowered the market value of silver precisely as a like increase of production has lowered the price of other commodities. It is a universal law that price or value is measured by quantity. Under these conditions the rational and proper course would be a change of ratio; but this can only be effected as to these two metals by a concert of action among commercial nations. Until this can be accomplished the only logical way is for each nation to coin both metals and maintain the coinage of the cheaper metal at par by limitation of amount and redemption when in excess of the demand for it. Such is now the policy of the United States and of every great commercial nation, including every country in Europe. Other nations adopt the silver standard alone, not from choice but from poverty. I believe that the policy of the United States adopted in 1853, of coining fractional silver coins in limited quantities from silver bullion purchased at the market price and making them legal tender for small sums, is the only way to preserve the parity of gold and silver coins at a fixed ratio. This is properly called bimetallic money. I hope and believe that the common interest of commercial nations will lead them, through an international Commission, to either adopt a ratio based on market value of the metals or to coin them and maintain them, as we do, at their present ratio.

"The policy now urged by the producers of silver and by men who wish to pay their debts in cheaper money than they promised to pay, is the free coinage of silver. This means the single standard of silver and the demonetization of gold. This is the only monometallic system. It is the degradation of our dollar to fifty cents. If applied to our national bonds it is a repudiation of one half of the public. It is the repudiation of one-half of all debts. It confers no favors on producers of any kind, whether of the farm, the workshop or the mine, for if they get nominally more dollars for their productions their additional dollar would have only one-half the purchasing power of the gold dollars. The great hardship of this policy would fall upon workingmen, skilled or unskilled, whose daily wage, measured by the present standard, is higher than in any country of the world. Their wages will purchase more of the necessities of life than the wages paid for similar labor anywhere outside of the United States. It is a false pretense that the cheapening of money will be beneficial to them. The Republican party in its national platform of 1892 demanded good money of equal purchasing power, whether coined of silver or gold, or composed of United States notes or national bank notes, based on the credit of the United States, maintained at par with coin. This is the bimetallic policy. There we stand today. I hope and trust there we will stand forever. We will seek the co-operation of all nations and of all parties in maintaining the parity of gold and silver coins. If they will not co-operate with us in this policy, the Republican party can and I hope, will do it alone. Good money and plenty of it is as important to all our people as equality of rights and privileges.

"Let us then, with a firm reliance upon the principles, policy and wisdom of the great party to which we belong, nominate our candidate and declare our platform, and then make our appeal to the intelligence of the people of Ohio. In all the great issues made in the last forty years, the Republican party of Ohio has had the courage to propose and to do what is right. Let us now follow in the same pathway, and we will not only elect a Republican Governor and State officers, but also another Republican Senator and I hope a President of the United States from the State of Ohio."

On arrival of delegations from central and southern Ohio this afternoon, it was evident that a factional contest would fight it out on Bushnell or Nash for Governor. All other candidates including Hoyt concede they have no chance until it is demonstrated that neither Bushnell or Nash can be nominated.

Ex-Governor Foraker marched up the street at the head of the Union county delegation this afternoon, after which the Bushnell boom was the feature of the day. Meantime additional delegations arrived for Nash and a contest of every point was made in the district meetings at 2 P. M.

THE DEAL IN WHEAT.

A Report Made That the Crop in Several States Will Be Small.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Wheat had a wild opening today and within five minutes from the time of the bell was selling 2 cents higher than the price at which it closed yesterday. Inside another five minutes it had lost 1½ of the gain.

The news was all of a bullish character.

Yesterday's low barometer in the northwest had resulted only in a light shower here and there and the cold wave was being followed by what promised to be a scorching hot one. Perhaps the most bullish piece of news, however, was the report of King & Co. of Toledo, who summarized advices over 4000 correspondents in the wheat belt by saying the indications were that in six principal wheat producing States not more than half the average crop could be raised, involving a reduction of 100,000 bushels in the crop aggregate for the year.

DEBS IS READY.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Eugene V. Debs, president of the A. R. U., called on United States Marshal Arnold today and announced that in view of the decision of the United States Supreme Court denying him a writ of habeas corpus, he was ready to resume serving out his sentence in the jail at Wheaton.

The Marshal said he had not received the mandate of the court for Debs re-incarceration and did not expect it inside of a week. Debs contemplates a trip to North Dakota and gave a schedule of his intinerary.

MANY LAWYERS.

All Interested in the Contest to Boogar's Will.

Could Not Agree on a Plan of Action.

The Legal Skirmish Finally Continued to Monday.

Judge Greene held a seance this morning with the aid of numerous lawyers over the matter of the contest of the will of Philip Boogar.

Executors P. F. Benson and E. M. Patterson, M. D., had no voice, personally in the proceedings. But for the proponents there appeared Attorneys M. O. Chapman, J. D. Sullivan, A. A. Moore and J. C. Martin. In behalf of Mrs. Catharine Boogar as contestant there were George W. Reed, Emil Nusbaumer and George A. Knight. For Mrs. Louise Whittemore, another contestant, there were Denis Spencer of Napa and J. H. Smith, while for the absent heirs W. H. Thompson was present.

A vast deal of talk was indulged in over the proper manner in which to proceed. The proponent had not asked for a jury. Contestant Whittemore filed a demand for a jury. Contestant Mrs. Boogar had not demanded a jury trial, but after discussion Attorneys Knight and Nusbaumer decided to stand with Mrs. Whittemore's counsel and have a jury.

But here in steps the proponents, and argued that as Mrs. Boogar's attorneys had not demanded a jury within the specified time, they were not entitled to one.

Added to this, Mr. Moore argued that as both contestants had not joined in the demand for a jury, such demand had been practically waived.

The judge intimated that one contest could be heard by the court, and the judgment held until after the other contest had been heard by and submitted to a jury.

Denis Spencer wanted to postpone the whole matter, adding sotto voce as he sat down: "If we can put this off for a week, the lawyers can get together and divide up the estate among themselves."

Judge Greene asked counsel to read section 187 Civil Code, which provides that "if the course of proceeding be not specifically pointed out by this code or the statute, any suitable process or mode of proceeding may be adopted which may appear most conformable to the spirit of this code."

Then the attorneys and the judge took another turn at the question of a jury or no jury until finally the entire matter got into such a muddle that at the suggestion of Denis Spencer the contest was continued until next Monday, the rights of all parties to be reserved as if the contest were heard and determined at this time.

Then the army of attorneys went to lunch.

SOME FINE FEES.

What Florence Hinckley Will Have to Pay Her Lawyers.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Mrs. Florence Blythe-Hinckley has placed a lien upon the Blythe estate to secure the payment of the fees of some of her attorneys.

Six years ago Florence's grandfather agreed to pay 8 per cent of the whole estate recovered to Garber, Boalt & Bishop, this firm to pay W. W. Foote 2½ per cent.

Florence ratified this agreement when she attained her majority.

Garber, Boalt & Bishop advanced her $14,000 and Foote lent her $3000 while the case was pending. Garber, Boalt & Bishop will now receive $320,000 and Foote $100,000.

FROM HAWAII.

Melody That Will Delight Oaklanders Next Friday Night.

The first opportunity that has ever been presented to the citizens of Oakland to hear the music of Hawaii by native islanders will be given next Friday evening at the First Congregational Church.

The Royal Hawaiian Band of forty-pieces, which will give a concert at that time in this city, has for the second time in its existance visited the United States. Not for twelve years has this famous organization left its home on the Pacific, and the treat will be doubly enjoyed because of its rarity.

The band ranks with the famous ones of the world and it can not only discourse the music of the native Hawaiian, but it is fully accomplished in the music of all nations. The concert will be one that will attract great attention, as the organization has already made a reputation that places it on a footing with the bands of the world.

One of the attractive features of the programme will be the performance upon several native instruments, in striking contrast to the modern brass and wind creations of the civilized world.

The programme will be of such a varied character that it will appeal to the tastes of all classes. The concert cannot but fail to prove a very decided musical success.

ON THE ROCKS.

The Steamer Dom Pedro Is a Total Wreck.

About One Hundred Lives Said to Be Lost.

The Boilers Exploded After the Vessel Struck the Rocks

CADIZ, May 28.—The French steamer Dom Pedro, bound for Carrillo, Spain, has been wrecked off Currubedo.

Eighty were drowned.

The disaster was caused by the bursting of the boiler.

When the disaster occurred the Dom Pedro was off Cape Corrubedoon, West Coast of Galicia, and not off Corrubedo, as first reported.

About 100 lives were lost. The Dom Pedro was a 3000 ton steamer and was engaged in running between Havre and Argentine Republic, calling at Bordeaux, France, and carried freight and passengers. The latter were mostly emigrants bound for the Argentine Republic or other points in South America.

On her return trips the Dom Pedro was generally loaded with frozen meat. She left Havre May 20th with a crew of forty-nine all told, and eighty passengers.

At Carril the steamer was to have embarked with 200 additional passengers, but on the way to that port she ran on a rock at 6 40 P. M. off Cape Corrubedo, on the west coast of Galicia. The boilers exploded, the vessel foundering immediately afterwards.

It is now stated that only the captain and twenty-nine of the crew were saved, and such would indicate that all the passengers were either killed by the explosion or drowned when the vessel went down.

CRADLE SONGS.

The Benefit for the Women's Exchange Tonight.

Music From the Nurseries of the Nations of the World

The benefit which will be given this evening at the Macdonough Theater in behalf of the Woman's Exchange promises to be a splendid success. The programme is delightfully unique and will be very thoroughly enjoyed. The participants are in excellent trim for the production, and everything should move very smoothly.

It is seldom that such a variety is offered the public, as the programme would indicate. The songs of the cradle of the nations of the world have been chosen and the vocal rendition will be heightened by elaborate scenic effects, depicting the peculiar charm of the home of each nationality. From the American Indian papoose to the black-eyed Spanish babe the lullaby that its mother sings it to rest by will be rendered.

The orchestra will be composed entirely of young ladies who are well trained and will prove an additional feature of the production.

The vocalists are Miss Lucie Byler, Miss Grace Carroll, Miss Louise Dengler, Mrs. Carrie Frew-Dexter, Miss Marguerite Kerr, Miss Dorothy Goodfall, Miss Virginia Golden, Miss Grace Keser, Mrs. Madeline Ingersoll-Lewis, Miss Madeline McKissick, Miss Mary Alvarez Moreno, Miss Mary Sullivan, Madam Eva Tenney, Mr. Harry Melvin (as new ...), ... etc.

The orchestra is: First Violin—Miss M. Lockburn, Miss Hunt, Miss Moore, Miss Winifred Morgan, Miss Brady, Miss Grace Hibbard.

EAST SIDE SEWER.

New Plans Are Now Ready for Inspection.

The City Council is about to call for bids for the construction of the sewer on the east side of Lake Merritt which was made the subject of considerable litigation in the Superior Court two years ago, and was finally declared illegal.

City Engineer Wilson has submitted estimates and plans of the proposed work which is figured to cost $41,000. The plans are now on exhibition at the office of the City Clerk. Proposals will probably be invited for the work within a short time.

The sewer will tap a large territory east of Lake Merritt and will have an outlet at First avenue and East Eleventh street. The legal objections sustained regarding the former plans and contract have been overcome.

ANOTHER REPRIEVE.

Thomas St. Clair Has Good Reason to Be Overjoyed.

SAN JOSE, May 28.—Thomas St. Clair, condemned to hang Friday for the bark Hesper murder, was taken from the jail here this morning and placed on board the train bound for San Quentin to be executed.

A reprieve came after he left the jail. By a rapid drive Sheriff Dondon caught the train as it was moving off. The message was delivered to United States Marshal Harris and St. Clair was put off at Santa Clara and brought from there at 12:40 o'clock.

The length of the reprieve is not known here, as only the bare fact was stated by United States Marshal Baldwin. This is St. Clair's fifth reprieve. He is overjoyed.

The best-known remedy in the world is Carlsbad. People go there, not only for a disordered liver, but for all the diseases that follow it, and for jaundice and chronic liver complaint, and every ailment of the kind.

There's no need for you to go. You get precisely the same treatment in the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt (the water solidified at the Spring) or in the imported waters. NEW RECEIVER.

Transfer of Railroad Property Is Ordered.

The Conditions Imposed by the Circuit Judge.

Interest Must Be Paid on the Bonds When Due.

ST. PAUL, May 28.—The Oregon Short and Utah Northern Railway, or such portion of that system as lies within the jurisdiction of the Eighth Circuit United States Court, will be made over by the receivers of the Union Pacific to J. M. Egan, the receiver named by Judge Gilbert of the Ninth Circuit some time ago.

The transfer will be made with some limitations and conditions named by Judge Sanborn today when the order was handed down.

The court orders the transfer of property from receivers of the Union Pacific to the receiver appointed by Judge Gilbert on the payment by the American Loan and Trust Company of the interest on first mortgage bonds, which became due February 1, 1895, and the interest on that interest with a provision that the receiver shall pay all subsequent interest maturing on the first mortgage bonds as the same becomes due, and if he fails, shall immediately surrender possession of property to the present receivers.

Judge Sanborn declines to make any alteration in the order other than that contained in Judge Gilbert's order with reference to the issuance of receivers' certificates.

The amount of interest due February 1st was $147,000.

Similar applications will be made in San Francisco and Portland for portions of the road in other circuits.

PACKING YOUR TRUNK.

A Few Things a Summer Pilgrim Can't Get Along Without

Make a list of the things you think you ought to take on your summer holiday trip and you will be startled at the result. You wonder if you will have to hire a special baggage car. Now, strike out every article not imperatively necessary and you will find that a trunk of modest size will answer every purpose even of a long trip.

Travelers in making up their lists of indispensables should not forget that a change of drinking water after the heat and fatigue of a journey is likely to make them sick. To remedy this evil or what is better to prevent it, the pilgrim takes a supply of that sound and wholesome stimulant Duffy's Malt Whiskey. A little of this whiskey in the water not merely kills the germs that would make mischief in the stomach and bowels but it tends directly and strongly to revive a nervous system exhausted by long continued mental application or pressing anxiety or physical labor.

Make room in your gripsack or a box of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and use it when you are worn out with the heat—for there are terrible days even in the country. Reinvigorate your sluggish body with this prince of stimulants and in the sense of strength and well being that follows you will be glad that in making up your list of absolutely needful things you did not overlook Duffy's Malt Whiskey.

LAID TO REST.

Funeral of the Little Son of Fred Becker.

The funeral services over the remains of little Grover Becker, the 10-year-old son of Fred Becker, the well known marketman, were very largely attended yesterday at the residence of the bereaved parents, 467 Fifth street. Many friends were present to express their sympathy for the relatives of the boy, whose untimely taking off was so sad a blow.

The services were simple, yet very affecting. The interment was in Mountain View cemetery. The funeral cortege was one of the largest ever held in this city.

GONE TO BENECIA.

The Big Transfer Boat Solano Ready for Operation.

The big steamer Solano was taken to Benecia today in a complete state of repair. She has received a thorough overhauling from keel to walking-beam and is now in excellent condition. The overland trains will return to the old line of travel via Benecia in a few days. The Solano will be put into active service again as soon as a few trial trips are made to insure the proper working of the new engines.

As soon as the steamer is ready, trains will operate via Benicia and Port Costa, which will effect a large saving in time.

THE

MOREY INCANDESCENT GAS BURNER

It Has Revolutionized Gas Lighting!

Only Sixty Days on the Market and yet the Sale is Enormous.

No parts burn out. The mantels, screens, prisms, used in other burners are not used in the Morey Burner at all, therefore no parts to repair. The Cheapest Burner used, giving the greatest amount of light for the smallest amount of gas consumed.

The secret of its scintillating brilliancy is perfect combustion, not one iota going to waste—every atom of gas being consumed.

No ghastly greenish white light but a natural, mellow, golden sunlight, soothing to the eyes and radiant with power.

The Morey Gas Burner is the best results of long years of study, discovery and invention, and is based solely upon scientific principles. THE HIGHEST POWER OF GAS LIES IN THE BURNER EMPLOYED. The secret of the Morey Burner is the combustion secured.

You may ask why does the Morey Burner give so much more light for the same amount of gas consumed. Our answer is this: gas when burning, through an ordinary gas jet mixes quickly with the air and passes off, not giving time for the light to take up from the air all the oxygen necessary for its proper combustion, therefore it passes off and is wasted. But in the Morey Burner it passes through a perforated circle of 76 small needle pointed perforations and the current of air passing on all sides of the blaze supplies sufficient air for the blaze to take up all the oxygen necessary for its proper combustion. Therefore no WASTE OF GAS, NO BLUE BLAZE, all turned to light.

See what prominent business men and people of Oakland say of it.

TWO ESCAPE.

Progress of the Cases Against the Druggists.

Convictions for Selling Liquor Not Likely to Result.

The cases of the Oakland druggists who are charged with violating the license ordinance governing the sale of spirituous liquors, came up in the Police Court this morning. Those on trial were Druggists Trowbridge, Flint, Hetzer, Reilly, Huntington, Hyde, Bowman, Seifert, Diebert and Garret. Of these, Seifert and Diebert were dismissed, there being insufficient evidence to convict.

Attorney Victor Metcalf conducted the defense. The witness for the prosecution was I. A. Jarvis, who exhibited bottles of whisky and Holland gin, purporting to have been bought from the stores of the defendants.

He testified as to the dates on which he had purchased the liquor and the firms that had sold it, from memoranda that he had made on the bottles at the time they came into his possession. As to reward for his action he testified that he had heard that a witness helping to convict would be given a commission.

At noon the cases were continued over to Monday morning. It is not expected that conviction will be obtained.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

High School Graduates Receive Their Diplomas.

Interesting Address by David Starr Jordan.

Some Sound Advice Given to the Scholars Last Night.

The Class of May, '95 of the Oakland High school graduated last night beneath the motto, "Wisdom Is Better Than Rubies," and surrounded by the class flower, forget-me-not. Twenty girls and fourteen boys, with that motto and that flower, proclaim the triumphal march of the "new woman." The two-thirds majority possessed by the girls enabled them to choose their significant motto.

The graduates filed upon the stage a little after 8 o'clock. William B. King then played the "Queen of Sheba" march on the organ.

After a few remarks by Principal McChesney, reminiscent of his twenty-six years in the position, President Jordan of Stanford University was introduced. He addressed the class on "The Rights of Culture." He said:

"Those boys and girls about to graduate are not yet ready for the work of their lives. If they should begin their chosen work now, skipping the four or seven years' further preparation in the university and the professional school, they would be like the boy that goes to work at 3 o'clock in the morning and gets sleepy at noon, letting his rival, who slept till 7 o'clock, outstrip him in the day's work. A man or a woman should continue their preparation until they are 25 years of age, if they would do the best work.

"A hundred years ago people were talking much of the rights of man. About that time it was found that the common people of the world had the power within themselves to rise up and overcome the unjust tyranny of classes above them. They brought about a vertical instead of a horizontal cleavage of society. They destroyed the old class divisions and classified men according to their work or professions.

"But it was found that the rights thus obtained could not be guaranteed. Many in the pursuit of what they mistook for happiness, abused these rights, and it came to be recognized that people could only enjoy those rights that they had the power to take. A man had the right to read, but he could not take it if he was illiterate.

"Culture, however, brings with it rights that are invaluable. It gives the power to know the best thoughts of the world, to know the way to get at the truth, to enjoy philosophy, poetry, and science. In short, all knowledge is transformable into power. The power to do is the right of a person of culture.

"Following this line of thought we find that all power brings with it duty. There is no such thing as culture for culture's sake, or right for right's sake, each involves, by a law of nature, an imperative duty. Notwithstanding that this fact causes some men to rebel, in our modern society, an illegical development, the general trend of everything nowadays is toward the right. Especially is this to be hoped when we look into faces like those in these young graduates, that are turned forward.

"Emerson has said that money invested in a university is better placed for future good than any other investment. The university fits men to be true men, true in the sense that they know their professions scientifically—they know the law from its beginnings, and medicine and other professions in the same way.

"A higher education does not fit a man to get through life with more ease than a man not possessing such preparation. On the contrary it involves more work, more duties, because it gives more knowledge, which is power. Therefore, do not send a boy to college, but let the boy who wishes it go of his own account.

"The greatest men are those who know the strength and weakness of the common people, and who appeal to their better natures. Such was Lincoln. He was not like the hypocritical politician of today. He saw and sincerely appealed to the strength of the people."

Following President Jordan's address, J. W. Evans, president of the board of Education, presented the diplomas to the following graduates:

Edna Ackerman, Edward C. Aiken, Martha Bons, Fred C. Border, Maude Church, Irene N. Clark, Alexander Cook, Minnie Bell Dow, Susan Frances Edelen, Susan Frances Farnsworth, Henry Gale Foote, Prentice Sherman Gardner, Isabelle M. Gill, Elmer Sidney Harris, May Voorhees Haworth, Leone L. Hutchinson, Helen E. Hutchinson, Karl F. H. Lehman, Peter J. Hygelund, Edith Kelley, Van Larue, Paul R. Lenz, Florence B. Livingston, Frank O. Martens, Lisa Mae Macaulay, Archibald Stuart Macdonald, Thomas McConnell, Gertrude McFeely, May Belle McCown, Annie Meyer, Grace Rollins, Fannie Cushing Stone, Lois Schoenfelder, Seth Roswell Tickott, George A. Vaughn.

THE New York Sun has a way of making a good point in a few words, as it does in these lines: "Those European authors who write about the degeneracy of the human race give convincing proof that they are not intimate with the 65,000,000 men and women who constitute the population of the United States. The most vigorous generation of mankind which ever inhabited this country is the generation which now lives in it; and if we may judge from the books and sports of the young folks, the next full-grown generation of Americans will be more vigorous yet."

GENERAL GOMEZ, the military chief of the Cuban insurgents, has predicted that within two years Cuba, as a republic, will take her place among the free governments of the New World. What San Domingo did may not be impossible in Cuba. If the latter should once establish republican institutions the next move would be for annexation to the United States. At any rate, the agitation for that result would be sure to follow. It is pretty well known that overtures have been made for the transfer of Cuba to this country. But Spain has always refused to part with the "ever faithful isle." But if Cuba effects the parting, there might be a new aspect of the question. If General Gomez is alive at this date, he might do well to hurry up his republic.

THE Republicans in Ohio are having a warm time. Sturdy old John Sherman always puts in an appearance at the State conventions, and does a full day's work. McKinley will, of course, have the usual booming for President. He is the one political leader who generally gets there. Harrison's friends are also busy. But Harrison will have enough to do to take care of Indiana, which is a doubtful State, politically. Harrison has been to New York to have his portrait painted. That is the first move on the political chess board. As Ohio has come to be regarded as the pivotal State for the Republicans, a convention there assumes an importance that a Republican convention would not have in any other State.

AND so Debs goes to jail for six months. The Circuit Court having final jurisdiction passed the original sentence, which the Supreme Court does not undertake to review. But incidentally it enumerates a new settled principle that the Government of the United States is supreme on every foot of soil within its boundaries. It has passed the Interstate Commerce act and there is no corporation, however powerful, and no individual, however humble, who can lawfully set up any opposing authority. Debs will probably be heard from in jail. It is a very light penalty for his attempt to nullify Federal law. It is not probable that Debs will ever again figure in the same role as a disturbing leader.

THE new treaty between Nicaragua and Honduras is an indication of a possible confederation. The recent invasion of Nicaragua by the British has probably furnished an additional motive for bringing these republics into closer alliance. The old confederation may not be revived in just that form, but a sense of weakness and the need of mutual protection may bring these few small republics into a closer union. The curse of these small States has been the revolutions brought about, or attempted by military chieftains. Mexico was once afflicted in the same way. But the Mexican States are now apparently firmly bound together. Why may not as much be hoped for these Central American republics.

Suspicion of Old Masters.

The "Art Amateur" states that Robaut's descriptive catalogue of the works of Corot will soon be given to the world. Then there will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Every genuine Corot will be noted in this official list. Now as there are any number of spurious Corots in the United States, there will be a drop in values where this publication appears. The "old masters" lift up their heads here until some expert tells the story about their true rating. Corot's works are easily imitated. He painted in a large way, massing details, and depending largely on tones and a peculiar harmony of blending. When an "old master" does not appear in the official catalogue the picture may be safely set down as a spurious one.

The Old Order and the New.

A few years ago Kalakaua was reigning in the Hawaiian Islands, Honolulu was the very paradise of irresponsible adventurers. No matter how worthless and how corrupt they were, once introduced to that dissolute sovereign, they found him a boon companion. He welcomed them as his particular friends. Some of them shared in the administration of public affairs. Those were days of rioting and all manner of excesses. A worthless element was drawn to the islands. They had a good time while this rotten ruler lived. His successor was of the same tainted blood. The same characters found favor with her.

Now that she has ceased to reign her parasites are no longer in clover. Two-thirds of all the lies and libels that are sent out from the islands are concocted by this worthless gang. They are sighing for the return of the old order of things. They hate Dole and his cabinet because they are superior men who know every scalawag that has ever been plotting and planning for the overthrow of the present Government. There is no place for the bummer and the fraud. His vocation is gone for the present. Dole is too respectable. His administration is too clean. The measure of any one of these fellows has been taken. A few of them are foreigners, but the greater number are nominally Americans, or men without a country. They would be parasites anywhere, and more especially so at the islands if only they could find sufficient encouragement. They tell their tale of woe, and occasionally find a newspaper that publishes their stories. The Call has probably published more of the stuff written by these parasites than any other paper in the State.

There is always a crisis when these fellows manage to get the ear of the public. There was no crisis when Kalakaua was bankrupting the country and engaging in a series of orgies with his boon companions so utterly vile that they cannot be described. Everything was lovely for these fellows then. These were the "good times" that this class of reprobates are now hoping will return. All that is needed is the breaking down of the Dole administration and the setting up of another native ruler, who in time would be as rotten as that of the dethroned Queen or Kalakaua, who beat the record of all the early heathen rulers who ever reigned in Hawaii.

Every clean and upright man who loves order and decency is offensive to these parasites. They are sighing for the return of "native innocence," when the "hula" afforded them so much beastly gratification. Some who are a shade better want a change, because any overturning would bring to them new opportunities for gain. These are the ones who are constantly predicting that the Dole administration cannot last because it is not popular. It never was popular with adventurers and irresponsible bohemians. It is well sometimes to look at the true inwardness of the characters who revile the Hawaiian Republic. They are a job lot. There is nothing for them as long as the present order is maintained but the obscure corner where a waiting attitude can be maintained for something to turn up. The present affliction is that there is so little prospect of a change.

"Things sweet to taste prove in digestion sour," sang Shakespeare. He foresaw effects of food not made digestible by Price's Cream Baking Powder.

When I Meet My Youth Again.

Some time—I know not how or when—
This weary road I journey on
Will lead thro' lands that I have known,
And I shall meet my youth again
Thro' some old wood my childhood knew
The road, at length, will bring to view
A cottage in a lowly glen,
Where I shall meet my youth again.

And yet the lad of whom I dream
May know me not, for I shall be
To him a deep'ning mystery
Of things that are and things that seem;
From these old scars of time and toil
His heart, albeit, may recoil,
As children's often do from men,
When I shall meet my youth again.

But he shall know me at the last,
And creep into my arms and weep
As I shall lull his lids to sleep
With stories of the changes past
And ere the morning breaks upon
Us twain our souls shall be as one
And time shall breathe a soft "amen"
When I shall meet my youth again.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Everybody who can assist in the observance of Memorial Day should do so. The celebration of that patriotic holiday should be participated in by every American who honors the memory of the men who fought and died for the Union.

The Salt Lake convention of silver boomers has resolved to raise $250,000 a month "to carry on an aggressive campaign of education" in behalf of free coinage. The most liberal condition of this arrangement is an implied understanding that persons who desire to make their contributions in gold will not be debarred from so doing. That is a rather broad concession.—New York Tribune.

Ex-President Benjamin Harrison left Indianapolis for the East Tuesday afternoon. At Newark, N. J., he will receive a medal from the New Jersey Historical Society. From there he will go to New York to stay at the Fifth Avenue Hotel for two weeks. While in New York he will sit for a portrait by Eastman Johnson, to be hung in the White House with the other pictures of Presidents.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The Gentlewoman gives currency to this remarkable story: "Here is a story of an extraordinary kind, which shows that truth is stranger than fiction. Some sixty years ago the cashier of a Liverpool merchant had received a Bank of England note, which he held up to the light to make sure it was genuine. He then saw some very indistinct red marks of words traced on the front of the note and on the margin, and he, from curiosity, tried to decipher them. At length he made out the following sentence: 'If this note should fall into the hands of John Dean of Longhill, near Carlisle, he will learn thereby that his brother is languishing a prisoner in Algiers.' Mr. Dean, on being shown the note, lost no time in asking the Government of the day for assistance and accomplished the freedom of his brother on payment of a ransom to the Bey. The unfortunate prisoner had been a slave for eleven years and had traced, with a piece of wood for a pen and his own blood for ink, the message on the bank note in the faint hope of its being seen sooner or later."

ABSOLUTELY PURE

A prominent business man from Colorado says that State was never so prosperous as now. He estimates the year's yield of gold at twenty millions and the silver yield at fifteen millions, and says that the cattle and sheep raising industries have been especially remunerative. This probably accounts for the renewal of the efforts of silver boomers to keep that State in line for inflation.

It is a well recognized fact that a boat is more easily moved in a wide than in a contracted waterway. Anyone who has traveled canals and rivers in a steam launch knows that while the speed of seven or eight miles an hour is easily maintained, yet on a narrow canal, with the same pressure of steam, the speed falls off to half this.

"They've raked in a pretty rough-looking lot this morning, haven't they?" observed the stranger who had dropped in at the police station.

The elaborate plant of Price's Cream Baking Powder—the largest in existence—shows what merit can achieve.

Prof. W. T. Wenzell,

Of the College of Pharmacy of the State University, after actual analyses made by him, pronounces "the ROYAL BAKING POWDER the strongest and purest baking powder before the public."

The ROYAL BAKING POWDER destroys the dyspeptic qualities of hot food.

OVER THE DEAD CENTER.

A New York Incident of the Financial Squeeze of 1893.

Holland's Letter in the Philadelphia Press.

As the season of stress and storm which began in '93 is passing away, the financiers who were in peril at that time are beginning to exchange confidences, and these anecdotes show how great the peril was, and how often it happened that great business and financial houses stood on the verge of a precipice leaning over, and were only saved by mutual forbearance, kindness and the stretching of business customs to meet the unusual emergency.

I heard of one of these anecdotes a day or two ago. Right in the midst of the panic of '93, a financier and a great power in the world of trade, whose name is known all over this country and Europe, went to a friend and said: "I am so near ruin as this, that while I have millions in securities, I have scarcely a thousand dollars in cash, and must have $25,000 today or I am done for."

He had thrown himself languidly into a chair, as though almost ready to give up the battle. He knew well enough what the announcement of his failure meant for the commercial world. It probably would have pulled down a score or more of important institutions, and very likely would have precipitated general disaster. He had been everywhere with securities in his pocket valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars, pronounced good then, but he was told in every place, "Your securities are good, but we cannot lend money now." His position was like that of the castaway upon the ocean with "water, water everywhere, nor any drop to drink." His securities at their normal value were probably worth as much as $10,000,000, perhaps more, but it was impossible for him to borrow $10 upon them.

The friend to whom he went knew as well as he what his failure involved; knew that he was worth at least ten millions in securities, although he could not command the $25,000 which stood between him and the protesting of his paper.

The friend said: "Well, I'll try to help you. What collateral have you got?" He took from his pocket securities which before the panic would have commanded easily $50,000, and said: "I can offer these."

"They are good," said the friend; "nothing better. Let me see what I can do."

He went out to a financial institution, of which he had long been a customer, and he said to the officers: "I want to borrow $25,000 on this collateral, which is worth $50,000. I will guarantee the paper, provided I have recourse to the collateral in case it is not paid."

"But," said the bank officers, "we can't lend that. The collateral is good enough; but we can't even lend on Government bonds. Nobody is lending; everybody is trying to borrow."

"Well," said the friend, "then I will submit a proposition to you. If you will lend the money on this collateral it will earn 6 per cent for you. If you will not lend it, then I will draw my own check upon this concern for $25,000, and I will keep the collateral myself. Now, it is for you to say whether for the $25,000 that you've got to part with you will take security and 6 per cent interest or whether you will pay it out and get nothing for it, which you must do if I check it out."

Of course the officers, confronted with such an alternative, could only decide to loan the money, and it was the biggest loan that was made that day or perhaps for several days before or afterward—at least, the biggest new loan.

The friend went back to the capitalist and said: "The $25,000 is at your command." When the capitalist heard this he became a new man. All the energy characteristic of him returned. Said he "This will carry me over the dead center, for I am satisfied that before any of my obligations mature it will be possible to borrow money on such securities as I possess," and that proved to be the case.

The capitalist is now one of the conspicuous influences inducing a return of prosperity. He is esteemed to be worth not far from twenty millions, and he can borrow upon his securities millions of money with perfect ease. He does not like to think of the day in '93 when $25,000 stood between him and ruin.

COSTLY MATERIAL FOR A NEST.

A Bird Stole a Ten-Dollar Bill and Used It as Lining.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

A ten-dollar bill, which had mysteriously disappeared, was recovered by Assistant Coin Teller Phil Turpin of the Sub-Treasury in a peculiar manner. He has a beautiful farm out on Cliff creek, near the Little Miami river. In that section birds fairly abound. One evening in the beginning of May Mr. Turpin was getting ready to attend a soiree at his next neighbor's in Newtown, about two miles distant. The weather, it will be remembered, at that time was unusually warm, and he left the windows of his room open.

Mr. Turpin had taken his money, among which was a ten-dollar bill, and laid it on a center table, intending to put it in a pocket of his other trousers. The room is at the corner of the house, and has windows on both sides.

He stationed himself at one of the windows and commenced to shave. The birds were singing outside and flying about the house and through the open windows, joyful, no doubt, at the advent of spring, while others were busy in trees building nests. It was luxury to shave amid such surroundings, and when Mr. Turpin finished he looked sleeker than ever. After washing he prepared to don his Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes. After he arranged his necktie to give the best effect he went to the centre table and began picking up his money, but was not a little surprised to find a ten-dollar bill missing. He thought that the wind might have blown it on the floor, and he began looking there for it.

After a long time spent in vain, he gave up the search there. He then went out into the yard, and began hunting among the flowers and grass for it, thinking that it might have been blown through the open window, but he had to go to that soiree minus a $10 note.

Day before yesterday the severe wind storm blew a robin's nest out of a tree near the front porch. Mr. Turpin picked the nest up, and was about to cast it away when he noticed what seemed to be a piece of paper of peculiar color. He examined it, and found it to be currency of some denomination, but it was not until he had carefully torn the nest apart that he discovered it to be a $10 bill. It was apparently the one he had lost a couple of weeks ago, a bird having flown into the room and snatched up the money. The bill was in pretty bad condition, and he redeemed it at the Treasury yesterday.

ALUM.

Used to "Clarify" Foul Water.

Oakland "Waterbacks" Destroyed.

Corrosive Quality of Contra Costa Water.

Pipes and Flues Choked and Ruined by the Mineral.

There has been one or two complaints—mild enough, but complaints, nevertheless, concerning the water supply of the Oakland Water Company.

The pressure is so great at times that it has been found necessary to tighten the pipe joints.

It is safe to say that no similar criticism has ever been made concerning the Contra Costa supply.

A gravity pressure seldom disturbs the pipe joints.

It is fortunate for the expense account of the Contra Costa Company that they distribute their water under a weak pressure.

If it were measurably as heavy as that to which the pipes of the Oakland Company are constantly subjected the rust-eaten, loose-riveted stovepipe of the Contra Costa system would burst like a dynamite bomb.

It would not be safe or profitable to inject an Oakland Water Company's pressure into a Contra Costa system.

Consumers of the Oakland Water Company's supply should report immediately all loose joints, so that they may be tightened, for it is an imperative necessity that this water should be distributed absolutely pure.

It is pumped directly from the wells at Alvarado to the houses in Oakland.

It is intended that it shall not come in contact with the air at any point.

It must not be contaminated by bacteria in transit.

The tightening of loose pipe joints caused by high pressure is therefore a sanitary precaution.

ALKALI AND ALUM.

Such a complaint, however, does not compare with the complaint now universal against the Contra Costa supply that the alkali in the water is eating out the waterbacks of furnaces, ranges and stoves.

The alkali of this Contra Costa water is also largely impregnated with alum.

Alum is not only a destroyer of waterbacks on which it crystallizes, but it is also a destroyer of human beings in whose system it congulates, hardening like pebbles in a Contra Costa tributary.

Many tons of alum are dumped into the Contra Costa reservoirs to "clarify" the water.

Alum is the basic principle of the Hyer filter in use by the Contra Costa Company.

It is thought that an unusual amount of alum in this water is the cause of the death of the fish that are being harvested this season at Lake Chabot.

Thousands of these fish float on the surface of the lake and pile up along the shores, infecting the air and poisoning the water.

A party camping near Lake Chabot was compelled to move recently to avoid the unbearable odor of this decaying fish.

The clarifying of the water with alum does not purify it, however, and taken into the human system it is most deleterious.

The use of alum as an adulteration of water should be prohibited as its use in bread is prohibited.

COSTLY WATER.

During all the years that the Contra Costa was a monopoly this destructive element was at work.

It played havoc with the tubing of boilers and it choked the pipes of every kitchen in Oakland.

It is safe to assert that the use of Contra Costa water has cost as much in repairs of water backs and flues as the present price of water in Oakland.

There is probably not a water back in this city ten years old that is not practically useless.

Those that have been subjected to the corroding effect of Contra Costa water with its lime and alkali and alum for five years are also in bad condition.

The Contra Costa Company, with characteristic effrontery, are at present endeavoring to make capital by claiming that certain water backs which they have placed on exhibition have been choked by alkali from the Alvarado wells.

This is, of course, is absurd.

RUINED WATER BACKS.

The water backs in evidence are those which, for years, were filled with Contra Costa water.

They have been corroded and choked by the solid residuum which the expert analysis shows predominates in Contra Costa water.

The frantic effort of the Contra Costa people to create the impression that the water of their rival is mineral in character and full of alkali is laughable—the more so that they dare not submit their own water to the usual tests for determining the fact.

They are not afraid to misrepresent the truth, however.

They do not hesitate to use their own "awful examples" as arguments why the citizens of Oakland should not patronize the rival company.

FLUID DIPHTHERIA.

The other day a gentleman was asked by one of the Contra Costa managers to inspect a waterback that had been almost destroyed by the alkali of Contra Costa water, but which the manager, without a blush, said had been rendered useless by water from the wells at Alvarado.

The gentleman looked at the water back and then he looked at the manager.

It was a stern look.

The manager trembled from the crown of his tall hat to the soles of his Trilby feet.

He suddenly remembered that this gentleman had a serious grievance against the Contra Costa Water Company.

And he feared to hear the gentleman's reply.

"It may be as you say, sir," said the gentleman, "but I would rather lose my waterback than see my child die of diphtheria from drinking Contra Costa water."

The manager shrank abashed before the gaze of that indignant father, for he recalled the sad fact that his child had died of diphtheria.

Then the gentleman informed the manager that he was taking the Dingee water and would continue to do so.

It was free from the disease germs that swarm in the Contra Costa supply, and waterbacks or no waterbacks he did not propose to peril the health and lives of his family by resuming his patronage of the Contra Costa Company.

CONTRA COSTA FALSEHOODS.

It is not true that the water of the Oakland Company is affecting the waterbacks of this city.

It is true that the water supplied by the Contra Costa Company has ruined hundreds, perhaps thousands, of these waterbacks.

This last resort of the corporation simply emphasizes the stress of their unhappy condition.

It is an impudent assertion that the waterback of a kitchen stove is of more importance and concern than the stomach of a human being.

It is a falsehood uttered to prove that alkali is more deleterious than microbes of zymotic disease.

It is a brazen effort to prejudice the people against a water supply absolutely pure in every respect.

It is a criminal attempt to compel the people to resume their patronage of a water supply reeking with the filth of hog wallows and sewer drains—the excrement of earth vaults and the seepage of cesspools.

But the people are not such fools as the Contra Costa Company seems to imagine.

They neither believe this waterback fake, nor do they intend to be beguiled into drinking any more of the filthy sewage of Lake Chabot and Lake Temescal.

A DESPERATE CONDITION.

The Contra Costa Company will probably keep right on in its campaign of falsehood and misrepresentation, hoping against hope that Providence may interpose a miracle on their behalf.

But Providence is in better business than assisting a corporation so lost to every sense of decency, self-respect or common humanity as the Contra Costa Water Company.

The corporation is desperate.

They are losing money like water.

Where their next dividend is coming from nobody knows—not even the Family that controls the affairs of the corporation.

And that debt—that $1,600,000 debt—what will become of that?

Who will assume it?

Who will buy those bonds?

And so the Contra Costa Company goes begging—begging for patronage, begging for money to operate a losing business.

It is an experience similar to that which made miserable the existence of the Piedmont Cable Company's stockholders before the final crash.

It is the beginning of the end.

In a little while nor bonds, nor dividends, nor water backs, nor lack of patronage will worry the management of the Contra Costa Water Company.

ALASKA MINES.

Colonel McKillican Tells About His Trip.

No Place for Farming, But a Fine Country for Minerals.

Colonel Robert McKillican returned yesterday from a trip to Alaska, where in company with a number of mining men, he has been inspecting mining property at Mary's Island in Southeastern Alaska in which he is interested. The gentlemen who accompanied Colonel McKillican were Colonels A. E. Head and Thomas B. Pheby of San Francisco, and Frank Thurman, a well known mining expert of Mexico.

The party had a very enjoyable three weeks' trip. The voyage north by sea from San Francisco was delightful. Colonel McKillican was especially favored by King Neptune, for he was one of the few aboard the staunch Umatilla who were not touched by attacks, more or less pronounced, of seasickness.

Colonel McKillican returns with an excellent impression of the country. Its mineral resources, he believes, are rich and varied and he sees a great future for Uncle Sam's most northern possession as a wealth-producing territory.

"For purposes of agriculture," said Colonel McKillican, in speaking of his trip, "I do not see anything ahead for Alaska. Even in the southeastern portion of the territory, the ground is covered with a mossy growth, in many places two feet deep. Of timber there is a good quantity. Certainly there is ample for all home purposes, but I do not think it will ever become an export product. For mining use there is an abundant supply. The country is full of mineral. Gold, silver, lead, coal and iron abound. I do not think the ledges are as rich as our California deposits, but they are much larger in extent.

"In the mining districts that we visited the workings are very satisfactory, and I consider that there are very fair prospects for future developments. The mines in southern Alaska can be worked all the year around. The season is shorter as one gets to the north into the interior, especially along the Yukon river. Gold, silver, lead and iron are found in very satisfactory quantities. In fact the smelting ore obtained from our mines and from the country adjacent is so rich in lead that the smelting companies will pay a premium upon the ore for working it. That is to say, they will pay for the lead and a price above its worth.

"The ore is concentrated at the mine and at present must be shipped to Tacoma or Seattle for smelting. There is no reason, however, why smelting could not be done right at the mines.

"Alaska, so far as its mineral wealth is concerned, has never been prospected to amount to anything. There will be more developing done this season than ever before. Large parties have gone to Alaska this season to the mining districts of Cook's Inlet, Douglas Island, Juneau and up the Yukon. There are great prospects, in my judgment, for that country, and I am satisfied the future is bright for it.

"It is somewhat difficult to forecast with respect to an entirely new country. But there is every indication that when the current turns in the direction of the mining resources of Alaska there will be great results. We have now working at our mine eight men, and they are realizing very satisfactorily."

FOR THE BATH.

Oakland Furnishes Another Important Industry.

"Cleanliness is next to godliness," says the poet, and anything that induces either grace may be put down as a benefit to human kind. The ancients believed in bathing to such an extent that their natatoriums were palaces. Their baths were dreams of esthetic art and luxuriance. The modern nineteenth century bath may be made quite as delightful, as far as its hygeinic results are concerned, even if the bather had not the wealth of a Gould or a Vanderbilt or a Rockfeller.

There has recently been introduced here a preparation known as the Pompeian perfumed bath tonic. It is a home product, manufactured in this city, and recommended by the leading physicians in Oakland.

It is to be used in the bath, and not only is it invigorating, cleansing and refreshing, but it is a tonic for the system. It softens and perfumes the water and gives a mellow and delicious fragrance that highly intensifies the enjoyment of the bath.

The California Bath Tonic Company, which is manufacturing this delightful preparation, has established its factory at 717 and 719 Second street in this city, notwithstanding that liberal inducements were offered to the corporation to go to San Francisco. The factory is being operated night and day to supply the demand. The preparation has been thoroughly tested and receives the highest indorsement not only of physicians, but of the leading society people who have established it in their households.

It gives such general satisfaction that the manufacturers have found that the demand is taxing their capacity already. The Pompeian Bath Tonic is a blessing in disguise. It furnishes those of moderate means with an opportunity to enjoy the charm of a delightful and delicious bath at a merely trifling expense.

The celebrated Wheelock pianos used by over 400 of Oakland's musicians and they give the best of satisfaction. The Stuyvesant pianos for durability and good workmanship have no equal. Pianos sold on easy installments. New instruments rented and rent applied if purchased after six months. Before you buy call on the Girard Piano Co., corner Fourteenth and Broadway.

MILLS COLLEGE.

The Closing Exercises at the Popular Institution.

The Concert Last Night Was a Great Success.

A Very Fine Showing Was Made in the Various Departments.

The pleasures and duties of commencement week at Mills College and Seminary have been engrossing the attention of students and instructors at that widely known institution of learning up to today.

Sunday last the baccalaureate sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Scudder; last night the closing concert of the term was given; the annual meeting of the board of trustees was held at 10 A. M. today, and this afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the commencement exercises of the class of 1895 began.

The romantically environed seminary never presented a more pleasing aspect than now. The institution has more than held its own the past year despite the prevalent period of depression, and the phenomenal energy and aptitude of Mrs. Mills were never more apparent in presiding over the institution which bears her name.

Baccalaureate sermons are often viewed as perfunctory incidents in college life, but that of Rev. Dr. Scudder before the students at Mills last Sunday was of special brilliancy, notable for its deep undertone of feeling, its rare elegance of diction and, most of all, for its strength and fervor and impressiveness, all of which seemed to be felt by the young women auditors.

THE CLOSING CONCERT.

There was a large and delighted audience in attendance last night on the occasion of the closing concert at Mills. There were unoccupied seats in the concert room, and it was a gathering of refined and cultured people that assembled to listen to the efforts of dainty maidens, whose vocal and instrumental music won responsive plaudits.

Many of the guests arrived early by train over the California Railway, while others reached Seminary Park in their private equipages. Everything, as is usual on such occasions at Mills, was found in perfect harmony and order for the event. The various parlors, reception rooms and drawing rooms were tastefully decorated. The music hall had a wealth of palms, marguerites and other floral adornments, but the chief attraction of all were the bright-eyed and prettily-gowned students, who received their parents and friends with welcoming smiles and ejaculations of delight.

Adjoining the music hall the art room held treasures that engrossed a large share of attention before and after the concert. Scores of paintings, sketches and drawings by students were there displayed, and in all the history of Mills Seminary it is doubtful if an exhibit of equal merit in an artistic sense has ever been made.

THE CONCERT PROGRAMME.

The concert began at 7:45 P. M. and the programme observed was as follows:

PART I.

"Hunting Song" ..... Mendelssohn
Choral Class.

a Impromptu, b Romanze ..... Hans Seeling
Miss Ethel Halloy.

"Chanson d'amour" ..... Thome
Miss Grace Gilbert.

"Saltarello" ..... Nicolai
Miss Mabel Howes.

Duet, "El Desdichado" ..... Saint-Saens
Misses Mc Donald and Gilman.

"La Fiancee" ..... Raff
Miss Marie Robbins.

a "Lithuanian Song" ..... Chopin
b "Morning Dew" ..... Grieg
Miss Cynthia Barnard.

"Under All True Tops" ..... Reichel
Choral Class.

PART II.

"Allegretto" ..... Chaminade
Choral Class.

"Summer" ..... Chaminade
Miss Nina Martin.

a Papillon, b Poesie Erotique, c An Printemps ..... Grieg
Miss Ada Story.

Folksongs: "Tuscan" ..... Carracciolo
"Indian" ..... Vogrich
Misses Allis and Barnard.

Kamennoi-Ostrow, No. 22 ..... Rubinstein
Miss Persis Coleman.

Aria: "Queen of Ghosts" ..... Gounod
Miss Mabel Gilman.

Rhapsodie, No. 2 ..... Brahms
Miss Minnie Thomas.

Choral Class.

Where every number was exquisitely rendered it would be invidious to attempt to pronounce one more pleasing than another. Yet it may be noted that the choral work of Professor Rosewald's class was delightfully smooth, the voices of the singers prettily blending into one harmonious whole that evinced the most careful and perfect training and finished culture. The duet folksongs by Misses Allis and Barnard seemed to be especially appreciated by the audience, and the rich contralto of Miss Mabel Gilman won for that pleasing songstress exceedingly enthusiastic applause.

At the close of the concert refreshments were served in the dining hall, and after a half hour of social intercourse the guests departed, a special train leaving the park at 9:30 P. M., which conveyed those who reside in San Francisco and many of the Oakland people also.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

The attendance at the commencement exercises at Mills this afternoon included many of the prominent people of this city, San Francisco and other localities of the State. The avenue leading to the Seminary Park was thronged with stylish vehicles during the forenoon and up to 2 o'clock, when the commencement exercises began. Among those who witnessed the latter were leading divines, educators, professional men and a considerable number of the alumni of Mills College and Seminary and many other ladies.

In accord with the methods that now obtain in similar institutions of learning elsewhere the essays and valedictory of antique renown are not read at Mills commencement. Neither are they permitted to be known to fame through the press. But amid the archives of the library at Mills these screeds, upon which much time and thought has been expended, are carefully embalmed, possibly for the delectation of some future antiquarian. This is why the commencement exercises at Mills this afternoon partake largely of the nature of a concert and Sabbath school devotions combined.

The exercises were opened with a recitation from the Scriptures, which was followed by a hymn and then a prayer. Later on came these numbers:

Vocal solo, "Oh That We Two Were Maying" ..... Nevin
Miss Marie E. Klink.

Miss Sunshine O. Heydenfeldt.

Vocal solo, a, "A Tol" ..... Lebrun
b, "Summer Night" ..... Lassen
Miss Nora C. Allis.

Piano solo, "Barcarolle" ..... Kienzl
Miss Jessie M. Longmire.

Address .....
Rev. J. M. Dinsmore, D. D.

Vocal solo, "Polonaise" from Mignon ..... A. Thomas
Miss Gertrude L. McConnell.

Piano solo, Valse Op. 34 ..... Moszkowsky
Miss Sunshine O. Heydenfeldt.

Next came the presentation of seminary diplomas and the conferring of college degrees upon the graduates. After that the doxology and the Commencement at Mills of 1895 was at an end.

Frank Robinson, who slashed his throat with a razor a couple of weeks ago at 768 Pine street, cannot get his trunks. They are held as security for the payment of a $12 bill which Robinson's former landlady, Mrs. Wilson says represents the amount of damage done to her carpets and bedding by his blood. Robinson disputes the bill and says he left enough dishes with Mrs. Wilson to compensate her for any loss his gory deed might have caused.

A WOMAN'S RECEPTION.

A BOLD WOMAN.

She Is Accused of Being a Highway Robber.

AVA, Mo., May 28.—Sheriff Hancock, with his posse, captured the robbers who held up A. R. Turney, storekeeper at Rome, this county, one night last week, and arrived here with them last night. They were captured near Leadville, Ark. One of the bold thieves, and the one who appeared to be the leader of the gang, turned out to be a woman. Her name is Lydia Briston. There were three of them who committed the robbery, the Briston woman being dressed in men's clothing. She ordered Turney around in true highwayman style, punched him with her pistol and cursed him because he had no more money, terrorizing him until he hardly knew whether he was on foot or horseback.

Sheriff Hancock recovered $30 of the $60 taken and both of the horses and saddles. The three thieves were Ben Trott, recently released from the State Penitentiary; John Briston, brother of the girl, about 18 years of age, and Lydia Briston.

Lydia Briston is a rather comely girl, about 22 years of age, who is well known to the police and officers of Springfield, Mo., and to the citizens of this town, where she worked at one time, as a loose character and a member of the demimonde. When seen by a correspondent she refused to talk. They will be taken to West Plains, where they will be confined in jail until court meets.

THEY ARE ALARMED.

Danger Threatens the Union Between Norway and Sweden.

SUPERVISORS.

The Contra Costa Road Matter Fully Discussed.

No Action Taken on the Proposed New Route.

Night Watchman Maloon Is Retired From the Pay Roll.

The Board of Supervisors was still in session yesterday afternoon when THE TRIBUNE went to press.

A resolution was adopted providing that payment to Cotton Bros. for construction of the trestle and bulkhead for Bell Ranch bridge be paid as follows: Centerville District road, $1; General Road fund, $1; County General fund, $998.

A resolution allowing Dr. J. P. Young $50 in addition to his salary as Health Officer for June in Washington township was adopted.

Captain Roberts, Supervisor Church and County Surveyor Nusbaumer were appointed a committee to obtain right of way for a sewer from the County Infirmary to an outlet in the bay and report next Monday.

A resolution declaring the position of Night Watchman George Maloon vacant at the Hall of Records was adopted, Messrs. Johnson and Talcott voting no.

The hearing of the protest against granting a saloon license to Frank L. Miller at Fitchburg was continued until next Monday at 2 P. M. on motion of Supervisor Church.

CONTRA COSTA ROAD.

E. C. Sessions appeared with Messrs. D. C. Brown and W. V. Whicher as a committee from the Good Roads Association in behalf especially of opening the road between this city and Contra Costa county. Mr. Sessions said that nothing could be gained by postponing the matter further. As to the route it seemed that any single road or route would not meet all the requirements. It is apparent that there is a big country in Contra Costa county which should be tributary to Oakland. A speedy construction of at least one road to Contra Costa is what the association desire to urge upon the Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Johnson asked if the Good Roads Association had approved any particular route.

Mr. Sessions—No, it has not. We were particularly instructed to not approve either proposed route. The association does not believe itself prepared to decide upon a route.

Mr. Jones of Contra Costa county said he had lived there since the spring of '47. In times past he had hard work getting from his place into Oakland, and felt that the merchants of Oakland ought to do something to facilitate trade and intercourse. What is now wanted is the building of a road from Oakland to Walnut Creek, which is about the geographical center of Contra Costa. It will be an advantage to Contra Costa county, but of far greater advantage to the business men of Oakland.

Mr. Jones thought that the tunnel road could be constructed and be operated with safety. He offered to sell 100 acres of land at $100 an acre and give one-half of it to the construction of the road if others would come up and help.

Supervisor Church said that his opposition to the tunnel route was first, the cost of construction, and second, the cost of maintenance thereafter.

Mr. Jones said the people of his neighborhood wanted a good road—a road that a man might lead a few calves over in a spring wagon and not get mired down.

Mr. Griffin said that the people of Contra Costa want the tunnel road and no other route. He read extracts from newspapers, in which other routes were denounced as "jobs," in the interest of individuals.

The report of the Joint Committee, prepared last year, was read.

W. H. Buckley of Contra Costa county then took the floor and declaimed against all other routes than by the tunnel. He said that the route by Grant's land was not desired by the people of Contra Costa county, but it was a scheme in the interest of certain landowners. If the Alameda Board of Supervisors would open the tunnel route they would leave a name behind them that would go down to posterity.

V. E. Camron of Contra Costa county stated that he had talked with many of his neighbors who had all expressed their preference for the tunnel road.

L. N. Hager, as a member of the Good Roads Committee, stated he had no opinion as to the routes proposed, but as an individual, he would advance some ideas. He had been up on the hill and believed a better location for a tunnel than the Kennedy tunnel could be found about 600 yards north of the latter. After some other remarks, Mr. Hager said the people of Contra Costa wanted the tunnel road. A road by Moraga valley would not be traveled extensively.

M. J. Keller was called upon and stated that this road matter had frequently come up before organizations with which he was associated. If the tunnel road was of importance twenty years ago, it is of more importance now. It is one of the greatest outlets from this city. It may be too expensive to now build the bridge and tunnel road. It is the best road, but if this cannot be had, some other direct road should be had. The Supervisors would please their constituents if they should appropriate money to at once construct a good road between Oakland and Contra Costa county.

J. O. Miner said that he was very much interested in the road, as he used it to bring his produce to this town. The first thing to do would be to adopt some of the suggestions made by the joint committee last fall. If a tunnel cannot be made, do some little thing of a practical nature. A little gravel on the present road would have saved the speaker $800 this spring. Yesterday's shower had softened the road and the speaker's two teams had to be laid up today, so that a loss of $10 was entailed.

L. W. Kennedy said that Mr. Jones had voiced the demands of the age. To go on the "two-bit" plan is behind the age. A good road, with a bridge across Temescal creek—a road that any kind of a vehicle can pass over—is what is wanted.

J. L. Lyon said that the citizens of this county are united upon this question of a good road to Contra Costa county. It is not a question of expense, but a question of a good road.

Wilbur Walker, secretary of the Joint Committee appointed a year ago, explained why that committee was appointed and the work of the committee.

E. C. Sessions said that he thought the people of this county would approve of issuing bonds to the extent of $250,000 to make good roads—one to be a direct line to Contra Costa county another to be a road from Oakland to the east line of this county, with a branch to Livermore valley. These should be good roads—not graveled roads, but modern roads.

The board adjourned to Monday, June 3d, after declining to authorize another survey of a proposed road to connect the Williams survey with the Thorne Hill road.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured!

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

What Will They Do?

What will the dry goods men do when France's latest suggestion of ladies' dress goes into effect? The dress reformers of France advocate the wearing of tights for ladies as a street costume and modestly suggest that black and brown should first be worn until the custom becomes popular and then other colors could be introduced. The dry goods men seem quite concerned, as it would affect their business to the extent of decreasing their sales of many millions of yards of dress goods every year. But what a saving to the men who pay for it. It is likewise in the patronage of the People's Express and Transfer Company. The saving of time and advantage in their promptness in all business matters, especially the checking of baggage at hotels or your home to all parts of the United States is a matter for deep consideration. Strange, but True

The child that cannot digest milk can digest Cod-liver Oil as it is prepared in Scott's Emulsion. Careful scientific tests have proven it to be more easily digested than milk, butter, or any other fat. That is the reason why puny, sickly children, and thin, emaciated and anæmic persons grow fleshy so rapidly on Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

COTTOLENE.

Cottolene

The new vegetable shortening is the most popular food product of the day. Its use means good food, good health and a goodly saving in the end. Since the introduction of Cottolene, lard has no longer place in food or kitchen.

Cottolene

serves every purpose of lard, and serves it without grease, odor or indigestion. Those who have given Cottolene a fair trial never go back to lard. Be sure and get the genuine. Don't let any dealer palm off any of the many worthless imitations on you.

Sold in 3 and 5 pound pails by all grocers.

H. M. Van Arman Talks of the Business Outlook.

H. M. Van Arman returned yesterday from an extended business trip in the East. "I found a general stagnation in business," said Mr. Van Arman, "in Denver, Cheyenne, Omaha, Pittsburg and even in Chicago. The people in the California cities and towns should not grumble. In comparison with the cities named we have prosperity. The frosts of the month of May in six or seven Eastern States have killed nearly all the fruit and grain, and California will profit by it. An immense immigration to this State will commence this fall. Thousands of people, tired of the cold and drouth of the Middle and Western States, are looking this way and are coming."

FOR THE FOURTH

Merchants in Line for a Great Patriotic Event.

Alameda County Will Join With This City.

Local Committees Formed and Plans Are Rapidly Developing.

There is a very favorable outlook for a great celebration of the national holiday in Oakland on the Fourth of July. The project, as formulated by the Merchants' Exchange, is meeting with public approval to such an extent that it is safe to say that Oakland's demonstration this year will far surpass anything in that line that has been attempted for a long while past.

In response to a call, a large number of prominent citizens gathered last evening at the rooms of the Exchange to discuss plans for the demonstration. Among those in attendance were: D. C. Brown, Webb N. Pearce, George L. Fish, Major Sherman, P. M. Fisher, W. V. Witcher, F. Sinclair, P. J. Keller, G. W. Fisher, R. J. Williams, A. W. Bishop, H. P. Arlett, G. B. Daniels, J. L. Mayon, J. J. White, J. J. Allen, L. Lawton, George F. Neece, James Travers, H. Gard, F. J. Edwards, M. Jonas, R. Crist, R. Franke, C. R. Root, H. C. Trowbridge, A. H. Rott, H. C. Conrad, George E. Fairchild, Theo. Gier, J. L. Lyon, A. B. Tennant, H. Hershberg, George W. Arper, Dr. J. P. Dunn, Dan Crowley, G. W. Fisher, A. Jacobs, N. Schneider.

A. B. Tennant was elected assistant secretary of the Fourth of July Committee.

A press committee, composed of Theo. Gier, M. Jonas and George E. Fairchild, was chosen.

The Clerks' Association promised support in a movement for the general closing of all business houses on the holiday.

A committee, consisting of P. M. Fisher, George W. Arper and H. C. Trowbridge, was appointed to secure support from the City Council and the Board of Supervisors.

Messrs. J. J. White, E. A. Sherman and Webb N. Pearce were appointed a committee to interview Generals Dimond and Warfield with regard to allowing the militia in this county to parade in Oakland.

Major E. A. Sherman, A. W. Bishop and J. L. Lyon will confer with the naval command out at Mare Island to secure a detail of men and equipment for a float to picture the famous ship "Constitution."

Mrs. Charles Webb Howard and Mrs. Weatherbee were added to the committee.

Addresses were made by P. M. Fisher, Dr. J. L. Mayon, James Travers, A. W. Bishop, M. Jonas, Judge J. J. Allen, C. R. Root, Chief Lawton, Webb N. Pearce, J. L. Lyon and George L. Fish.

Daily meetings of the Fourth of July Committee will be held at the Exchange and all the members are requested to attend as matters of importance will constantly arise.

Celebration of Pentecost.

Pentecost will be celebrated at the Jewish Synagogue tomorrow with special services, which will be conducted by Rabbi Friedlander. The confirmation of Eva Magnes, Rose Samson, Herbert Samuels, Sam Jacobs, Sigmund Scharman, Isaac Wolfe, Marnie Cohen and Gussie Samuels will be celebrated.

THE TEST.

Bassett's Move Is Successful.

Sunday Closing Matter Is Postponed.

The City Attorney to Draw Up an Ordinance.

Much Routine Business Passed at the City Council Meeting.

An adjourned meeting of the City Council was held last night, at which all the members were present.

The auditorium was well filled, although by no means packed notwithstanding that it was known the Sunday saloon closing ordinance would come up presumably on passage to print.

Those however, who expected such a move were disappointed because of the adoption of a resolution introduced by Councilman Mott directing the City Attorney to draft an ordinance submitting to the people the question of closing the saloons all the time or merely from midnight Saturday to 5 A. M. Monday.

As soon as the roll had been called, Councilman Mott obtained the floor and offered a resolution directing the City Attorney to draft an ordinance calling a special election for the purpose of submitting to the people the following questions:

Shall saloons in which liquors are sold to be drunk on the premises be closed the entire time? Or Shall the saloons be closed at 12 o'clock Saturday night and remain closed till 5 o'clock Monday morning?

Mr. Mott moved that the rules be suspended and the motion be adopted.

Councilman Dow said that this measure had been introduced so as to have a vote taken on the resolution before one could be taken on the ordinance on the Sunday closing recommended by the committee. He did not want to be said to be put on record as being opposed to any measure proposing to submit the question to the people. But, the ordinance on the subject ought to be taken up first.

Mr. Bassett said that he supposed the Council would eventually come to the ordinance in the course of business, and, if the resolution should be adopted the ordinance could be laid over pending the settlement of the case.

Mr. Buckland said that not $1 of the city's funds could be used for the purpose of defraying the expenses of a special election on the topic. The charter makes no provision for such an election. If such an election should be ordered the Council at any time, could order a special election on any subject, even to determine the color of whitewash that ought to be placed on the City Hall.

Mr. Dow moved as a substitute that the Council take up the ordinance on the Sunday closing recommended by the Committee on Ordinance and Judiciary.

The motion was seconded by Councilman Marshall.

A vote was taken on Mr. Dow's substitute and the proposition was lost by the following vote:

Ayes — Buckland, Dow, Heitmann, Marshall—4.

Nays—Bassett, Brosnahan, Capell, Mott, Towle, Watkinson, Manuel—7.

Mr. Dow then secured the floor and said that it seemed unadvisable to call an election until it had been shown that such an election could be called legally. The question as to whether a special election such as was contemplated would be legal had been asked of the City Attorney and that official had replied that such an election could not be called legally. The Council ought not to pass a delusive ordinance and the Council has several such ordinances before it now. One of those delusive ordinances he said is that of Mr. Bassett, prohibiting the charging of fare on the local lines between stations in this city. That ordinance means nothing. Mr. Dow wanted to know where the money for a special election was to come from. If the ordinance calling a special election is illegal why seek to call an election? All the notions of the Council in the premises would be illegal. He had found only one attorney who said that such an election could be held and that was the attorney who represented the liquor interests. When that attorney was asked for an opinion he had none to give save that it might be done because Alameda, Napa and other places had voted on the proposition. How did the Council know that Alameda, Napa and other places in which this question had been voted on have not something in their respective charters which authorize them to vote on the subject. There is no such provision in Oakland's charter. How could a special election be called unless the Board of Public Works agreed that such an election is legal and ordered the use of the booths of the city for the purpose of holding it. If people flocked to the polls who could prevent them from voting unless they occasioned a disturbance of the peace. At the present time he felt the Council had no right to pass on the question. He believed it is the duty of members of the Council to legislate for the best interests of the city. When he came to his seat in the Council he felt that he should not vote on any question with reference to any future election or preferment but solely with reference to the best interests of the city. If this resolution is adopted the Council will take a false step and will be in the same position in which it was some time ago.

City Attorney Peirsol referring to Mr. Dow's synopsis of his views on the subject said that he (Mr. Dow) did not hear all of his (Peirsol's) opinion on the subject. He claimed that Mr. Dow's synopsis was right as far as it went. But he (Mr. Peirsol) had said that he knew of no law providing for such an election and he also knew of no law to prevent the holding of such an election. It might be under the head of the general welfare of the community. He knew of no law invalidating such an election if the Council should call it. He knew of nothing the courts would interfere. When it came to the payment of expenses though there would be serious difficulty perhaps met in the Auditor's office.

Mr. Dow said that that was the way in which he understood Mr. Peirsol to express himself. But, said the Councilman from the Seventh, to say that there is no law against the election means nothing. Simply because there is no law preventing is from imprisoning the Governor means nothing. The Council can only pass such laws as are authorized by the charter and the general law, but the Legislature can pass any law that is not in conflict with the Constitution. To say there is no law against this proposition is no argument. He wanted to know how a special election could be held without money.

Mr. Heitmann raised the point of order that the ordinance could come up only under suspension of the rules and such a motion had not been made. Such a motion however had been made in connection with Mr. Mott's proposition.

The president held that the point was well taken.

Mr. Marshall moved that Mr. Mott's resolution lay over till the next meeting of the Council until the opinion of the City Attorney could be procured on the subject.

Mr. Towle said he did not think the matter ought to be laid over. To lay it over would not be for the best interests of the city of Oakland. He had ascertained that the sentiment of many of the best people in this city favored the submission of the question to the people. He regretted that he is not able to determine what is for the best interests of Oakland. Personally if he had his way, he would have the saloons closed up all the time. The way the question stands now the sentiment of the people is divided. If the people who are here in favor of closing the saloons on Sunday will go out among leading people, bankers and business men, they will find there is a diversion of sentiment. He saw no reason why they should not adopt the resolution. Let the City Attorney draw up an ordinance calling for the special election and make it legal. If a legal ordinance cannot be drawn on the subject he would be willing to vote in favor of the ordinance.

Mr. Marshall said that is why he wanted the matter laid over for a week.

A vote was taken on the suspension of the rules. Mr. Mott's motion and the vote was as follows:

Ayes—Bassett, Brosnahan, Buckland, Dow, Heitmann, Mott, Towle, Watkinson, Manuel—9.

Nays—Capell, Marshall—2.

The rules were suspended and then Mr. Mott's resolution was adopted by a vote of 10 to 1, the only vote in the negative being that of Capell. In casting his vote for the resolution Mr. Dow said he did so because he was not especially opposed to submitting the question to the people, and because if the City Attorney could not draft a legal ordinance on the subject, the Council would then have a chance to pass the ordinance on the question of saloon closing.

Later in the evening, the Sunday closing ordinance recommended by the committee as a substitute for that introduced one week ago providing that the ordinance shall go into effect ninety-five days after passage was referred to the Ordinance and Judiciary Committee from which it had come pending the presentation of an ordinance as suggested by Mott's resolution.

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS.

The following petitions and communications were disposed of:

From the Chief of Police showing the cost of feeding prisoners. Filed.

From the City Engineer that the street railway tracks on East Twelfth between Thirteenth and Fifteenth avenues are at grade. Street Committee.

From the Mayor returning the ordinance passed May 20, 1895, respecting municipal licenses with the suggestion that it was defective in that the sections where it proposed to repeal had not been referred to in full. Ordinance and Judiciary.

From Mrs. Annie Brannon complaining that she has no money with which to build a sidewalk at the corner of Third and Webster streets. Street Committee.

From W. M. Gillespie for a sewer on East Twentieth street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues. Granted.

From the Board of Public Works, referring back to the Council the demand of J. W. Morgan for $85 60 on the ground that the Board would find no authority to approve of said demand. Auditing and Finance.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were disposed of:

Referring to the Fire and Police Commissioners, the resolution of the Board of Library Trustees, requesting the Council to prevent the annoyance occasioned patrons of the library by the nightly meetings held in front of the City Hall.

Appropriating $20 for the remuneration of witnesses on whose testimony conviction was secured in liquor cases. Indefinitely laid over on motion of Mr. Mott.

Authorizing the Board of Public Works to lease a room adjoining the Sixth Street Engine House at a monthly rental of $10. Adopted.

Adopting voluminous plans and specifications for the East Side sewer.

Authorizing the Board of Public Works to report to the Council within sixty days, as follows:

First—What provision should be made in the tax levy for the purpose of establishing local parks in the First, Second and Third wards?

Second—For the improvement of Independence Square?

Third—For the erection of an engine house?

Fourth—A list of public improvements in the order of their importance. Adopted.

From the residents in the Twenty-third avenue district, protesting against the granting of liquor licenses in that district east of Nineteenth avenue and within the city limits. License Committee.

Ordering the narrowing of Lake Shore avenue at a cost not to exceed $12. Adopted.

Rescinding a resolution authorizing the Board of Public Works to employ an additional clerk for the office of the Street Superintendent. It was claimed by Mr. Mott that there is no work for the clerk to do.

Mr. Towle said that there was a majority of the members of the Board of Public Works present, and he would like to have them speak on the subject.

Mr. Peirsol said that he did not think that the matter of rescinding had come up before the Board of Public Works.

On motion of Mr. Towle the resolution was referred to the Board of Public Works.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Liquor licenses were granted as follows: F. Ohe, C. J. McBride, 473 Tenth street; P. Cavanaugh, 573 B street; John Xavier, 1551 Broadway; Thomas Hain & C. Davis, 469 Eleventh street; C. Fleckner & F. Kroman, 853 Webster street; Frank Smith, 1620 Seventh street.

ORDINANCES, SECOND READING.

The ordinance amending the present bicycle ordinance was indefinitely postponed.

The ordinance creating the office of night watchman in the City Hall at a salary of $85 per month and requiring the appointee to work from 7 P. M. to 7 A. M. was passed to print, the only negative vote being that of Mr. Bassett, whose motion that the ordinance be referred to the City Attorney to determine as to whether the Council has power to create such an office, was lost. Mr. Bassett declared he could find no such authority in the books.

The ordinance creating the office of City Hall janitor, the incumbent to be on duty daily from 7 A. M. to 7 P. M. was also passed to print. As it came from the committee it exempted the janitor from duty on Sundays and legal holidays but was amended by the Council as above referred to. Mr. Bassett wanted the ordinance referred to the City Attorney for the purpose of having its legality settled, but the Council did not adopt his views in the premises. His vote was the only one in the negative on the question of passing to print.

Apportioning to various funds the revenue of the city other than that from taxes. Passed to print.

ORDINANCES, FINAL PASSAGE.

The following ordinances were passed:

Opening Brush street to the estuary.

Requiring telegraph and telephone companies to number their poles in a consecutive manner.

Directing the Board of Public Works to obtain proposals for public printing.

Changing the grade of East Fifteenth street between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenue.

Appropriating $538 20 for the printing and binding of ordinances.

CHINESE BOMBS.

To the Honorable the City Council of the City of Oakland—GENTLEMEN: As our National holiday is near at hand and the rights and privileges of our citizens to promenade the streets unmolested on that day will again be disputed unless the present law be amended.

Hundreds of our citizens have heretofore witnessed in the business portion of this city on and about the fourth day of each July the willful throwing of large Chinese bombs under passing horses and children and about the clothing of women traversing the streets, oftentimes doing injury and setting fire to their clothes. I respectfully suggest that the enclosed ordinance be passed in ample time to prevent a re-occurrence of this shameful practice long in vogue on the third, fourth and fifth days of July.

Respectfully,
J. L. DAVIE, Mayor.

The ordinance referred to was referred to the Ordinance and Judiciary Committee.

RAILROAD FARES.

Bassett's Ordinance Regulating Them Passed to Print.

At the request of Dow who said he had to attend the meeting of another organization the Bassett ordinance prohibiting the collection of fares on steam roads between stations within the city limits, which was introduced at the last meeting of the Council, was brought up for consideration. The ordinance provides a penalty of $100 for every violation or imprisonment for one day for every $2 of the fine.

After the ordinance had been read Mr. Towle moved that it be passed to print.

Mr. Dow said that he would vote for the passage of the ordinance to print because he believes the ordinance means nothing. He did not believe in passing delusive ordinances, and the ordinance in question is a delusive ordinance. After the last meeting of the Council a citizen had approached the speaker and said "My friend Bassett is getting in good work. We are going to have free trains on Seventh street." Mr. Dow said that he had told that citizen that Mr. Bassett's ordinance referred to meant nothing of the kind. He did not want to be held blameable for the passage of an ordinance that means nothing.

Mr. Bassett said he would hold Mr. Dow entirely blameless for anything that might result from the passage of the ordinance.

A vote was taken. While it was in progress Mr. Heitmann said, when his name was called, that he reserved the right to change his vote to the negative.

The motion to pass to print, based on the recommendation of the Judiciary Committee and Towle's motion, was carried unanimously.

Mr. Manuel, in casting his vote, said the ordinance is political buncombe. A city ordinance cannot override a State law.

Mr. Towle remarked ironically that he was glad so important a part of the Council as Mr. Bassett would hold Mr. Dow and him blameless for any of the results of the passing of the ordinance disposed.

Mr. Bassett said he was just as much of the Council as was Mr. Towle.

OUTSTANDING BONDS.

The Mayor's Suggestions as Regards Their Payment.

The following message was read from the Mayor:

"Your attention is respectively called to these facts regarding this city's outstanding bonds soon to mature,

"In the year 1882, there were, among other city bonds outstanding, funded debt bonds of 1870, $67,000 drawing 10 per cent interest, school bond redemption bonds of 1874, $100 000 drawing interest at 8 per cent.

"Under chapter 6, title 3, part 21 of the Political Code of the State of California, these bonds were refunded in September 1882 by an issue of 5 per cent.

"In the chapter under which this issue was made it was explicitly provided that when there should be $1000 in an established bond redemption fund a bond should be called and interest cease thereon.

"It was further required in this chapter that a tax should be levied sufficient to raise 20 per cent of $3,100 in 1887 and 10 per cent of $53,800 in 1890. In the year 1891 bonds amounting to $27,000 were redeemed and that is all that has been done in the matter of the redemption of these bonds which mature by limitation October 1st of this year.

"The reports of the City Auditor show that it has not been through ignorance of the facts but by a willful disregard of the law as well as of his reports by the [illegible] of our city that the remaining $[illegible] of those bonds have not been provided for by tax levy.

"An election was held on September 29, 1891 when the question of refunding the $110,000 bonds was submitted and defeated. Except for the act of the last Legislature enabling the Council by a four-fifths vote of all its members to refund bonded indebtedness our city would have been obliged to default in the payment of the $110,000 from October 1st to December 1st and a tax levy would have been necessarily imposed for the whole amount in the next fiscal year.

"This act of the Legislature, approved March 21, 1895, is to be found on page 23 of the Statutes of 1895, and is entitled 'An Act to amend section 1 of an act approved March 1, 1883 entitled an act to authorize Councils, Boards of Trustees or other governing body of any incorporated city or town other than those of the first class to refund its indebtedness and issue bonds therefor, and provide for the payment of the same,' as amended March 1, 1893."

I respectfully urge that the matter be given your immediate attention so that no default may occur, by refunding up the outstanding bonds to be redeemed within their date of expiration.

J. L. DAVIE, Mayor.

IN STATE.

Gresham's Body Is Honored.

Many Official Tokens of Deep Grief.

Mourning on All Sides Over the Dead Statesman.

The Obsequies Will Be Held Tomorrow in Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The remains of Secretary of State Gresham have been embalmed.

The funeral arrangements are dependent upon the wishes of Mrs. Gresham, and owing to the depression and grief following the death of her husband, the details as to the place and time of the interment have been left until late in the day.

The present purposes of the friends of the family are to have the funeral train leave Washington tomorrow.

A special train will be provided, one car to bear the remains and another for Mrs. Gresham and the immediate relatives.

These arrangements, however, are subject to such changes as Mrs. Gresham may desire.

Otto Gresham, son of the Secretary, arrived at 6:30 o'clock this morning by special train from Harrisburg. He was met at the station by Assistant Postmaster-General Jones, a near personal friend of the family. He joined his mother at the Arlington and they were given such privacy as was possible.

Mrs. Gresham is broken in spirits and body by the affliction and her constant vigils up to the moment of her husband's death. Her daughter, Mrs. Andrews, and another relative, Mrs. Captain Fuller, were with her constantly last night.

The body has been laid out in the sleeping room where the death occurred.

A metallic coffin is to be covered with black cloth with heavy oxidized silver handles, and the usual plate for the name and circumstance of birth and death.

Most of the prominent men in public life called at the hotel early in the day to leave cards.

Floods of telegrams and cablegrams of condolence came in during the morning. It is the present intention of the family, as communicated to personal friends, to have Secretary Gresham buried in Chicago. A brief funeral service will be held in Washington tomorrow before the special train leaves the city.

All the member of the Cabinet in the city—Secretary Carlisle being absent—called at the Arlington early today, and most of the ladies of the Cabinet circle also were admitted to the family apartments of the late Secretary.

Secretary and Mrs. Lamont were at the hotel a long time.

The State Department is technically closed today, admission being denied to all visitors, although employes were kept in waiting to assist in the discharge of formalities attending upon the notification to foreign powers of the nation's loss.

Acting Secretary Uhl prepared a draft of the formal note to be sent to representatives of foreign nations accredited to Washington and also for transmission to United States representatives abroad, conveying the news of Secretary Gresham's death.

The President accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland came to the White House at 10:30 o'clock and was immediately waited on by Acting Secretary Uhl. Official orders were prepared, closing the Executive Department on the day appointed for the funeral.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Secretary Gresham will be conducted in the east room of the White House tomorrow at 10 o'clock. All the executive departments will be closed on that day under Executive order.

The body will lie in state all the morning, and leave Washington for Chicago at 1 P. M.

The President and all the members of the Cabinet will accompany the remains to their last resting place. Secretaries Herbert, Carlisle, Lamont, Smith, Morton, Attorney General Olney and Postmaster General Wilson will act as honorary pall-bearers.

Bishop Hurst of the Methodist Episcopal Church will conduct the funeral services at the White House. All the troops and the marines in the city will escort the body to the funeral train, the procession forming about noon.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland called at the Arlington at 11 o'clock to see the members of Secretary Gresham's family and tender sympathy. They drove over from the White House in an open carriage with no attendants but the driver on the box.

Attorney General Olney and Secretaries Lamont and Herbert arrived about the same time to confer about the arrangements for the funeral. President and Mrs. Cleveland were in the Gresham apartments half an hour. It was decided at noon that the remains of the dead Secretary lie in State at the Executive Mansion tomorrow.

The casket will be taken from the Arlington Hotel at 9 A. M. and will be placed in the large east room.

It will remain there until its departure for Chicago tomorrow night.

Sir Julian Pauncefote, British Ambassador, as head of the Diplomatic Corps, has addressed a letter to all the Ambassadors, Ministers and heads of Foreign Representatives, asking them to assemble at the British Embassy at 5 P. M. today, to take appropriate action on the death of Secretary Gresham.

GRESHAM'S MOTHER NOTIFIED.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., May 28.—About 8 o'clock last night a telegram was received in this city from the Secretary of War, Daniel Lamont, stating that Secretary Gresham could not survive the night, and requesting that his mother, Mrs. Sarah Rumley, who lives at Lanesville, Harrison county, be notified. Messengers reached the old homestead about 10 o'clock. Before they could speak, Mrs. Rumley moaned—"Walt is dead, my poor boy is dead," wringing her hands and weeping bitterly. Messengers informed her of the critical illness of her son, and thus afforded her slight comfort. Upon receiving the news of the Secretary's death, another messenger was dispatched to Lanesville.

THE NEWS IN ILLINOIS.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 28.—Both Houses of the Legislature today unanimously adopted resolutions deploring the death of Secretary Gresham, adding that his life has taught young manhood American possibilities, which lie in the path of pluck, ambition, determination and honesty, and that in his death the cause of free government has lost one of its ablest champions and the State of Illinois one of its noblest citizens.

SYMPATHY IN LONDON.

LONDON, May 28.—News of the death of the Secretary of State of the United States, was received with every mark of sympathy at the United States Embassy and the British Foreign Office.

Most of the newspapers today print the news without editorial comment. The St. James Gazette, however, says: "Mr. Gresham endeavored to preserve friendly relations with all foreign countries, especially England, and his wise statesmanship upon more than one occasion offended spread-eaglism of Yankee politicians."

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The President today issued the following proclamation:

"Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State of the United States, is dead. The President, in making this distressing announcement to his fellow countrymen, speaks from the depths of personal affliction to remind them that they too have lost a pure and able public servant, wise and patriotic guardian of all their rights and interests, manly and loyal American and generous and loveable man. As a suitable expression of the national bereavement, I direct that diplomatic representatives of the United States in all foreign countries display the flag over their embassies and legations at half mast for ten days.

"That for a like period the flag of the United States be displayed at half-mast at all forts and military posts and at all naval stations and on all vessels of the United States. I further order that on the day of the funeral the executive departments in the city of Washington be closed, and that on all public buildings throughout the United States the national flag be displayed at half-mast.

POLICY.

Republicans Will Show One.

Sherman Gives Some Good Pointers.

Strong Speech Made at the Ohio Convention.

The Democratic Tariff Law Has Been a Complete Failure.

ZANESVILLE, O., May 28.—The Republican State Convention was called to order at 4 P. M. by Colonel Joseph C. Bonner, chairman of the State Committee.

Colonel Bonner reviewed the last two State campaigns at some length and then introduced Senator Sherman as temporary chairman, who spoke in favor of the protective tariff and against the free coinage of silver at the old ratio; but in favor of bi-metallic currency based on international agreement in accordance with the market values of gold and silver. Mr. Sherman said:

"Gentlemen of the Convention:—I thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me in selecting me to preside over this convention. You have met to designate the next Governor of the State of Ohio. You have a good many candidates before you, but each of them is worthy of the highest honor you can confer. You have the assurance that whoever you may nominate will have the hearty support of all the candidates and of each member of the convention. You have also to select several of the chief executive officers of this State. I need not impress upon you the importance of selecting those who will honestly and faithfully perform the duties assigned them. You have a still higher duty, to announce the principles and policy of the Republican party in the State of Ohio and in the United States. What you will say here will have an important influence beyond the limits of your State, for the intelligent action of the Republicans of Ohio will, as in the past, indicate the opinions of Republicans in all parts of the United States.

"We have a common faith and creed. We act together on great matters of principle, on small matters for discipline. The primary and fundamental sentiments of the Republican party is love for our country, our whole country. We are for the Union, one and indivisible, now and forever. The Republicans of Ohio are not provincial, but national.

This is our cornerstone, planted in the first Republican convention in Ohio in 1855. We stood by it in the storms of the war when Lincoln was our standard bearer. Our soldiers fought for it under Grant, Sherman and Sheridan. The soldiers of Ohio carried our flag in every great battle of the war for the preservation of the Union. Other patriotic citizens and soldiers were equally deserving of honor and praise, but they could not carry their party with them. When Grant was in the Wilderness and Sherman was before Atlanta a great party declared the war a failure. Ours made it a success. When the war was over we did not treat our enemies as conquered subjects, but as erring brothers. We invited them back into the Union, with unabridged powers, prescribing only one condition—that there should be no slaves in our country. We now meet them and greet them as friends and, turning our back on dead issues, we congratulate them on their prosperity, which they did not and could not have in their condition prior to the war.

When the war was over the Republican party developed its civil policy. First of all it declared its purpose to pay every debt or obligation contracted during or since the war, that the public faith should be unblemished. This promise has been performed. In spite of the temptation and the shrieks of Populists, we have discharged every obligation contracted during the war and especially the highest and most sacred debt to the surviving soldiers of the war, their widows and orphans. The pension roll is a roll of honor, higher in amount than any pension roll ever before provided by any nation. While the Republican party is in power, it will only be diminished by the death of pensioners, a fate that awaits us all.

"We are in favor of a protective tariff. We had such a tariff. While it was in force we had prosperity, good times and money plenty. We had no diversified our domestic industries that American labor and American capital supplied nearly all the wants of the American people. We prefer to tax foreign production rather than our own. We believe that the policy of protection should be extended to all productions impartially, to labor on the farm as well as in the workshop. We are opposed to the Democratic policy of protecting woolen manufacturers and admitting wool free of duty. We denounce a scheme of taxation which annually increases the public debt more than $50,000,000. This is the result of Democratic ascendancy. The tariff law of the last Congress is partly a copy of the McKinley law, and generally a failure. All that is good of it was taken from the McKinley tariff and the rest of it is confessedly a hotch potch. The Supreme Court has already disposed of part of it. All the productions of the South from peanuts to whisky are carefully protected, while the duties on the great staple industries of the North are largely reduced, and on some articles like wool are entirely repealed. We demand a reform in the tariff, not to promote sectional interests, but to secure ample revenue and impartial protection to domestic industry. This we can have only by the election of a Republican President. We want a change, and for this change we will have the hearty support of a large portion of the Democratic party.

"We are in favor of a sound national currency, always redeemable in coin. All forms of money should be of equal purchasing power. For fourteen years after the resumption of specie payments, while the Republican party was in power, we had such a currency. We had gold, silver and paper money, all bearing the stamp and sanction of the United States, of unquestioned credit and of equal value, passing current not only within the United States, but in all parts of the commercial world.

"Both gold and silver are indispensible for use in the varied wants of mankind. Gold is now, and has been for many ages the chief measure of value in international commerce and the larger transactions of domestic exchanges. Silver, from its bulk and weight, is not available for large payments either at home or abroad, but it is indispensible for the minor wants of mankind. Gold, from its greatly superior value, cannot be utilized for such purposes. Therefore it is that both metals have been coined into money at fixed ratio. The enormous increase of the production of silver in the United States, Mexico and Australia, has disturbed this ratio and has lowered the market value of silver precisely as a like increase of production has lowered the price of other commodities. It is a universal law that price or value is measured by quantity. Under these conditions the rational and proper course would be a change of ratio; but this can only be effected as to these two metals by a concert of action among commercial nations. Until this can be accomplished the only logical way is for each nation to coin both metals and maintain the coinage of the cheaper metal at par by limitation of amount and redemption when in excess of the demand for it. Such is now the policy of the United States and of every great commercial nation, including every country in Europe. Other nations adopt the silver standard alone, not from choice but from poverty. I believe that the policy of the United States adopted in 1853, of coining fractional silver coins in limited quantities from silver bullion purchased at the market price and making them legal tender for small sums, is the only way to preserve the parity of gold and silver coins at a fixed ratio. This is properly called bimetallic money. I hope and believe that the common interest of commercial nations will lead them, through an International Commission, to either adopt a ratio based on market value of the metals or to coin them and maintain them, as we do, at their present ratio.

"The policy now urged by the producers of silver and by men who wish to pay their debts in cheaper money than they promised to pay, is the free coinage of silver. This means the single standard of silver and the demonetization of gold. This is the only monometallic system. It is the degradation of our dollar to fifty cents. If applied to our national bonds it is a repudiation of one half of the public. It is the repudiation of one-half of all debts. It confers no favors on producers of any kind, whether of the farm, the workshop or the mine, for if they get nominally more dollars for their productions their additional dollar would have only one-half the purchasing power of the gold dollars. The great hardship of this policy would fall upon workingmen, skilled or unskilled, whose daily wage, measured by the present standard, is higher than in any country of the world. Their wages will purchase more of the necessities of life than the wages paid for similar labor anywhere outside of the United States. It is a false pretense that the cheapening of money will be beneficial to them. The Republican party in its national platform of 1892 demanded good money of equal purchasing power, whether coined of silver or gold, or composed of United States notes or national bank notes, based on the credit of the United States, maintained at par with coin. This is the bimetallic policy. There we stand today. I hope and trust there we will stand forever. We will seek the co-operation of all nations and of all parties in maintaining the parity of gold and silver coins. If they will not co-operate with us in this policy, the Republican party can and I hope, will do it alone. Good money and plenty of it is as important to all our people as equality of rights and privileges.

"Let us then, with a firm reliance upon the principles, policy and wisdom of the great party to which we belong, nominate our candidate and declare our platform, and then make our appeal to the intelligence of the people of Ohio. In all the great issues made in the last forty years, the Republican party of Ohio has had the courage to propose and to do what is right. Let us now follow in the same pathway, and we will not only elect a Republican Governor and State officers, but also another Republican Senator and I hope a President of the United States from the State of Ohio."

On arrival of delegations from central and southern Ohio this afternoon, it was evident that a factional contest would fight it out on Bushnell or Nash for Governor. All other candidates including Hoyt concede they have no chance until it is demonstrated that neither Bushnell or Nash can be nominated.

Ex-Governor Foraker marched up the street at the head of the Union county delegation this afternoon, after which the Bushnell boom was the feature of the day. Meantime additional delegations arrived for Nash and a contest of every point was made in the district meetings at 2 P. M.

THE DEAL IN WHEAT.

A Report Made That the Crop in Several States Will Be Small.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Wheat had a wild opening today and within five minutes from the time of the bell was selling 2 cents higher than the price at which it closed yesterday. Inside another five minutes it had lost 1½ of the gain.

The news was all of a bullish character.

Yesterday's low barometer in the northwest had resulted only in a light shower here and there and the cold wave was being followed by what promised to be a scorching hot one. Perhaps the most bullish piece of news, however, was the report of King & Co. of Toledo, who summarized advices over 4000 correspondents in the wheat belt by saying the indications were that in six principal wheat producing States not more than half the average crop could be raised, involving a reduction of 100,000 bushels in the crop aggregate for the year.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Eugene V. Debs, president of the A. R. U., called on United States Marshal Arnold today and announced that in view of the decision of the United States Supreme Court denying him a writ of habeas corpus, he was ready to resume serving out his sentence in the jail at Wheaton.

The Marshal said he had not received the mandate of the court for Debs re-incarceration and did not expect it inside of a week. Debs contemplates a trip to North Dakota and gave a schedule of his intinerary.

MANY LAWYERS.

All Interested in the Contest to Boogar's Will.

Could Not Agree on a Plan of Action.

The Legal Skirmish Finally Continued to Monday.

Judge Greene held a seance this morning with the aid of numerous lawyers over the matter of the contest of the will of Philip Boogar.

Executors P. F. Benson and E. M. Patterson, M. D., had no voice, personally in the proceedings. But for the proponents there appeared Attorneys M. C. Chapman, J. D. Sullivan, A. A. Moore and J. C. Martin. In behalf of Mrs. Catharine Boogar as contestant there were George W. Reed, Emil Nusbaumer and George A. Knight. For Mrs. Louise Whittemore, another contestant, there were Denis Spencer of Napa and J. H. Smith, while for the absent heirs W. H. Thompson was present.

A vast deal of talk was indulged in over the proper manner in which to proceed. The proponent had not asked for a jury. Contestant Whittemore filed a demand for a jury. Contestant Mrs. Boogar had not demanded a jury trial, but after discussion Attorneys Knight and Nusbaumer decided to stand with Mrs. Whittemore's counsel and have a jury.

But here in steps the proponents, and argued that as Mrs. Boogar's attorneys had not demanded a jury within the specified time, they were not entitled to one.

Added to this, Mr. Moore argued that as both contestants had not joined in the demand for a jury, such demand had been practically waived.

The judge intimated that one contest could be heard by the court, and the judgment held until after the other contest had been heard by and submitted to a jury.

Denis Spencer wanted to postpone the whole matter, adding sotto voce as he sat down: "If we can put this off for a week, the lawyers can get together and divide up the estate among themselves."

Judge Greene asked counsel to read section 187 Civil Code, which provides that "if the course of proceeding be not specifically pointed out by this code or the statute, any suitable process or mode of proceeding may be adopted which may appear most conformable to the spirit of this code."

Then the attorneys and the judge took another turn at the questions of a jury or no jury until finally the entire matter got into such a muddle that at the suggestion of Denis Spencer the contest was continued until next Monday, the rights of all parties to be reserved as if the contest were heard and determined at this time.

Then the army of attorneys went to lunch.

SOME FINE FEES.

What Florence Hinckley Will Have to Pay Her Lawyers.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Mrs. Florence Blythe-Hinckley has placed a lien upon the Blythe estate to secure the payment of the fees of some of her attorneys.

Six years ago Florence's grandfather agreed to pay 8 per cent of the whole estate recovered to Garber, Boalt & Bishop, this firm to pay W. W. Foote 2½ per cent.

Florence ratified this agreement when she attained her majority.

Garber, Boalt & Bishop advanced her $14,000 and Foote lent her $3000 while the case was pending. Garber, Boalt & Bishop will now receive $320,000 and Foote $100,000.

FROM HAWAII.

Melody That Will Delight Oaklanders Next Friday Night.

The first opportunity that has ever been presented to the citizens of Oakland to hear the music of Hawaii by native islanders will be given next Friday evening at the First Congregational Church.

The Royal Hawaiian Band of forty pieces, which will give a concert at that time in this city, has for the second time in its existence visited the United States. Not for twelve years has this famous organization left its home on the Pacific, and the treat will be doubly enjoyed because of its rarity.

The band ranks with the famous ones of the world and it can not only discourse the music of the native Hawaiian, but it is fully accomplished in the music of all nations. The concert will be one that will attract great attention, as the organization has already made a reputation that places it on a footing with the bands of the world.

One of the attractive features of the programme will be the performance upon several native instruments, in striking contrast to the modern brass and wind creations of the civilized world.

The programme will be of such a varied character that it will appeal to the tastes of all classes. The concert cannot but fail to prove a very decided musical success.

The Boilers Exploded After the Vessel Struck the Rocks.

CADIZ, May 28.—The French steamer Dom Pedro, bound for Carrillo, Spain, has been wrecked off Currubedo.

Eighty were drowned.

The disaster was caused by the bursting of the boiler.

When the disaster occurred the Dom Pedro was off Cape Corrubadoon, West Coast of Galicia, and not off Forrubede, as first reported.

About 100 lives were lost. The Dom Pedro was a 8000 ton steamer and was engaged in running between Havre and Argentine Republic, calling at Bordeaux, France, and carried freight and passengers. The latter were mostly emigrants bound for the Argentine Republic or other points in South America.

On her return trips the Dom Pedro was generally loaded with frozen meat. She left Havre May 20th with a crew of forty-nine all told, and eighty passengers.

At Carril the steamer was to have embarked with 200 additional passengers, but on the way to that port she ran on a rock at 6:40 P. M. off Cape Corrubedo, on the west coast of Gallica. The boilers exploded, the vessel foundering immediately afterwards.

It is now stated that only the captain and twenty-nine of the crew were saved, and such would indicate that all the passengers were either killed by the explosion or drowned when the vessel went down.

CRADLE SONGS.

The Benefit for the Women's Exchange Tonight.

Music From the Nurseries of the Nations of the World.

The benefit which will be given this evening at the Macdonough Theater in behalf of the Woman's Exchange promises to be a splendid success. The programme is delightfully unique and will be very thoroughly enjoyed. The participants are in excellent trim for the production, and everything should move very smoothly.

It is seldom that such a variety is offered the public, as the programme would indicate. The songs of the cradle of the nations of the world have been chosen and the vocal rendition will be heightened by elaborate scenic effects, depicting the peculiar charm of the home of each nationality. From the American Indian papoose to the black-eyed Spanish babe the lullaby that its mother sings it to rest by will be rendered.

The orchestra will be composed entirely of young ladies who are well trained and will prove an additional feature of the production.

The vocalists are Miss Lucie Byler, Miss Grace Carroll, Miss Louise Dangler, Mrs. Carrie Brown-Dexter, Miss Margie Gaskell, Miss Dorothy Goodsell, Miss Virginia Goodsell, Miss Grace Kesur, Madame Fleissner-Lewis, Miss Madeline McKisick, Miss Mary Alverta Morse, Miss Mary Sullivan, Madame Eva Tenny, Mr. Harry Melvin (as new woman,) nurses, etc.

The orchestra is: First Violin—Miss M. Beckhusen, Miss Hus, Miss Moore, Miss Winifred Morgan, Miss Brady, Miss Grace Hibbard.

Second Violin—Miss Jennie Doane, Miss Edelon, Miss G. Longee.

Viola—Miss M. Barrington.

Cellos—Miss Barrington, Miss Leo Beckhuson.

EAST SIDE SEWER.

New Plans Are Now Ready for Inspection.

The City Council is about to call for bids for the construction of the sewer on the east side of Lake Merritt which was made the subject of considerable litigation in the Superior Court two years ago, and was finally declared illegal.

City Engineer Wilson has submitted estimates and plans of the proposed work which is figured to cost $41,000. The plans are now on exhibition at the office of the City Clerk. Proposals will probably be invited for the work within a short time.

The sewer will tap a large territory east of Lake Merritt and will have an outlet at First avenue and East Eleventh street. The legal objections sustained regarding the former plans and contract have been overcome.

ANOTHER REPRIEVE.

Thomas St. Clair Has Good Reason to Be Overjoyed.

SAN JOSE, May 28.—Thomas St. Clair, condemned to hang Friday for the bark Hesper murder, was taken from the jail here this morning and placed on board the train bound for San Quentin to be executed.

A reprieve came after he left the jail. By a rapid drive Sheriff Dondon caught the train as it was moving off. The message was delivered to United States Marshal Harris and St. Clair was put off at Santa Clara and brought from there at 12:40 o'clock.

The length of the reprieve is not known here, as only the bare fact was stated by United States Marshal Baldwin. This is St. Clair's fifth reprieve. He is overjoyed.

The U. S. Gov't Reports show Royal Baking Powder

WHEN YOU FEEL LANGUID, dull and heavy, it's your liver that's at fault. A sluggish, torpid liver deranges your stomach and kidneys and bowels. It poisons your blood. You feel it "all over."

The best-known remedy in the world is Carlsbad. People go there, not only for a disordered liver, but for all the diseases that follow it, and for jaundice and chronic liver complaint, and every ailment of the kind.

There's no need for you to go. You get precisely the same treatment in the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt (the water solidified at the Spring) or in the imported waters. In catarrh of the stomach, dyspepsia, habitual constipation, diabetes, or any gouty or rheumatic affection, they have been a specific for hundreds of years.

Take only the genuine imported article, with the signature of "EISNER & MENDELSON CO., Sole Agents, New York," and the seal of the city of Carlsbad on every bottle.

TO PUT OUT FIRES.

Fred A. Campbell in Line For a Good Position.

Fred A. Campbell, the well-known insurance man is slated for the position of Chief Engineer of the Oakland Fire Department. He will probably receive the appointment. Campbell is backed for the place by the underwriters of this city to a man. His petition has been signed by all the leading agents and by many of the business men of Oakland.

NEW RECEIVER.

Transfer of Railroad Property Is Ordered.

The Conditions Imposed by the Circuit Judge.

Interest Must Be Paid on the Bonds When Due.

ST. PAUL, May 28.—The Oregon Short and Utah Northern Railway, or such portion of that system as lies within the jurisdiction of the Eighth Circuit United States Court, will be made over by the receivers of the Union Pacific to J. M. Egan, the receiver named by Judge Gilbert of the Ninth Circuit some time ago.

The transfer will be made with some limitations and conditions named by Judge Sanborn today when the order was handed down.

The court orders the transfer of property from receivers of the Union Pacific to the receiver appointed by Judge Gilbert on the payment by the American Loan and Trust Company of the interest on first mortgage bonds, which became due February 1, 1895, and the interest on that interest with a provision that the receiver shall pay all subsequent interest maturing on the first mortgage bonds as the same becomes due, and if he fails, shall immediately surrender possession of property to the present receivers.

Judge Sanborn declines to make any provision in the order other than that contained in Judge Gilbert's order with reference to the issuance of receivers' certificates.

The amount of interest due February 1st was $447,000.

Similar applications will be made in San Francisco and Portland for portions of the road in other circuits.

TWO ESCAPE.

Progress of the Cases Against the Druggists.

Convictions for Selling Liquor Not Likely to Result.

The cases of the Oakland druggists who are charged with violating the license ordinance governing the sale of spirituous liquors, came up in the Police Court this morning. Those on trial were Druggists Trowbridge, Flint, Herzer, Reilly, Huntington, Hyde, Bowman, Seifert, Diebert and Garrett. Of these, Seifert and Diebert were dismissed, there being insufficient evidence to convict.

Attorney Victor Metcalf conducted the defense. The witness for the prosecution was I. A. Jarvis, who exhibited bottles of whisky and Holland gin, purporting to have been bought from the stores of the defendants.

He testified as to the dates on which he had purchased the liquor and the firms that had sold it, from memoranda that he had made on the bottles at the time they came into his possession. As to reward for his action he testified that he had heard that a witness helping to convict would be given a commission.

At noon the cases were continued over to Monday morning. It is not expected that conviction will be obtained.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

Charles Leland and a Girl Companion Arrested.

Charles Leland, a waiter in the New York restaurant on Seventh street, near Broadway, was arrested this afternoon with Laura A. Neece, a young woman, on warrants charging them with adultery. The warrants were issued from San Francisco.

The California Midwinter Fair confirmed the World's Fair award by giving Dr. Price's Baking Powder highest honors and Gold Medal.

PACKING YOUR TRUNK.

A Few Things a Summer Pilgrim Can't Get Along Without.

Make a list of the things you think you ought to take on your summer holiday trip and you will be startled at the result. You wonder if you will have to hire a special baggage car. Now, strike out every article not imperatively necessary and you will find that a trunk of modest size will answer every purpose even of a long trip.

Travelers in making up their lists of indispensables should not forget that a change of drinking water after the heat and fatigue of a journey is likely to make them sick. To remedy this evil, or what is better, to prevent it, the pilgrim takes a supply of that sound and wholesome stimulant, Duffy's Malt Whiskey. A little of this whiskey in the water not merely kills the germs that would make mischief in the stomach and bowels, but it tends directly and strongly to revive a nervous system exhausted by long continued mental application, pressing anxiety or physical labor.

Make room in your gripsack for a bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and use it when you are worn out with the heat—for there are fearful days even in the country. Re-invigorate your sluggish body with this prince of stimulants and in the sense of strength and well-being that follows you will be glad that in making up your list of absolutely needful things you did not overlook Duffy's Malt Whiskey.

LAID TO REST.

Funeral of the Little Son of Fred Becker.

The funeral services over the remains of little Grover Becker, the 10-year-old son of Fred Becker, the well known market man, were very largely attended yesterday at the residence of the bereaved parents, 667 Fifth street. Many friends were present to express their sympathy for the relatives of the boy, whose untimely taking off was so sad a blow.

The services were simple, yet very affecting. The interment was in Mountain View cemetery. The funeral cortege was one of the largest ever held in this city.

SAVES THE EYES. SAVES THE GAS

THE

—MOREY—

INCANDESCENT GAS BURNER

It Has Revolutionized Gas Lighting!

Only Sixty Days on the Market and yet the Sale is Enormous.

No parts burn out. The mantels, screens, prisms, used in other burners, are not used in the Morey Burner at all; therefore no parts to repair. The Cheapest Burner used, giving the greatest amount of light for the smallest amount of gas consumed.

The secret of its scintillating brilliancy is perfect combustion, not one iota going to waste—every atom of gas being consumed.

No ghastly, greenish white light, but a natural, mellow, golden sunlight, soothing to the eyes and radiant with power.

The Morey Gas Burner is the best results of long years of study, discovery and invention; and is based solely upon scientific principles. THE HIGHEST POWER OF GAS LIES IN THE BURNER EMPLOYED. The secret of the Morey Burner is the combustion secured.

You may ask why does the Morey Burner give so much more light for the same amount of gas consumed. Our answer is this, gas when burning through an ordinary gas jet, mixes quickly with the air and passes off, not giving time for the light to take up from the air all the oxygen necessary for its proper combustion, therefore it passes off and is wasted. But in the Morey Burner it passes through a perforated circle of 76 small needle-pointed perforations, and the current of air passing on all sides of the blaze supplies sufficient air for the light to take up all the oxygen necessary for its proper combustion, therefore no WASTE OF GAS, NO BLUE BLASE; all turned to light.

As soon as we fix up our offices will use them altogether in each of the departments.

Please have one of your representatives call on us about the 15th of May.

High School Graduates Receive Their Diplomas.

Interesting Address by David Starr Jordan.

Some Sound Advice Given to the Scholars Last Night.

The Class of May, '95 of the Oakland High school graduated last night beneath the motto, "Wisdom Is Better Than Rubies," and surrounded by the class flower, forget-me-not. Twenty girls and fourteen boys, with that motto and that flower, proclaim the triumphal march of the "new woman." The two-thirds majority possessed by the girls enabled them to choose their significant motto.

The graduates filed upon the stage a little after 8 o'clock. William B. King then played the "Queen of Sheba" march on the organ.

After a few remarks by Principal McChesney, reminiscent of his twenty-six years in the position, President Jordan of Stanford University was introduced. He addressed the class on "The Rights of Culture." He said:

"Those boys and girls about to graduate are not yet ready for the work of their lives. If they should begin their chosen work now, skipping the four or seven years' further preparation in the university and the professional school, they would be like the boy that goes to work at 3 o'clock in the morning and gets sleepy at noon, letting his rival, who slept till 7 o'clock, outstrip him in the day's work. A man or a woman should continue their preparation until they are 25 years of age, if they would do the best work.

"A hundred years ago people were talking much of the rights of man. About that time it was found that the common people of the world had the power within themselves to rise up and overcome the unjust tyranny of classes above them. They brought about a vertical instead of a horizontal cleavage of society. They destroyed the old class divisions and classified men according to their work or professions.

"But it was found that the rights thus obtained could not be guaranteed. Many in the pursuit of what they mistook for happiness, abused these rights, and it came to be recognized that people could only enjoy those rights that they had the power to take. A man had the right to read, but he could not take it if he was illiterate.

"Culture, however, brings with it rights that are invaluable. It gives the power to know the best thoughts of the world, to know the way to get at the truth, to enjoy philosophy, poetry, and science. In short, all knowledge is transformable into power. The power to do is the right of a person of culture.

"Following this line of thought we find that all power brings with it duty. There is no such thing as culture for culture's sake, or right for right's sake; each involves, by a law of nature, an imperative duty. Notwithstanding that this fact causes some men to see, in our modern society, an illogical development; the general trend of everything nowadays is toward the light. Especially is this to be believed when we look into faces like those of these young graduates, that are turned forward.

"Emerson has said that money invested in a university is better placed for future good than any other investment could be. The university fits men to be true men; true in the sense that they know their professions scientifically—they know the law from its beginnings, and medicine and other professions in the same way.

"A higher education does not fit a man to get through life with more ease than a man not possessing such preparation. On the contrary it involves more work, more duties, because it gives more knowledge, which is power. Therefore, do not send a boy to college, but let the boy who wishes it go of his own account.

"The greatest men are those who know the strength and weakness of the common people, and who appeal to their better natures. Such was Lincoln. He was not like the hypocritical politician of today. He saw and successfully appealed to the strength of the people."

Following President Jordan's address, J. W. Evans, president of the Board of Education, presented the diplomas to the following graduates:

Edna Ackerman, Edward C. Aikins, Bertha Boas, Fred C. Borden, Ro. ., Maude Church, Irene N. Clarke, Alexander Cook, Minnie Bell Dow, Susan Frances Edelen, Susan Frances Ellesworth, Henry Gale Foote, Prentice Sherman Gardner, Isabelle S. THE New York Sun has a way of making a good point in a few words, as it does in these lines: "Those European authors who write about the degeneracy of the human race give convincing proof that they are not intimate with the 65,000,000 men and women who constitute the population of the United States. The most vigorous generation of mankind which ever inhabited this country is the generation which now lives in it; and if we may judge from the books and sports of the young folks, the next full-grown generation of Americans will be more vigorous yet."

GENERAL GOMEZ, the military chief of the Cuban insurgents, has predicted that within two years Cuba, as a republic, will take her place among the free governments of the New World. What San Domingo did may not be impossible in Cuba. If the latter should once establish republican institutions the next move would be for annexation to the United States. At any rate, the agitation for that result would be sure to follow. It is pretty well known that overtures have been made for the transfer of Cuba to this country. But Spain has always refused to part with the "ever faithful isle." But if Cuba effects the parting, there might be a new aspect of the question. If General Gomez is alive at this date, he might do well to hurry up his republic.

THE Republicans in Ohio are having a warm time. Sturdy old John Sherman always puts in an appearance at the State conventions, and does a full day's work. McKinley will, of course, have the usual booming for President. He is the one political leader who generally gets there. Harrison's friends are also busy. But Harrison will have enough to do to take care of Indiana, which is a doubtful State, politically. Harrison has been to New York to have his portrait painted. That is the first move on the political chess board. As Ohio has come to be regarded as the pivotal State for the Republicans, a convention there assumes an importance that a Republican convention would not have in any other State.

AND so Debs goes to jail for six months. The Circuit Court having final jurisdiction passed the original sentence, which the Supreme Court does not undertake to review. But incidentally it enumerates a new settled principle that the Government of the United States is supreme on every foot of soil within its boundaries. It has passed the Interstate Commerce act and there is no corporation, however powerful, and no individual, however humble, who can lawfully set up any opposing authority. Debs will probably be heard from in jail. It is a very light penalty for his attempt to nullify Federal law. It is not probable that Debs will ever again figure in the same role as a disturbing leader.

THE new treaty between Nicaragua and Honduras is an indication of a possible confederation. The recent invasion of Nicaragua by the British has probably furnished an additional motive for bringing these republics into closer alliance. The old confederation may not be revived in just that form, but a sense of weakness and the need of mutual protection may bring these few small republics into a closer union. The curse of these small States has been the revolutions brought about, or attempted by military chieftains. Mexico was once afflicted in the same way. But the Mexican States are now apparently firmly bound together. Why may not as much be hoped for these Central American republics.

Suspicion of Old Masters.

The "Art Amateur" states that Robaut's descriptive catalogue of the works of Corot will soon be given to the world. Then there will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Every genuine Corot will be noted in this official list. Now as there are any number of spurious Corots in the United States, there will be a drop in values where this publication appears. The "old masters" lift up their heads here until some expert tells the story about their true rating. Corot's works are easily imitated. He painted in a large way, massing details, and depending largely on tones and a peculiar harmony of blending. When an "old master" does not appear in the official catalogue the picture may be safely set down as a [illegible].

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Prof. W. T. Wenzell,

Of the College of Pharmacy of the State University, after actual analyses made by him, pronounces "the ROYAL BAKING POWDER the strongest and purest baking powder before the public."

The ROYAL BAKING POWDER destroys the dyspeptic qualities of hot food.

The Old Order and the New.

A few years ago Kalakaua was reigning in the Hawaiian Islands, Honolulu was the very paradise of irresponsible adventurers. No matter how worthless and how corrupt they were, once introduced to that dissolute sovereign, they found him a boon companion. He welcomed them as his particular friends. Some of them shared in the administration of public affairs. Those were days of rioting and all manner of excesses. A worthless element was drawn to the islands. They had a good time while this rotten ruler lived. His successor was of the same tainted blood. The same characters found favor with her.

Now that she has ceased to reign her parasites are no longer in clover. Two-thirds of all the lies and libels that are sent out from the islands are concocted by this worthless gang. They are sighing for the return of the old order of things. They hate Dole and his cabinet because they are superior men who know every scalawag that has ever been plotting and planning for the overthrow of the present Government. There is no place for the bummer and the fraud. His vocation is gone for the present. Dole is too respectable. His administration is too clean. The measure of any one of these fellows has been taken. A few of them are foreigners, but the greater number are nominally Americans, or men without a country. They would be parasites anywhere, and more especially so at the islands if only they could find sufficient encouragement. They tell their tale of woe, and occasionally find a newspaper that publishes their stories. The Call has probably published more of the stuff written by these parasites than any other paper in the State.

There is always a crisis when those fellows manage to get the ear of the public. There was no crisis when Kalakaua was bankrupting the country and engaging in a series of orgies with his boon companions so utterly vile that they cannot be described. Everything was lovely for these fellows then. These were the "good times" that this class of reprobates are now hoping will return. All that is needed is the breaking down of the Dole administration and the setting up of another native ruler, who in time would be as rotten as that of the dethroned Queen or Kalakaua, who beat the record of all the early heathen rulers who ever reigned in Hawaii.

Every clean and upright man who loves order and decency is offensive to these parasites. They are sighing for the return of "native innocence," when the "hula" afforded them so much beastly gratification. Some who are a shade better want a change, because any overturning would bring to them new opportunities for gain. These are the ones who are constantly predicting that the Dole administration cannot last because it is not popular. It never was popular with adventurers and irresponsible bohemians. It is well sometimes to look at the true inwardness of the characters who revile the Hawaiian Republic. They are a job lot. There is nothing for them as long as the present order is maintained but the obscure corner where a waiting attitude can be maintained for something to turn up. The present affliction is that there is so little prospect of a change.

"Things sweet to taste prove in digestion sour," sang Shakespeare. He foresaw effects of food not made digestible by Price's Cream Baking Powder.

When I Meet My Youth Again.

Some time—I know not how or when—
This weary road I journey on
Will lead thro' lands that I have known,
And I shall meet my youth again.
Thro' some old wood my childhood knew
The road, at length, will bring to view
A cottage in a lowly glen,
Where I shall meet my youth again.

And yet the lad of whom I dream
May know me not, for I shall be
To him a deep'ning mystery
Of things that are and things that seem;
From these old scars of time and toil
His heart, albeit, may recoil,
As children's often do from men,
When I shall meet my youth again.

But he shall know me at the last,
And creep into my arms and weep
As I shall lull his lids to sleep
With stories of the changes past
And ere the morning breaks upon
Us twain our souls shall be as one
And time shall breathe a soft "amen"
When I shall meet my youth again.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Everybody who can assist in the observance of Memorial Day should do so. The celebration of that patriotic holiday should be participated in by every American who honors the memory of the men who fought and died for the Union.

The Salt Lake convention of silver boomers has resolved to raise $250,000 a month "to carry on an aggressive campaign of education" in behalf of free coinage. The most liberal condition of this arrangement is an implied understanding that persons who desire to make their contributions in gold will not be debarred from so doing. That is a rather broad concession.—New York Tribune.

Ex-President Benjamin Harrison left Indianapolis for the East Tuesday afternoon. At Newark, N. J., he will receive a medal from the New Jersey Historical Society. From there he will go to New York to stay at the Fifth Avenue Hotel for two weeks. While in New York he will sit for a portrait by Eastman Johnson, to be hung in the White House with the other pictures of Presidents.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The Gentlewoman gives currency to this remarkable story: "Here is a story of an extraordinary kind, which shows that truth is stranger than fiction. Some sixty years ago the cashier of a Liverpool merchant had received a Bank of England note, which he held up to the light to make sure it was genuine. He then saw some very indistinct red marks of words traced on the front of the note and on the margin, and he, from curiosity, tried to decipher them. At length he made out the following sentence: 'If this note should fall into the hands of John Dean of Longhill, near Carlisle, he will learn thereby that his brother is languishing a prisoner in Algiers.' Mr. Dean, on being shown the note, lost no time in asking the Government of the day for assistance and accomplished the freedom of his brother on payment of a ransom to the Bey. The unfortunate prisoner had been a slave for eleven years and had traced, with a piece of wood for a pen and his own blood for ink, the message on the bank note in the faint hope of its being seen sooner or later."

A prominent business man from Colorado says that State was never so prosperous as now. He estimates the year's yield of gold at twenty millions and the silver yield at fifteen millions, and says that the cattle and sheep raising industries have been especially remunerative. This probably accounts for the renewal of the efforts of silver boomers to keep that State in line for inflation.

It is a well recognized fact that a boat is more easily moved in a wide than in a contracted waterway. Anyone who has traveled canals and rivers in a steam launch knows that while the speed of seven or eight miles an hour is easily maintained, yet on a narrow canal, with the same pressure of steam, the speed falls off to half this.

OVER THE DEAD CENTER.

A New York Incident of the Financial Squeeze of 1893.

Holland's Letter in the Philadelphia Press.

As the season of stress and storm which began in '93 is passing away, the financiers who were in peril at that time are beginning to exchange confidences, and these anecdotes show how great the peril was, and how often it happened that great business and financial houses stood on the verge of a precipice leaning over, and were only saved by mutual forbearance, kindness and the stretching of business customs to meet the unusual emergency.

I heard of one of these anecdotes a day or two ago. Right at the height of the panic of '93, a financier and a great power in the world of trade, whose name is known all over this country and Europe, went to a friend and said: "I am so near ruin as this, that while I have millions in securities, I have scarcely a thousand dollars in cash, and must have $25,000 today or I am done for."

He had thrown himself languidly into a chair, as though almost ready to give up the battle. He knew well enough what the announcement of his failure meant for the commercial world. It probably would have pulled down a score or more of important institutions, and very likely would have precipitated general disaster. He had been everywhere with securities in his pocket valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars, pronounced good then, but he was told in every place, "Your securities are good, but we cannot lend money now." His position was like that of the castaway upon the ocean with "water, water everywhere, nor any drop to drink." His securities at their normal value were probably worth as much as $10,000,000, perhaps more, but it was impossible for him to borrow $10 upon them.

The friend to whom he went knew as well as he what his failure involved; knew that he was worth at least ten millions in securities, although he could not command the $25,000 which stood between him and the protesting of his paper.

The friend said: "Well, I'll try to help you. What collateral have you got?" He took from his pocket securities which before the panic would have commanded easily $50,000, and said: "I can offer these."

"They are good," said the friend; "nothing better. Let me see what I can do."

He went out to a financial institution, of which he had long been a customer, and he said to the officers: "I want to borrow $25,000 on this collateral, which is worth $50,000. I will guarantee the paper, provided I have recourse to the collateral in case it is not paid."

"But," said the bank officers, "we can't lend that. The collateral is good enough; but we can't even lend on Government bonds. Nobody is lending; everybody is trying to borrow."

"Well," said the friend, "then I will submit a proposition to you. If you will lend the money on this collateral it will earn 6 per cent for you. If you will not lend it, then I will draw my own check upon this concern for $25,000, and I will keep the collateral myself. Now, it is for you to say whether for the $25,000 that you've got to part with you will take security and 6 per cent interest or whether you will pay it out and get nothing for it, which you must do if I check it out."

Of course the officers, confronted with such an alternative, could only decide to loan the money, and it was the biggest loan that was made that day or perhaps for several days before or afterward—at least, the biggest new loan.

The friend went back to the capitalist and said: "The $25,000 is at your command." When the capitalist heard this he became a new man. All the energy characteristic of him returned. Said he "This will carry me over the dead center, for I am satisfied that before any of my obligations mature it will be possible to borrow money on such securities as I possess," and that proved to be the case.

The capitalist is now one of the conspicuous influences inducing a return of prosperity. He is esteemed to be worth not far from twenty millions, and he can borrow upon his securities millions of money with perfect ease. He does not like to think of the day in '93 when $25,000 stood between him and ruin.

COSTLY MATERIAL FOR A NEST.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

A ten-dollar bill, which had mysteriously disappeared, was recovered by Assistant Coin Teller Phil Turpin of the Sub-Treasury in a peculiar manner. He has a beautiful farm out on Cuff creek, near the Little Miami river. In that section birds fairly abound. One evening in the beginning of May Mr. Turpin was getting ready to attend a soiree at his next neighbor's in Newtown, about two miles distant. The weather, it will be remembered, at that time was unusually warm, and he left the windows of his room open.

Mr. Turpin had taken his money, among which was a ten-dollar bill, and laid it on a center table, intending to put it in a pocket of his other trousers. The room is at the corner of the house, and has windows on both sides.

He stationed himself at one of the windows and commenced to shave. The birds were singing outside and flying about the house and through the open windows, joyful, no doubt, at the advent of spring, while others were busy in trees building nests. It was luxury to shave amid such surroundings, but when Mr. Turpin finished he looked sleeker than ever. After washing he prepared to don his Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes. After he arranged his necktie to give the best effect he went to the centre table and began picking up his money, but was not a little surprised to find a ten-dollar bill missing. He thought that the wind might have blown it on the floor, and he began looking there for it.

After a long time spent in vain, he gave up the search there. He then went out into the yard, and began hunting among the flowers and grass for it, thinking that it might have been blown through the open window, but he had to go to that soiree minus a $10 note.

Day before yesterday the severe wind storm blew a robin's nest out of a tree near the front porch. Mr. Turpin picked the nest up, and was about to cast it away when he noticed what seemed to be a piece of paper of peculiar color. He examined it, and found it to be currency of some denomination, but it was not until he had carefully torn the nest apart that he discovered it to be a $10 bill. It was apparently the one he had lost a couple of weeks ago, a bird having flown into the room and snatched up the money. The bill was in pretty bad condition, and he redeemed it at the Treasury yesterday.

ALUM.

Used to "Clarify" Foul Water.

Oakland "Waterbacks" Destroyed.

Corrosive Quality of Contra Costa Water.

Pipes and Flues Choked and Ruined by the Mineral.

There has been one or two complaints—mild enough, but complaints, nevertheless, concerning the water supply of the Oakland Water Company.

The pressure is so great at times that it has been found necessary to tighten the pipe joints.

It is safe to say that no similar criticism has ever been made concerning the Contra Costa supply.

A gravity pressure seldom disturbs the pipe joints.

It is fortunate for the expense account of the Contra Costa Company that they distribute their water under a weak pressure.

If it were measurably as heavy as that to which the pipes of the Oakland Company are constantly subjected the rust-eaten, loose-riveted stovepipe of the Contra Costa system would burst like a dynamite bomb.

It would not be safe or profitable to inject an Oakland Water Company's pressure into a Contra Costa system.

Consumers of the Oakland Water Company's supply should report immediately all loose joints, so that they may be tightened, for it is an imperative necessity that this water should be distributed absolutely pure.

It is pumped directly from the wells at Alvarado to the houses in Oakland.

It is intended that it shall not come in contact with the air at any point.

It must not be contaminated by bacteria in transit.

The tightening of loose pipe joints caused by high pressure is therefore a sanitary precaution.

ALKALI AND ALUM.

Such a complaint, however, does not compare with the complaint now universal against the Contra Costa supply that the alkali in the water is eating out the waterbacks of furnaces, ranges and stoves.

The alkali of this Contra Costa water is also largely impregnated with alum.

Alum is not only a destroyer of water backs on which it crystallizes, but it is also a destroyer of human beings in whose system it congulates, hardening like pebbles in a Contra Costa tributary.

Many tons of alum are dumped into the Contra Costa reservoirs to "clarify" the water.

Alum is the basic principle of the Hyer filter in use by the Contra Costa Company.

It is thought that an unusual amount of alum in this water is the cause of the death of the fish that are being harvested this season at Lake Chabot.

Thousands of those fish float on the surface of the lake and pile up along the shores, infecting the air and poisoning the water.

A party camping near Lake Chabot was compelled to move recently to avoid the unbearable odor of this decaying fish.

The clarifying of the water with alum does not purify it, however, and taken into the human system it is most deleterious.

The use of alum as an adulteration of water should be prohibited as its use in bread is prohibited.

COSTLY WATER.

During all the years that the Contra Costa was a monopoly this destructive element was at work.

It played havoc with the tubing of boilers and it choked the pipes of every kitchen in Oakland.

It is safe to assert that the use of Contra Costa water has cost as much in repairs of water backs and flues as the present price of water in Oakland.

There is probably not a water back in this city ten years old that is not practically useless.

Those that have been subjected to the corroding effect of Contra Costa water with its lime and alkali and alum for five years are also in bad condition.

The Contra Costa Company, with characteristic effrontery, are at present endeavoring to make capital by claiming that certain water backs which they have placed on exhibition have been choked by alkali from the Alvarado wells.

This is, of course, is absurd.

RUINED WATER BACKS.

The water backs in evidence are those which, for years, were filled with Contra Costa water.

They have been corroded and choked by the solid residuum which the expert analysis shows predominates in Contra Costa water.

The frantic effort of the Contra Costa people to create the impression that the water of their rival is mineral in character and full of alkali is laughable—the more so that they dare not submit their own water to the usual tests for determining the fact.

They are not afraid to misrepresent the truth, however.

They do not hesitate to use their own "awful examples" as arguments why the citizens of Oakland should not patronize the rival company.

FLUID DIPHTHERIA.

The other day a gentleman was asked by one of the Contra Costa managers to inspect a waterback that had been almost destroyed by the alkali of Contra Costa water, but which the manager, without a blush, said had been rendered useless by water from the wells at Alvarado.

The gentleman looked at the water back and then he looked at the manager.

It was a stern look.

The manager trembled from the crown of his tall hat to the soles of his Trilby feet.

He suddenly remembered that this gentleman had a serious grievance against the Contra Costa Water Company.

And he feared to hear the gentleman's reply.

"It may be as you say, sir," said the gentleman, "but I would rather lose my waterback than see my child die of diphtheria from drinking Contra Costa water."

The manager shrank abashed before the gaze of that indignant father, for he recalled the sad fact that his child had died of diphtheria.

Then the gentleman informed the manager that he was taking the Dingee water and would continue to do so.

It was free from the disease germs that swarm in the Contra Costa supply, and waterbacks or no waterbacks he did not propose to peril the health and lives of his family by resuming his patronage of the Contra Costa Company.

CONTRA COSTA FALSEHOODS.

It is not true that the water of the Oakland Company is affecting the waterbacks of this city.

It is true that the water supplied by the Contra Costa Company has ruined hundreds, perhaps thousands, of these waterbacks.

This last resort of the corporation simply emphasizes the stress of their unhappy condition.

It is an impudent assertion that the waterback of a kitchen stove is of more importance and concern than the stomach of a human being.

It is a falsehood uttered to prove that alkali is more deleterious than microbes of zymotic disease.

It is a brazen effort to prejudice the people against a water supply absolutely pure in every respect.

It is a criminal attempt to compel the people to resume their patronage of a water supply reeking with the filth of hog wallows and sewer drains—the excrement of earth vaults and the seepage of cesspools.

But the people are not such fools as the Contra Costa Company seems to imagine.

They neither believe this water-back fake, nor do they intend to be beguiled into drinking any more of the filthy sewage of Lake Chabot and Lake Temescal.

A DESPERATE CONDITION.

The Contra Costa Company will probably keep right on in its campaign of falsehood and misrepresentation, hoping against hope that Providence may interpose a miracle on their behalf.

But Providence is in better business than assisting a corporation so lost to every sense of decency, self-respect or common humanity as the Contra Costa Water Company.

The corporation is desperate.

They are losing money like water.

Where their next dividend is coming from nobody knows—not even the Family that controls the affairs of the corporation.

And that debt—that $1,600,000 debt—what will become of that?

Who will assume it?

Who will buy those bonds?

And so the Contra Costa Company goes begging—begging for patronage, begging for money to operate a losing business.

It is an experience similar to that which made miserable the existence of the Piedmont Cable Company's stockholders before the final crash.

It is the beginning of the end.

In a little while nor bonds, nor dividends, nor water backs, nor lack of patronage will worry the management of the Contra Costa Water Company.

ALASKA MINES.

Colonel McKillican Tells About His Trip.

No Place for Farming, But a Fine Country for Minerals.

Colonel Robert McKillican returned yesterday from a trip to Alaska, where in company with a number of mining men, he has been inspecting mining property at Mary's Island in Southeastern Alaska in which he is interested. The gentlemen who accompanied Colonel McKillican were Colonels A. E. Head and Thomas B. Pheby of San Francisco, and Frank Thurman, a well known mining expert of Mexico.

The party had a very enjoyable three weeks' trip. The voyage north by sea from San Francisco was delightful. Colonel McKillican was especially favored by King Neptune, for he was one of the few aboard the staunch Umatilla who were not touched by attacks, more or less pronounced, of seasickness.

Colonel McKillican returns with an excellent impression of the country. Its mineral resources, he believes, are rich and varied and he sees a great future for Uncle Sam's most northern possession as a wealth-producing territory.

"For purposes of agriculture," said Colonel McKillican, in speaking of his trip, "I do not see anything ahead for Alaska. Even in the southeastern portion of the territory, the ground is covered with a mossy growth, in many places two feet deep. Of timber there is a good quantity. Certainly there is ample for all home purposes, but I do not think it will ever become an export product. For mining use there is an abundant supply. The country is full of mineral. Gold, silver, lead, coal and iron abound. I do not think the ledges are as rich as our California deposits, but they are much larger in extent.

"In the mining districts that we visited the workings are very satisfactory, and I consider that there are very fair prospects for future developments. The mines in southern Alaska can be worked all the year around. The season is shorter as one gets to the north into the interior, especially along the Yukon river. Gold, silver, lead and iron are found in very satisfactory quantities. In fact the smelting ore obtained from our mines and from the country adjacent is so rich in lead that the smelting companies will pay a premium upon the ore for working it. That is to say, they will pay for the lead and a price above its worth.

"The ore is concentrated at the mine and at present must be shipped to Tacoma or Seattle for smelting. There is no reason, however, why smelting could not be done right at the mines.

"Alaska, so far as its mineral wealth is concerned, has never been prospected to amount to anything. There will be more developing done this season than ever before. Large parties have gone to Alaska this season to the mining districts of Cook's Inlet, Douglas Island, Juneau and up the Yukon. There are great prospects, in my judgment, for that country, and I am satisfied the future is bright for it.

"It is somewhat difficult to forecast with respect to an entirely new country. But there is every indication that when the current turns in the direction of the mining resources of Alaska there will be great results. We have now working at our mine eight men, and they are realizing very satisfactorily."

FOR THE BATH.

Oakland Furnishes Another Important Industry.

"Cleanliness is next to godliness," says the poet, and anything that induces either grace may be put down as a benefit to human kind. The ancients believed in bathing to such an extent that their natatoriums were palaces. Their baths were dreams of esthetic art and luxuriance. The modern nineteenth century bath may be made quite as delightful, as far as its hygeinic results are concerned, even if the bather had not the wealth of a Gould or a Vanderbilt or a Rockfeller.

There has recently been introduced here a preparation known as the Pompeian perfumed bath tonic. It is a home product, manufactured in this city, and recommended by the leading physicians in Oakland.

It is to be used in the bath, and not only is it invigorating, cleansing and refreshing, but it is a tonic for the system. It softens and perfumes the water and gives a mellow and delicious fragrance that highly intensifies the enjoyment of the bath.

The California Bath Tonic Company, which is manufacturing this delightful preparation, has established its factory at 717 and 719 Second street in this city, notwithstanding that liberal inducements were offered to the corporation to go to San Francisco. The factory is being operated night and day to supply the demand. The preparation has been thoroughly tested and receives the highest indorsement not only of physicians, but of the leading society people who have established it in their households.

It gives such general satisfaction that the manufacturers have found that the demand is taxing their capacity already. The Pompeian Bath Tonic is a blessing in disguise. It furnishes those of moderate means with an opportunity to enjoy the charm of a delightful and delicious bath at a merely trifling expense.

MILLS COLLEGE.

The Closing Exercises at the Popular Institution.

The Concert Last Night Was a Great Success.

A Very Fine Showing Was Made in the Various Departments.

The pleasures and duties of commencement week at Mills College and Seminary have been engrossing the attention of students and instructors at that widely known institution of learning up to today.

Sunday last the baccalaureate sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Scudder; last night the closing concert of the term was given; the annual meeting of the board of trustees was held at 10 A. M. today, and this afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the commencement exercises of the class of 1895 began.

The romantically environed seminary never presented a more pleasing aspect than now. The institution has more than held its own the past year despite the prevalent period of depression, and the phenomenal energy and aptitude of Mrs. Mills were never more apparent in presiding over the institution which bears her name.

Baccalaureate sermons are often viewed as perfunctory incidents in college life, but that of Rev. Dr. Scudder before the students at Mills last Sunday was of special brilliancy, notable for its deep undertone of feeling, its rare elegance of diction and, most of all, for its strength and fervor and impressiveness, all of which seemed to be felt by the young women auditors.

THE CLOSING CONCERT.

There was a large and delighted audience in attendance last night on the occasion of the closing concert at Mills. There were unoccupied seats in the concert room, and it was a gathering of refined and cultured people that assembled to listen to the efforts of dainty maidens, whose vocal and instrumental music won responsive plaudits.

Many of the guests arrived early by train over the California Railway, while others reached Seminary Park in their private equipages. Everything, as is usual on such occasions at Mills, was found in perfect harmony and order for the event. The various parlors, reception rooms and drawing rooms were tastefully decorated. The music hall had a wealth of palms, marguerites and other floral adornments, but the chief attraction of all were the bright-eyed and prettily-gowned students, who received their parents and friends with welcoming smiles and ejaculations of delight.

Adjoining the music hall the art room held treasures that engrossed a large share of attention before and after the concert. Scores of paintings, sketches and drawings by students were there displayed, and in all the history of Mills Seminary it is doubtful if an exhibit of equal merit in an artistic sense has ever been made.

THE CONCERT PROGRAMME.

The concert began at 7:45 P. M. and the programme observed was as follows:

PART I.

"Hunting Song" ..... Mendelssohn
Choral Class.

a Impromptu, b Romance } Hans Sotting
Miss Ethel Halley.

"Chanson d'amour" ..... Thome
Miss Grace Gilbert.

"Saltarello" ..... Nicodé
Miss Mabel Hewes.

Duet, "Il Desdichado" ..... Saint-Saens
Misses McConnell and Gilman.

"La Filleuse" ..... Raff
Miss Marie Robbins.

a "Lithuanian Song" ..... Chopin
b "Morning Dew" ..... Grieg
Miss Cyrania Barnard.

"Under All Tree Tops" ..... Reichel
Choral Class.

PART II.

"Allegretto" ..... Chaminade
Choral Class.

"Summer" ..... Chaminade
Miss Nina Martin.

a Papillon, b Poeme Erotique, c Au Printemps } Grieg
Miss Ada Story.

Folksongs: "Tuscan" ..... Carracciolo
"Indian" ..... Vogrich
Misses Allis and Barnard.

Kamennoi Ostrow, No. 22 ..... Rubinstein
Miss Persis Coleman.

Aria: "Queen of Sheba" ..... Gounod
Miss Mabel Gilman.

Rhapsodie, No. 2 ..... Brahms
Miss Minnie Thomes.

"May Song" ..... Hamerlick
Choral Class.

Where every number was exquisitely rendered it would be invidious to attempt to pronounce one more pleasing than another. Yet it may be noted that the choral work of Professor Rosewald's class was delightfully smooth, the voices of the singers prettily blending into one harmonious whole that evinced the most careful and perfect training and finished culture. The duet folksongs by Misses Allis and Barnard seemed to be especially appreciated by the audience, and the rich contralto of Miss Mabel Gilman won for that pleasing songstress exceedingly enthusiastic applause.

At the close of the concert refreshments were served in the dining hall, and after a half hour of social intercourse the guests departed, a special train leaving the park at 9:30 P. M., which conveyed those who reside in San Francisco and many of the Oakland people also.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

The attendance at the commencement exercises at Mills this afternoon included many of the prominent people of this city, San Francisco and other localities of the State. The avenue leading to the Seminary Park was thronged with stylish vehicles during the forenoon and up to 2 o'clock, when the commencement exercises began. Among those who witnessed the latter were leading divines, educators, professional men and a considerable number of the alumni of Mills College and Seminary and many other ladies.

In accord with the methods that now obtain in similar institutions of learning elsewhere the essays and valedictory of antique renown are not read at Mills commencement. Neither are they permitted to be known to fame through the press. But amid the archives of the library at Mills those screeds, upon which much time and thought has been expended, are carefully embalmed, possibly for the delectation of some future antiquarian. This is why the commencement exercises at Mills this afternoon partake largely of the nature of a concert and Sabbath school devotions combined.

The exercises were opened with a recitation from the Scriptures, which was followed by a hymn and then a prayer. Later on came these numbers:

Vocal solo, "Oh That We Two Were Maying" ..... Nevin
Miss Marie E. Klink.

Piano solo, "Spinning Song" ..... Wagner-Liszt
Miss Sunshine O. Heydenfeldt.

Vocal solo, a, "A Toi" ..... Lebrun
b, "Summer Night" ..... Lassen
Miss Nora C. Allis.

Piano solo, "Barcarolle" ..... Kiensl
Miss Jessie M. Longmire.

Address .....
Rev. J. M. Dinsmore, D. D.

Vocal solo, "Polonaise" from Mignon ..... A. Thomas
Miss Gertrude L. McConnell.

Piano solo, Valse Op. 34 ..... Moszkowsky
Miss Sunshine O. Heydenfeldt.

Next came the presentation of seminary diplomas and the conferring of college degrees upon the graduates. After that the doxology and the Commencement at Mills of 1895 was at an end.

SPOILED THE CARPETS.

Mrs. Wilson Claims Damages From Frank Robinson.

Frank Robinson, who slashed his throat with a razor a couple of weeks ago at 768 Pine street, cannot get his trunks. They are held as security for the payment of a $12 bill which Robinson's former landlady, Mrs. Wilson says represents the amount of damage done to her carpets and bedding by his blood. Robinson disputes the bill and says he left enough dishes with Mrs. Wilson to compensate her for any lose his gory deed might have caused.

A WOMAN'S RECEPTION.

Miss Susan B. Anthony and the Rev. Anna H. Shaw will address the Alameda county branch of the Woman's Congress on Wednesday, May 29th, at 2 P. M. at the Unitarian Church. A BOLD WOMAN.

She Is Accused of Being a Highway Robber.

AVA, Mo., May 28.—Sheriff Hancock, with his posse, captured the robbers who held up A. R. Turney, storekeeper at Rome, this county, one night last week, and arrived here with them last night. They were captured near Leadville, Ark. One of the bold thieves, and the one who appeared to be the leader of the gang, turned out to be a woman. Her name is Lydia Briston. There were three of them who committed the robbery, the Briston woman being dressed in men's clothing. She ordered Turney around in true highwayman style, punched him with her pistol and cursed him because he had no more money, terrorizing him until he hardly knew whether he was on foot or horseback.

Sheriff Hancock recovered $30 of the $60 taken and both of the horses and saddles. The three thieves were Ben Trott, recently released from the State Penitentiary; John Briston, brother of the girl, about 18 years of age, and Lydia Briston.

Lydia Briston is a rather comely girl, about 22 years of age, who is well known to the police and officers of Springfield, Mo., and to the citizens of this town, where she worked at one time, as a loose character and a member of the demimonde. When seen by a correspondent she refused to talk. They will be taken to West Plains, where they will be confined in jail until court meets.

THEY ARE ALARMED.

Danger Threatens the Union Between Norway and Sweden.

LONDON, May 28.—A dispatch to the Times from Berlin says the Frankfurter Zeitung reports that there is great anxiety in Government circles of Sweden regarding a threatened armed conflict, ending in the dissolution of the union between Norway and Sweden.

SUPERVISORS.

The Contra Costa Road Matter Fully Discussed.

No Action Taken on the Proposed New Route.

Night Watchman Maloon Is Retired From the Pay Roll.

The Board of Supervisors was still in session yesterday afternoon when THE TRIBUNE went to press.

A resolution was adopted providing that payment to Cotton Bros. for construction of the trestle and bulkhead for Bell Ranch bridge be paid as follows: Centerville District road, $1; General Road fund, $1; County General fund, $908.

A resolution allowing Dr. J. P. Young $50 in addition to his salary as Health Officer for June in Washington township was adopted.

Captain Roberts, Supervisor Church and County Surveyor Nusbaumer were appointed a committee to obtain right of way for a sewer from the County Infirmary to an outlet in the bay and report next Monday.

A resolution declaring the position of Night Watchman George Maloon vacant at the Hall of Records was adopted, Messrs. Johnson and Talcott voting no.

The hearing of the protest against granting a saloon license to Frank L. Miller at Fitchburg was continued until next Monday at 2 P. M. on motion of Supervisor Church.

CONTRA COSTA ROAD.

E. C. Sessions appeared with Messrs. D. C. Brown and W. V. Whicher as a committee from the Good Roads Association in behalf especially of opening the road between this city and Contra Costa county. Mr. Sessions said that nothing could be gained by postponing the matter further. As to the route it seemed that any single road or route would not meet all the requirements. It is apparent that there is a big country in Contra Costa county which should be tributary to Oakland. A speedy construction of at least one road to Contra Costa is what the association desire to urge upon the Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Johnson asked if the Good Roads Association had approved any particular route.

Mr. Sessions—No, it has not. We were particularly instructed to not approve either proposed route. The association does not believe itself prepared to decide upon a route.

Mr. Jones of Contra Costa county said he had lived there since the spring of '47. In times past he had hard work getting from his place into Oakland, and felt that the merchants of Oakland ought to do something to facilitate trade and intercourse. What is now wanted is the building of a road from Oakland to Walnut Creek, which is about the geographical center of Contra Costa. It will be an advantage to Contra Costa county, but of far greater advantage to the business men of Oakland.

Mr. Jones thought that the tunnel road could be constructed and be operated with safety. He offered to sell 100 acres of land at $100 an acre and give one-half of it to the construction of the road if others would come up and help.

Supervisor Church said that his opposition to the tunnel route was first, the cost of construction, and second, the cost of maintenance thereafter.

Mr. Jones said the people of his neighborhood wanted a good road—a road that a man might lead a few calves over in a spring wagon and not get mired down.

Mr. Griffin said that the people of Contra Costa want the tunnel road and no other route. He read extracts from newspapers, in which other routes were denounced as "jobs," in the interest of individuals.

The report of the Joint Committee, prepared last year, was read.

W. H. Buckley of Contra Costa county then took the floor and declaimed against all other routes than by the tunnel. He said that the route by Grant's land was not desired by the people of Contra Costa county, but it was a scheme in the interest of certain landowners. If the Alameda Board of Supervisors would open the tunnel route they would leave a name behind them that would go down to posterity.

V. E. Cannon of Contra Costa county stated that he had talked with many of his neighbors who had all expressed their preference for the tunnel road.

L. N. Hager, as a member of the Good Roads Committee, stated he had no opinion as to the routes proposed, but as an individual, he would advance some ideas. He had been up on the hill and believed a better location for a tunnel than the Kennedy tunnel could be found about 600 yards north of the latter. After some other remarks, Mr. Hager said the people of Contra Costa wanted the tunnel road. A road by Moraga valley would not be traveled extensively.

M. J. Keller was called upon and stated that this road matter had frequently come up before organizations with which he was associated. If the tunnel road was of importance twenty years ago, it is of more importance now. It is one of the greatest outlets from this city. It may be too expensive to now build the bridge and tunnel road. It is the best road, but if this cannot be had, some other direct road should be had. The Supervisors would please their constituents if they should appropriate money to at once construct a good road between Oakland and Contra Costa county.

J. O. Miner said that he was very much interested in the road, as he used it to bring his produce to this town. The first thing to do would be to adopt some of the suggestions made by the joint committee last fall. If a tunnel cannot be made, do some little thing of a practical nature. A little gravel on the present road would have saved the speaker $800 this spring. Yesterday's shower had softened the road and the speaker's two teams had to be laid up today, so that a loss of $10 was entailed.

L. W. Kennedy said that Mr. Jones had voiced the demands of the age. To go on the "two-bit" plan is behind the age. A good road, with a bridge across Temescal creek—a road that any kind of a vehicle can pass over—is what is wanted.

J. L. Lyon said that the citizens of this county are united upon this question of a good road to Contra Costa county. It is not a question of expense, but a question of a good road.

Wilbur Walker, secretary of the Joint Committee appointed a year ago, explained why that committee was appointed and the work of the committee.

E. C. Sessions said that he thought the people of this county would approve of issuing bonds to the extent of $250,000 to make good roads—one to be a direct line to Contra Costa county another to be a road from Oakland to the east line of this county, with a branch to Livermore valley. These should be good roads—not graveled roads, but modern roads.

The board adjourned to Monday, June 3d, after declining to authorize another survey of a proposed road to connect the Williams survey with the Thorne Hill road.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured!

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

What Will They Do?

What will the dry goods men do when France's latest suggestion of ladies' dress goes into effect? The dress reformers of France advocate the wearing of tights for ladies as a street costume and modestly suggest that black and brown should first be worn until the custom becomes popular and then other colors could be introduced. The dry goods men seem quite concerned, as it would affect their business to the extent of decreasing their sales of many millions of yards of dress goods every year. But what a saving to the men who pay for it. It is likewise in the patronage of the People's Express and Transfer Company. The saving of time and advantage in their promptness in all business matters, especially the checking of baggage at hotels or your home to all parts of the United States is a matter for deep consideration. Strange, but True

The child that cannot digest milk can digest Cod-liver Oil as it is prepared in Scott's Emulsion. Careful scientific tests have proven it to be more easily digested than milk, butter, or any other fat. That is the reason why puny, sickly children, and thin, emaciated and anæmic persons grow fleshy so rapidly on Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

H. M. Van Arman Talks of the Business Outlook.

H. M. Van Arman returned yesterday from an extended business trip in the East. "I found a general stagnation in business," said Mr. Van Arman, "in Denver, Cheyenne, Omaha, Pittsburg and even in Chicago. The people in the California cities and towns should not grumble. In comparison with the cities named we have prosperity. The frosts of the month of May in six or seven Eastern States have killed nearly all the fruit and grain, and California will profit by it. An immense immigration to this State will commence this fall. Thousands of people, tired of the cold and drouth of the Middle and Western States, are looking this way and are coming."

FOR THE FOURTH

Merchants in Line for a Great Patriotic Event.

Alameda County Will Join With This City.

Local Committees Formed and Plans Are Rapidly Developing.

There is a very favorable outlook for a great celebration of the national holiday in Oakland on the Fourth of July. The project, as formulated by the Merchants' Exchange, is meeting with public approval to such an extent that it is safe to say that Oakland's demonstration this year will far surpass anything in that line that has been attempted for a long while past.

In response to a call, a large number of prominent citizens gathered last evening at the rooms of the Exchange to discuss plans for the demonstration. Among those in attendance were: D. C. Brown, Webb N. Pearce, George L. Fish, Major Sherman, P. M. Fisher, W. V. Witcher, F. Sinclair, P. J. Keller, G. W. Fisher, R. J. Williams, A. W. Bishop, H. P. Arlett, G. B. Daniels, J. L. Mayon, J. J. White, J. J. Allen, L. Lawton, George F. Neece, James Travers, H. Gard, F. J. Edwards, M. Jonas, R. Crist, R. Franke, C. R. Root, H. O. Trowbridge, A. H. Rott, H. C. Conrad, George E. Fairchild, Theo. Gier, J. L. Lyon, A. B. Tennant, H. Hershberg, George W. Arper, Dr. J. P. Dunn, Dan Crowley, G. W. Fisher, A. Jacobs, N. Schneider.

A. B. Tennant was elected assistant secretary of the Fourth of July Committee.

A press committee, composed of Theo. Gier, M. Jonas and George E. Fairchild, was chosen.

The Clerks' Association promised support in a movement for the general closing of all business houses on the holiday.

A committee, consisting of P. M. Fisher, George W. Arper and H. O. Trowbridge, was appointed to secure support from the City Council and the Board of Supervisors.

Messrs. J. J. White, E. A. Sherman and Webb N. Pearce were appointed a committee to interview General's Dimond and Warfield with regard to allowing the militia in this county to parade in Oakland.

Major E. A. Sherman, A. W. Bishop and J. L. Lyon will confer with the naval command out at Mare Island to secure a detail of men and equipment for a float to picture the famous ship "Constitution."

Mrs. Charles Webb Howard and Mrs. Weatherbee were added to the committee.

Addresses were made by P. M. Fisher, Dr. J. L. Mayon, James Travers, A. W. Bishop, M. Jonas, Judge J. J. Allen, C. R. Root, Chief Lawton, Webb N. Pearce, J. L. Lyon and George L. Fish.

Daily meetings of the Fourth of July Committee will be held at the Exchange and all the members are requested to attend as matters of importance will constantly arise.

Celebration of Pentecost.

Pentecost will be celebrated at the Jewish Synagogue tomorrow with special services, which will be conducted by Rabbi Friedlander. The confirmation of Eva Magnes, Rose Samson, Herbert Samuels, Sam Jacobs, Sigmund Scharman, Isaac Wolfe, Marnie Cohen and Gussie Samuels will be celebrated.

THE TEST.

Bassett's Move Is Successful.

Sunday Closing Matter Is Postponed.

The City Attorney to Draw Up an Ordinance.

Much Routine Business Passed at the City Council Meeting.

An adjourned meeting of the City Council was held last night, at which all the members were present.

The auditorium was well filled, although by no means packed, notwithstanding that it was known the Sunday saloon closing ordinance would come up presumably on passage to print.

Those, however, who expected such a move were disappointed because of the adoption of a resolution introduced by Councilman Mott, directing the City Attorney to draft an ordinance submitting to the people the question of closing the saloons all the time or merely from midnight Saturday to 5 A. M. Monday.

As soon as the roll had been called, Councilman Mott obtained the floor and offered a resolution directing the City Attorney to draft an ordinance calling a special election for the purpose of submitting to the people the following questions:

Shall saloons in which liquors are sold to be drunk on the premises, be closed the entire time? Or,

Shall the saloons be closed at 12 o'clock Saturday night and remain closed till 5 o'clock Monday morning?

Mr. Mott moved that the rules be suspended and the motion be adopted.

Councilman Dow said that this measure had been introduced so as to have a vote taken on the resolution before one could be taken on the ordinance on the Sunday closing recommended by the committee. He did not want, he said, to be put on record as being opposed to any measure proposing to submit the question to the people. But, the ordinance on the subject ought to be taken up first.

Mr. Bassett said that he supposed the Council would eventually come to the ordinance in the course of business, and, if the resolution should be adopted, the ordinance could be laid over pending the settlement of the case.

Mr. Buckland said that not $1 of the city's funds could be used for the purpose of defraying the expenses of a special election on the subject. The charter makes no provision for such an election. If such an election should be ordered, the Council, at any time, could order a special election on any subject, even to determine the color of whitewash that ought to be placed on the City Hall.

Mr. Dow moved as a substitute that the Council take up the ordinance on the Sunday closing recommended by the Committee on Ordinance and Judiciary.

The motion was seconded by Councilman Marshall.

A vote was taken on Mr. Dow's substitute and the proposition was lost by the following vote:

Ayes — Buckland, Dow, Heitmann, Marshall—4.

Nays—Bassett, Brosnahan, Capell, Mott, Towle, Watkinson, Manuel—7.

Mr. Dow then secured the floor and said that it seemed unadvisable to call an election until it had been shown that such an election could be called legally. The question as to whether a special election such as was contemplated would be legal had been asked of the City Attorney and that official had replied that such an election could not be called legally. The Council ought not to pass a delusive ordinance and the Council has several such ordinance before it now. One of those delusive ordinances, he said, is that of Mr. Bassett, prohibiting the charging of fare on the local lines between stations in this city. That ordinance means nothing. Mr. Dow wanted to know where the money for a special election was to come from. If the ordinance calling a special election is illegal, why seek to call an election? All the actions of the Council in the premises would be illegal. He had found only one attorney who said that such an election could be held, and that was the attorney who represented the liquor interests. When that attorney was asked for an opinion he had none to give save that it might be done because Alameda, Napa and other places had voted on the proposition. How did the Council know that Alameda, Napa and other places in which this question had been voted on have not something in their respective charters which authorize them to vote on the subject. There is no such provision in Oakland's charter. How could a special election be called unless the Board of Public Works agreed that such an election is legal and ordered the use of the booths of the city for the purpose of holding it. If people flocked to the polls who could prevent them from voting unless they occasioned a disturbance of the peace. At the present time, he felt the Council had no right to pass on the question. He believed it is the duty of members of the Council to legislate for the best interests of the city. When he came to his seat in the Council he felt that he should not vote on any question with reference to any future election or preferment, but solely with reference to the best interests of the city. If this resolution is adopted the Council will take a false step and will be in the same position in which it was some time ago.

City Attorney Peirsol, referring to Mr. Dow's synopsis of his views on the subject said that he (Mr. Dow) did not hear all of his (Peirsol's) opinion on the subject. He claimed that Mr. Dow's synopsis was right as far as it went. But he (Mr. Peirsol) had said that he knew of no law providing for such an election and he also knew of no law to prevent the holding of such an election. It might be under the head of the general welfare of the community. He knew of no law invalidating such an election if the Council should call it. He did not think the courts would interfere. When it came to the payment of expenses though there would be serious difficulty perhaps met in the Auditor's office.

Mr. Dow said that that was the way in which he understood Mr. Peirsol to express himself. But, said the Councilman from the Seventh, "to say that there is no law against the election means nothing. Simply because there is no law preventing us from imprisoning the Governor means nothing. The Council can only pass such laws as are authorized by the charter and the general law, but the Legislature can pass any law that is not in conflict with the Constitution. To say there is no law against this proposition is no argument." He wanted to know how a special election could be held without money.

Mr. Heitmann raised the point of order that the ordinance could come up only under suspension of the rules and such a motion had not been made. Such a motion, however, had been made in connection with Mr. Mott's proposition.

The president held that the point was well taken.

Mr. Marshall moved that Mr. Mott's resolution lay over till the next meeting of the Council, until the opinion of the City Attorney could be procured on the subject.

Mr. Towle said he did not think the matter ought to be laid over. To lay it over would not be for the best interests of the city of Oakland. He had ascertained that the sentiment of many of the best people in this city favored the submission of the question to the people. He regretted that he is not able to determine what is for the best interests of Oakland. Personally, if he had his way, he would have the saloons closed up all the time. The way the question stands now, the sentiment of the people is divided. If the people who are here in favor of closing the saloons on Sunday will go out among leading people, bankers and business men, they will find there is a diversion of sentiment. He saw no reason why they should not adopt the resolution. Let the City Attorney draw up an ordinance calling for the special election and make it legal. If a legal ordinance cannot be drawn on the subject, he would be willing to vote in favor of the ordinance.

Mr. Marshall said that is why he wanted the matter laid over for a week.

A vote was taken on the suspension of the rules. Mr. Mott's motion and the vote was as follows:

Ayes—Bassett, Brosnahan, Buckland, Dow, Heitmann, Mott, Towle, Watkinson, Manuel—9.

Nays—Capell, Marshall—2.

The rules were suspended and then Mr. Mott's resolution was adopted by a vote of 10 to 1, the only vote in the negative being that of Capell. In casting his vote for the resolution, Mr. Dow said he did so because he was not especially opposed to submitting the question to the people, and because if the City Attorney could not draft a legal ordinance on the subject, the Council would then have a chance to pass the ordinance on the question of saloon closing.

Later in the evening, the Sunday closing ordinance recommended by the committee as a substitute for that introduced one week ago, providing that the ordinance shall go into effect ninety-five days after passage, was referred to the Ordinance and Judiciary Committee from which it had come, pending the presentation of an ordinance as suggested by Mott's resolution.

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS.

The following petitions and communications were disposed of:

From the Chief of Police showing the cost of feeding prisoners. Filed.

From the City Engineer that the street railway tracks on East Twelfth between Tirteenth and Fifteenth avenues are at grade. Street Committee.

From the Mayor, returning the ordinance passed May 20, 1895, respecting municipal licenses, with the suggestion that it was defective in that the sections where it proposed to repeal had not been referred to in full. Ordinance and Judiciary.

From Mrs. Annie Brannon complaining that she has no money with which to build a sidewalk at the corner of Third and Webster streets. Street Committee.

From W. M. Gillespie for a sewer on East Twentieth street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues. Granted.

From the Board of Public Works, referring back to the Council the demand of T. W. Morgan for $85 60 on the ground that the Board would find no authority to approve of said demand. Auditing and Finance.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were disposed of:

Referring to the Fire and Police Commissioners, the resolution of the Board of Library Trustees, requesting the Council to prevent the annoyance occasioned patrons of the library by the nightly meetings held in front of the City Hall.

Appropriating $20 for the remuneration of witnesses on whose testimony conviction was secured in liquor cases. Indefinitely laid over on motion of Mr. Mott.

Authorizing the Board of Public Works to lease a room adjoining the Sixth Street Engine House at a monthly rental of $10. Adopted.

Adopting voluminous plans and specifications for the East Side sewer.

Authorizing the Board of Public Works to report to the Council within sixty days, as follows:

First—What provision should be made in the tax levy for the purpose of establishing local parks in the First, Second and Third wards?

Second—For the improvement of Independence Square?

Third—For the erection of an engine house?

Fourth—A list of public improvements in the order of their importance. Adopted.

From the residents in the Twenty-third avenue district, protesting against the granting of liquor licenses in that district east of Nineteenth avenue and within the city limits. License Committee.

Ordering the narrowing of Lake Shore avenue, at a cost not to exceed $12. Adopted.

Rescinding a resolution authorizing the Board of Public Works to employ an additional clerk for the office of the Street Superintendent. It was claimed by Mr. Mott that there is no work for the clerk to do.

Mr. Towle said that there was a majority of the members of the Board of Public Works present, and he would like to have them speak on the subject.

Mr. Peirsol said that he did not think that the matter of rescinding had come up before the Board of Public Works.

On motion of Mr. Towle the resolution was referred to the Board of Public Works.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Liquor licenses were granted as follows: F. Ohe & J. McBride, 473 Tenth street; P. Cavanaugh, 373 B street; John Xavier, 1551 Broadway; Thomas Hain & C. Davis, 409 Eleventh street; C. Fleckner & F. Kroman, 853 Webster street; Frank Smith, 1620 Seventh street.

ORDINANCES, SECOND READING.

The ordinance amending the present bicycle ordinance was indefinitely postponed.

The ordinance creating the office of night watchman in the City Hall at a salary of $85 per month and requiring the appointee to work from 7 P. M. to 7 A. M. was passed to print, the only negative vote being that of Mr. Bassett, whose motion, that the ordinance be referred to the City Attorney, to determine as to whether the Council has power to create such an office, was lost. Mr. Bassett declared he could find no such authority in the books.

The ordinance creating the office of City Hall janitor, the incumbent to be on duty daily from 7 A. M. to 7 P. M., was also passed to print. As it came from the committee, it exempted the janitor from duty on Sundays and legal holidays, but was amended by the Council as above referred to. Mr. Bassett wanted the ordinance referred to the City Attorney for the purpose of having its legality settled, but the Council did not adopt his views in the premises. His vote was the only one in the negative on the question of passing to print.

Apportioning to various funds the revenue of the city other than that from taxes. Passed to print.

ORDINANCES, FINAL PASSAGE.

The following ordinances were passed:

Opening Brush street to the estuary.

Requiring telegraph and telephone companies to number their poles in a consecutive manner.

Directing the Board of Public Works to obtain proposals for public printing.

Changing the grade of East Fifteenth street between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenue.

Appropriating $538 20 for the printing and binding of ordinances.

CHINESE BOMBS.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Oakland—GENTLEMEN: As our Natal holiday is near at hand, and the rights and privileges of our citizens to promenade the streets unmolested on that day will again be disputed unless the present law be amended.

Hundreds of our citizens have heretofore witnessed in the business portion of this city on and about the fourth day of each July the willful throwing of large Chinese bombs under passing horses, at children and about the clothing of women traversing the streets, oftentimes doing injury and setting fire to their clothes. I respectfully suggest that the enclosed ordinance be passed in ample time to prevent a re-occurrence of this shameful practice long in vogue on the third, fourth and fifth days of July.

Respectfully,
J. L. DAVIE, Mayor.

The ordinance referred to was referred to the Ordinance and Judiciary Committee.

RAILROAD FARES.

Bassett's Ordinance Regulating Them Passed to Print.

At the request of Dow, who said he had to attend the meeting of another organization, the Bassett ordinance prohibiting the collection of fares on steam roads between stations within the city limits, which was introduced at the last meeting of the Council, was brought up for consideration. The ordinance provides a penalty of $100 for every violation, or imprisonment for one day for every $2 of the fine.

After the ordinance had been read Mr. Towle moved that it be passed to print.

Mr. Dow said that he would vote for the passage of the ordinance to print because he believes the ordinance means nothing. He did not believe in passing delusive ordinances, and the ordinance in question is a delusive ordinance. After the last meeting of the Council a citizen had approached the speaker and said: "My friend Bassett is getting in good work. We are going to have free trains on Seventh street." Mr. Dow said that he had told that citizen that Mr. Bassett's ordinance referred to meant nothing of the kind. He did not want to be held blameable for the passage of an ordinance that means nothing.

Mr. Bassett said he would hold Mr. Dow entirely blameless for anything that might result from the passage of the ordinance.

A vote was taken. While it was in progress Mr. Heitmann said, when his name was called, that he reserved the right to change his vote to the negative.

The motion to pass to print, based on the recommendation of the Judiciary Committee and Towle's motion, was carried unanimously.

Mr. Manuel, in casting his vote, said the ordinance is political buncombe. A city ordinance cannot override a State law.

Mr. Towle remarked ironically that he was glad so important a part of the Council as Mr. Bassett would hold Mr. Dow and him blameless for any of the results of the passing of the ordinance disposed.

Mr. Bassett said he was just as much of the Council as was Mr. Towle.

OUTSTANDING BONDS.

The Mayor's Suggestions as Regards Their Payment.

The following message was read from the Mayor:

"Your attention is respectively called to these facts regarding this city's outstanding bonds soon to mature;

"In the year 1882, there were, among other city bonds outstanding, funded debt bonds of 1870, $67,000, drawing 10 per cent interest; school bond redemption bonds of 1874, $100,000, drawing interest at 8 per cent.

"Under chapter 6, title 3, part 21 of the Political Code of the State of California, these bonds were refunded in September 1882 by an issue of 5 per cent.

"In the chapter under which this issue was made, it was explicitly provided that when there should be $1000 in an established bond redemption fund, a bond should be called and interest cease thereon.

"It was further required in this chapter that a tax should be levied sufficient to raise 20 per cent or $33,400 in 1885 and 40 per cent or $66,800 in 1890. In the year 1891, bonds amounting to $27,000 were redeemed and that is all that has been done in the matter of the redemption of these bonds which mature by limitation, October 1st of this year.

"The reports of the City Auditor show that it has not been through ignorance of the facts, but by a wilful disregard of the law as well as of his reports by the Councils of our city that the remaining $140,000 of these bonds have not been provided for by taxation.

"An election was held on September 29, 1891, when the question of refunding the $140,000 bonds was submitted and defeated. Except for the act of the last Legislature, enabling the Council, by a four-fifths vote of all its members to refund bonded indebtedness, our city would have been obliged to default in the payment of the $140,000 from October 1st to December 1st and a tax levy would have been necessarily imposed for the whole amount in the next fiscal year.

"This act of the Legislature, approved March 21, 1895, is to be found on page 263 of the Statutes of 1895, and is entitled 'An act to amend section 1 of an act approved March 15, 1883, and entitled an act to authorize Councils, Boards of Trustees, or other governing body of any incorporated city or town, other than those cities of the first class, to refund its indebtedness, issue bonds therefor, and provide for the payment of the same, as amended March 1, 1893.'

"I respectfully suggest that the matter be given your immediate attention, so that no difficulty [illegible] experienced in taking up the outstanding bonds to be redeemed within their date of expiration.

"J. L. DAVIE, Mayor."

The communication was referred to the Auditing and Finance Committee.
